REDRAWING OF PRECINCT LINES TO BE 2-YEAR, $65,000 PROJECT

Shifts Made Necessary By 8th Ward

The first step in a $65,000 project to redraw Newton's precinct lines in conjunction with the creation of the eighth ward in Newton Centre was authorized Monday when the aldermen voted $30,000 for this year's engineering expenses.

Alderman Winfield C. Anderson explained that "in all probability" the cost of revising the lines would hit between $60,000 and $70,000 over the next two years. This year's appropriation would cover work mostly by the Engineering Department and some by the assessors.

The actual drawing of the lines will be accomplished by the city engineers under the ward boundaries outlined by the aldermen in December.

After the new limits are established, then the Assessing Department will have to revise its records. Most of this will be accomplished next year and will require nearly $20,000. The City Clerk's Department will also need record changes in 1956, and this will run close to $5000.

After listing the expense of redrawing the lines, Alderman Anderson stated wryly, "It has been said in some places that if the citizens of Newton had known how much an eighth ward would cost, they would not have voted so readily for it."

Street Change

Propose to Switch Needham St. Name

Whether or not Needham street is hard to find was strongly debated by Newton Highlands businessmen from the "Miracle Mile" at a public hearing Monday night on changing the name from Needham to Centre street.

Those favoring the change claimed that Needham street is a logical extension of Centre street, and the new name would give the city an easily-identified main route running from the Waterville line to the Needham boundary.

Opponents stated there was no difficulty for outsiders in locating new businesses along the Miracle Mile. The only people who have trouble with the street name, they said, were Newton residents unfamiliar with the area. Switching the street identification and readjusting the building numbers would place unnecessary burden upon the businesses, the objectors declared.

But most of the objections were apparently overcome in a conference following the hearing when proponents explained they didn't want the name changed business forms, it was agreed that the change—if it does come—should be delayed at least until the end of the year.

Leading the speakers in favor was Murray E. Sholkin, president of the Business Finance Corporation which is "landlord" to a pair of Miracle Mile firms. "Everyone knows of the Miracle Mile and most people respect it," said Sholkin, "but only those who work there know how to find it."

He pointed out that in the space of less than two miles motorists pass over Centre street, Winchester street, Needham street, and Highland avenue in Needham, while appar-

Hospital Membership Reaches 2,064, An All Time Record High

At the 70th annual meeting of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association held in Allen-Riddle Hall at the Newton Lower Falls institution this week, it was announced that the association's membership has reached 2064—representing both an all-time high and the largest single-year increase in the group's history.

After making these announcements, Mrs. Paul T. Babson, president of the association, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Philip D. Bonnet, administrator of the Mass. Memorial Hospitals, who talked on "The Pursuit of Health and Happiness."

In her report, Mrs. Babson thanked the 12 Newton and Wellesley florists who supplied flowers each month for the hospital's main lobby. She also spoke on the success of the annual hospital week in May.

Charles M. Cutler, president of the hospital brought greetings from the trustees and praised for the work done by the aid. Director William S. Brines spoke of the large amount of money the aid has raised over the years since the Newton Cottage Hospital, the original title of the Newton-Wellesley, was begun. He paid particular tribute to the aid for financing the new post-operative recovery room, which was recently completed and opened. The aid's annual report, which included the reports of several committees, was read by Mrs. John D. Fox, secretary.

Mrs. George C. Prather, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, reported that 400 tables were in play and $4,232.94 was realized during the bridge parties held at homes in Newton and Wellesley last October. Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy served as co-chairman of the project.

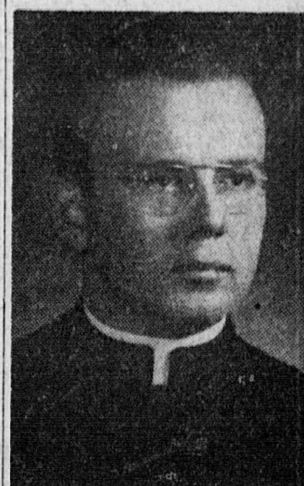

The Hospital's Coffee Shop served 114,580 people last year and contributed the $8000 profit to the aid, it was announced by Mrs. Robert H. Smith.

Mrs. Francis F. Munroe reported that the volunteers had spent 173 hours on the gift cart and turned $2879 proceeds over to the aid. Other announcements were as follows: Mrs. Stanley Hobbs that the number of volunteer hours was 7174 last year; Mrs. Thomas E. Franks, vice president of the Junior Aid, that the $1000 realized from the bazaar and rummage sale had been turned over to the hospital. Miss Maida Flanders, treasurer, reported on finances.

Mrs. Arthur W. Davis, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate for 1955 elections:

Hundreds of Newton persons took part in the local Association's observance of National YMCA Week, January 23 to 30. Plans for the week's program were in the hands of a committee headed by Ralph B. Emery as chairman, and Bruno J. Ottavi, associate youth work secretary of the Y as secretary.

League of Women Voters Is Conducting Trade Survey

The League of Women Voters of Newton is inaugurating this week a survey of the opinion of local manufacturers on trade and tariff problems as they affect Newton businesses. The project is part of an impartial statewide survey which is aimed at assessing industry's attitudes toward this important problem.

The results will be compiled according to Congressional districts and forwarded, without comment by the League, to the various congressmen, senators and public officials interested in this subject. They will also be a subject for study at local League meetings.

Members of the Survey Committee have already completed a study of the economic picture of Newton, the role of manufacturing in the total structure of the city, and the statistics

School Building Codes Outmoded, Says Supt. Gores

A move to modernize building requirements for new schools was strongly supported by Newton Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores at a hearing last week before the Committee on State Administration at the State House.

The present building code, said Dr. Gores, is based on "multi-story masonry buildings of about 1900." He stated that outmoded regulations cause unnecessary construction expenses to a city such as Newton which has an increase of from 600 to 700 students a year.

Modernization of the code was also urged by Lorenz F. Muther Jr., executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association. At the hearing, it was estimated that a change in the code would save Massachusetts taxpayers about $53,000,000 between now and 1959.

POLITICAL OVERTONES
Proposed Probe by Democrats of Herter Administration Seen as Opportunity to Provide Campaign Ammunition
It seems that the 1956 campaign already is starting on Beacon Hill and that the moratorium on partisan politics between elections is to be a very short one.
That is the conclusion drawn from the fight being waged in the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives over a move to probe seven phases of Governor Herter's administration.
It is unlikely that the Republican minority headed by GOP House Leader Charles Gibbons can win its battle to block the investigation since even those Democrats who don't see much real point to the proposed probe are unlikely to vote against it because of political reasons.
The investigation obviously is intended to embarrass Governor Herter and to gather ammunition for the next election campaign. There could be no other real purpose or reason for undertaking the probe since little of a constructive nature is apt to come out of it.

John T. Ahern Named Head Of State Easter Seal Drive

John T. Ahern of 32 Hickory Cliff road, Newton, vice president of the New England Electric System, today was named chairman of the 1955 state-wide Easter Seal campaign of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, Inc., according to announcement by John G. Brooks, society president.

The Easter Seal campaign, March 10 through Easter Sunday, April 10, provides rehabilitation services to crippled children and adults throughout Massachusetts regardless of cause of crippling, race or creed, to help them be useful, independent citizens.

In addition to rehabilitation centers in Springfield, Worcester and Boston, where crippled children learn to walk, talk, feed and dress themselves and be physically independent, Easter Seal funds provide camp vacations for crippled children, an equipment pool of wheelchairs and walkers, a program for the homebound, social casework services and job placement for crippled adults.

"There are more than 128,000 crippled children in Massachusetts, and to help them is not only humanitarian, but also economically important to our state and nation," Ahern said in accepting the chairmanship. "The people of Massachusetts have generously supported Easter Seal campaigns in the past, and I am sure they will respond wholeheartedly to the 1955 appeal. By so doing, they are making an investment in the happiness and welfare of thousands of our fellow citizens."

Ahern, a graduate of Boston University, is a trustee and member of the executive committee of Union Savings Bank of Boston. He is a director of the Boston Chapter, American Red Cross; member of the

Pomroy House Holds Annual Board Meeting

The Rebecca Pomroy House, a Newton Red Feather Agency, held its annual Board Meeting Wednesday, January 26, at the Community House on Hovey street.

The members of the board and friends enjoyed a coffee hour preceding the business meeting.

Miss Helen I. Sandstrom, executive worker, told of the activities of the various groups from the little ones in the Nursery School where there is a full role with a small waiting list, through the active groups of girls in the afternoons after school hours, the busy women's groups to the Golden Age Club which started with a very small attendance in 1947 and last year had a total attendance of 1300. The clubs and classes go on the year round with a Play School at the Headquarters in the summer and a Camp on Lake Cochituate in Natick.

W. Duncan Russell of the United Community Services, the special speaker of the afternoon, gave an interesting account of the money raising activities of the many agencies now joined together for one concerted drive. From the individual, expensive money raising drives which made for disorganization many times, to the formal organization under the United Community Services has been a long, slow process. With its eight divisions set up to do research and aid in community planning, Greater Boston can feel that its agencies, both public and private, are endeavoring to serve its people in the best way possible in the many fields of public welfare.

The following officers were re-elected for the year 1955: Mrs. Henry C. Jones, president; Mrs. George H. Lusk, Mrs. Earl C. Mitchell, Mrs. William E. MacKinnon, vice-presidents; Harlow Sylvester, treasurer; George L. White, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, clerk; Mrs. Everett L. Olds, recording secretary. Mrs. P. Edward Eden was elected to the Corporation and the Board of Directors while Mrs. John R. Coffin, Mrs. Donald L. Gibbs, Mrs. Hugh S. Hince, Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland, Mrs. George H. Lusk, Mrs. Alex R. Miller, Mrs. Howard L. Rich, Mrs. Helen G. Stevens, Mr. Harlow Sylvester and Mr. George L. White were re-elected for a three-year term as members of the board of directors.

Auxiliary Firemen and general development of the organization. Present plans call for a trained Rescue force of some two hundred men. Mr. Duff further stated that volunteers as Rescue Squads will be drawn partly from Municipal employees and the remainder from Citizens. Here is an excellent chance for citizens to participate in this very important service. All you have to do is phone C.D. Headquarters at Newtonville, or come in person; there is no red tape. ## Political Overtones

Democratic politicians, in attempting to justify the move, declare that they are doing about the same thing that the Republican-controlled State Senate did during ex-Governor Dever's second term in office.

That is essentially true. The GOP Solons in 1951 and 1952, particularly in the election year of 1952, played partisan politics and tried to harass Dever with probes, and the Democratic Representatives will endeavor to do the same thing with Herter.

Dever, incidentally, was able to muster the necessary votes in the GOP-dominated Senate on any measure behind which he could marshal the weight of public opinion, and Herter undoubtedly will be able to do the same thing this year in the Democratic-controlled House.

The vote on the probe orders will not be an accurate test of Governor Herter's real strength in the House on most issues. Because of the political aspects involved it may well be cast on straight party lines.

There is some element of mystery as to exactly who is really behind the plan to investigate the various facets of the Herter administration.

Officially, the probe measures were sponsored by Representative John Tynan of South Boston, who termed them the Democratic "legislative program" and said he filed them for the Democratic members of the House rules committee.

Tynan's statement has not been challenged or disputed. But one of his orders called for an investigation of the New England compact, and when Tynan and the other Democratic members of the rules committee were asked what that meant, they were all a little vague in their answers and admitted they didn't actually know much about it.

The demand for an investigation of the delay in opening the new $9,000,000 maximum security prison at Norfolk obviously stemmed from the recent revolt at the Charlestown State prison, and that investigation is not likely to produce any information that is not already known.

What the Democrats obviously will try to do is to fasten some blame on the Herter administration for the fact that the timetable for the prison opening has been changed several times.

About the same thing holds true for the new Lemuel Shattuck Hospital at Forest Hills. The Democratic legislators pretty well know what answers a probe into the opening and operation of that institution would turn up. But they aren't so much interested in finding out anything for themselves as they are in making some kind of political impact upon the public thinking.

Neither the rules committee nor the House of Representatives can do anything about any of the matters slated for investigation since any bill passed by the lower legislative chamber would have to go to the Senate where it would be side-tracked if it were hostile to the Governor.

But out of the public hearings the committee will hold may come a certain amount of political fodder. From a Democratic campaign standpoint the political timing is not all it might be. Any ammunition stored up now will be a little shopworn by the time the next election battle begins. But as one legislator observed, the Democratic rules committee members may feel they have to do something at this time, if it is only to get their own names in the paper.

Governor Herter probably is much more concerned at this point about where he is going to get the money to pay all the State's bills than he is about anything that might come out of proposed taxes.

Because of the tremendous financial obligations and demands that have been piled up by the opening of new hospitals and institutions and the expansion of service, the State budget for the next fiscal year will be far the biggest in the history of the Commonwealth.

The budget which Mr. Herter has submitted to the Legislature is almost certain to be increased rather than reduced, and eventually it is likely to run over $330,000,000 and possibly far above that figure.

That means that the Governor must obtain a very large amount of additional revenue from new taxes.

A sales tax would appear to be the only solution to his financial problem. With the suggested State income tax on non-residents of Massachusetts who earn their livelihood in the Commonwealth, it would produce enough money to pay all the State's bills and leave about an additional $26,000,000 for distribution to the cities and towns to lower their tax rates.

But there is little, if any, likelihood that a sales tax can be pushed through the House of Representatives. Even most public leaders, who privately realize it is a financial necessity, are reluctant to put their necks on what may prove to be the political chopping block.

The fear of voting for a sales tax comes close to being a phobia on the part of many legislators who will tell you confidentially that it must come eventually but that they are afraid they would be committing political suicide by voting for it.

How Governor Herter and the Legislature can get enough money to meet all the State's needs without enacting a sales tax is a highly difficult and perplexing question to answer.

They are likely to increase the State income tax. The 25 percent cut that was made last year has been restored, and even that levy undoubtedly will be enlarged next year.

But a heavier State income tax and a variety of so-called nuisance taxes probably will fall short of producing all the money that is needed.

That will be the big issue on Beacon Hill during the coming months.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Police in India have spent nine years trying to hunt down that country's No. 1, a 61-year-old bandit who operates in the badlands of North Central India and is charged with 150 murders. Thirty police officers have been killed so far in the chase.

When he saw a traffic officer writing a ticket for a motorist who had gone through a red light in Montgomery, Ala., Pedestrian Fred Pickett stopped to put up an argument in behalf of the errand driver. The motorist finally was allowed to go on his way, but Pickett was fined $5 for interfering with an officer.

New Jersey liquor authorities last week ruled that free lunch is a legitimate lure in the saloon business and that it is all right for the bartender to hand out an occasional drink on the house. But they decreed that it is improper for a bartender to offer to make out income returns in order to attract business.

Montreal police reported last week that 2535 automobiles valued at $3,000,000 were stolen in that city during 1954. All but 15 of the cars were recovered. That must be one of the world's most dangerous cities for an automobile, because 2982 machines were stolen in 1953, with all but 34 recovered during the same year.

Mrs. M. E. Johnson of Fort Worth complained to the City Council that her tavern business was suffering because of divinity students who gathered in such numbers outside her door preaching sidewalk sermons that prospective customers had to push their way through them to reach the bar.

A man walked into a furniture auction room in Bury St., Edmund's, England, tipped his hat politely to a woman he knew and amazed to hear the auctioneer declare that his courteous gesture meant he had purchased a lawnmower for $1.40. He finally took the lawnmower.

Wade Bowman of Jackson, Miss., explained to police that the reason he had stolen $5,000 from the firm which employed him was that they had taken $8 out of check every week for taxes. "And that's too much."

After being robbed of $1,500 by two bandits and compelled to carry a stolen bag of groceries to their car, Grocer Dale Steen of Wichita, Kans., was forced at gunpoint to borrow a customer's car for the holdup men and then push it a quarter of a mile to get it started.

Over in Ockley, England, Miss Fanny Ennis, 69, brought suit for breach of promise against John Purser, 73 alleging that he had promised to marry her when she was 22. Maybe he hasn't got around to it yet.

Electric hand-warmers have been installed in the 20 collection booths on the Delaware River Bridge to prevent the collectors' fingers from freezing while making change.

District Court Judge Eugene J. Sullivan of East Providence, R. I., listened while James S. Gomes, 73, argued that his eyesight for driving was normal without glasses, watched while Gomes threaded a needle three times without glasses, tried unsuccessfully to do the same thing himself and then dismissed the case.

Governor Herter's proposal that a gubernatorial mansion be established in Massachusetts in fairness to Governors who live at some distance from Boston, is certain to be the subject of lively discussion. One drawback to the idea is that most Governors would not relish the idea of using such a mansion since it would be like dwelling in a goldfish bowl.

A Greenville, Miss., jury, which found itself in a dilemma over opposing suits brought by two motorists involved in an automobile accident, settled the situation by awarding each $1000 in damages on the ground that both parties were "equally negligent."

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.F.A.

This is the fourth in a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

What expenses are classified as "other deductions" on the Federal return?

A partial list of expenses which are classified as "other deductions" follows:

1. Contributions
2. Interest
3. Taxes
4. Medical expenses
5. Child-care expenses for working mothers or widowers
6. Casualty losses
7. Miscellaneous expenses.

These expenses are shown on page 3 of your tax return. What contributions may I deduct?

You may deduct the interest you contributed to most non-profit religious, charitable, educational, scientific, and literary organizations; to veterans' organizations; to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; to fraternal societies, orders or associations. If you contributed property rather than cash, you may deduct the fair value of the property. There is a limitation on your deduction, but the limitation rarely applies to the average taxpayer.

What interest may I deduct on my tax return?

You may deduct the interest paid on most loans if you are legally obligated to make the payment. This includes such items as the interest on a mortgage on your personal residence, interest on a personal loan, interest on an installment purchase of a car, a television set, etc.

What taxes may I deduct?

Generally speaking, you may deduct all State and local taxes imposed upon and paid by you. You may not deduct Federal taxes or Massachusetts gift, inheritance or liquor taxes. Your State income tax, driver's license fee, motor vehicle registration fee, meal tax, State gasoline tax, State cigarette tax, poll tax, local real estate and personal property taxes are typical of the taxes which you may deduct.

What are medical expenses?

A medical expense is an amount paid for the diagnosis, cure, treatment, mitigation or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any bodily function or structure. It also includes premiums paid for accident or health insurance. Fees paid to physicians, surgeons, dentists, Christian Science practitioners, nurses (including nurses' board), chiropractors, therapists, and osteopaths; the cost of artificial teeth, eyeglasses (including examination), drugs and medical supplies (including vitamins prescribed by a doctor), hearing aids, etc., are considered medical expenses. My wife and I are under 65. May I deduct all of our medical expenses?

No. Your deduction is limited to that portion of the medical expenses which exceeds 3 percent of your "adjusted gross income." However, in computing medical expenses, amounts paid for medicine and drugs are considered only to the extent that they exceed 1 percent of your adjusted gross income.

Example: A taxpayer had "adjusted gross income" in 1954 of $6,000. His expenditures for medicines and drugs were $200, and for all other medical expenses, $500. The total medical expenses, for tax return purposes, would be $640. ($500 plus the expenditures for medicines and drugs in excess of 1 percent of $6,000, or $140). The taxpayer is entitled to a deduction of $460. ($640 minus 3 percent of $6,000, or $180.)

What are the maximum deductions for medical expenses? The deduction for each exemption (excluding the additional exemptions for age and blindness) is limited to $2,500. On a separate return the maximum deduction may not exceed $5,000; on a joint or head-of-household return the maximum deduction may not exceed $10,000. My wife is 65. May I deduct all of the medical expenses?

The 3 percent limitation does not apply to you or your wife. This means that you may deduct, subject to the maximum deduction allowable, all of the medical expenses paid by you in 1954 for the care of yourself and your wife. If you paid medical expenses for a dependent, you may deduct only that part of these expenses which exceed 3 percent of your "adjusted gross income." In computing medical expenses, amounts paid for medicines and drugs are considered only to the extent that they exceed 1 percent of your "adjusted gross income."

Fourteen Red Cross Volunteer Nurse's Aides who were "capped" in a ceremony at Usen Auditorium on January 18, are now on duty at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Their class instructor during the Red Cross training program was Mrs. Beverly Turner and the supervisor on wards was Miss Elizabeth Porter. Chairman of the Volunteer Nurse's Aide Service is Mrs. Joseph C. MacDonald of Waban.

William Falconer and Stanley M. Gower, Jr., Chairman of the Newton and Wellesley Chapters presented the greetings of the American Red Cross to the Aides and their friends. Miss Myrtice Fuller, director gave the welcome of the School of Nursing. Dr. Carl T. Trapp, speaker of the evening, took as his subject, "The Importance of Mental Health in Home and Hospital."

Among the newly graduated Aides were Mrs. Candida Tejero and her daughter, Miss Esther Tejero, both of Newton. While her family was growing up, Mrs. Tejero had wanted some day to become a Nurse's Aide. She decided that the time had come when her daughter enrolled in the course. The latter is also a Gray Lady and spends another evening a week at the Reception Desk.

Health for All

Atomic Energy Works for Health

The world of the future: cars with atomic engines, houses atomically heated. We think of things like this when people talk of the peaceful uses of the atom. But atomic energy is already at work for us in the laboratories of medical researchers seeking ever better ways to cure and prevent disease.

Scientists have found that by "labeling" a substance they are studying with radioactive isotopes they can follow its behavior more accurately than ever before. These isotopes are byproducts of the manufacture of atomic energy and are allocated for research by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

A group of investigators at the University of Chicago has been studying the action of isotopes, a drug used in the treatment of tuberculosis. They first discovered that tuberculosis germs susceptible to the drug became radioactive when the drug was labeled with an isotope named Carbon 14.

whereas resistant germs did not become radioactive. Now they are able to study just how ionized attacks - the susceptible TB germs. With this information, doctors treating TB will know better how and when to use the drug to help TB patients.

This is only one of many medical research projects in which radioactive isotopes help the scientist to "see" things beyond the power of any microscope yet invented. These test tube experiments may seem far removed from the problem of the tuberculosis patient lying in his hospital bed. But because of them, the doctor knows more about his disease, the germ that causes it, and the means of curing it.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

..Kindness..

By Estelle Mason

The world is filled with the meanness of man toward man, as the newspapers daily testify. But the good deeds go unproclaimed.

I was on the bus headed for Boston when, much to my dismay I discovered that I had no money with me. I had left it on the dresser, I now remembered.

"Please, Mr. Bus Driver, what shall I do? I have no money to pay you, no money for a return trip, and no money to continue my ride to Boston." The color was mounting in my cheeks and embarrassment choked the words half said.

"Stay on the bus and I'll take you home again," the driver said.

"But . . . but . . . I have an appointment in town . . . could you . . . could you . . . ?"

The driver put his hand into his own pocket and gave me 50c. "Here, lady. Will this be enough to get you home safely again?"

"But . . . But . . ."

"That's alright, lady. You can send it to me. This happens all the time."

And now as I thanked him he was as embarrassed as I had been. Kindness to a stranded passenger was an everyday occurrence with him - nothing unusual - nothing he deserved thanks for.

"That's alright, lady. That's alright."

Thank you Mr. William Morris. Thanks to all the other bus drivers to whom kindness is an everyday occurrence.

Approve City Flag; Colors, Black, Gold

An official city flag — establishing Newton's colors as black and gold — was unanimously approved by the Board of Aldermen Monday night, although no funds were appropriated for purchase of any flags.

The design consists of three panels, the two outside ones gold and the center section black. In the center is the city seal of gold color with black lettering.

For the past three months, a volunteer committee has been working on the design for the flag. Heading the committee was William J. Maloney, chairman of the Newton Veterans Council. Assisting were Gordon L. Hawes, commander of the Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter, D.A.V., and an expert on heraldry; Edward L. Cunningham, commander of Newton American Legion Post; and Edmund T. Dungan, agent of the Newton Veterans Services Department.

Aiding the committee during the three months of study were Dr. Harold Bowditch, authority on heraldry; Dr. Francis Kyle, instructor in heraldry for the State Department of Education; and Newton Librarian Harold O. Wooster.

The first city flag is slated to be presented by the Newton Lodge of Elks, and will probably be displayed either in the mayor's office or in the City Hall foyer.

Reminders Are Sent for Seal Sale Donations

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has sent 7,611 reminders during January to Newton citizens who have not yet answered their Christmas Seal Sale letter. The Association thanks the thousands of Newton people who have given $19,069.75 to this campaign, which is the sole support of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association's programs of chest X-ray surveys, health education, rehabilitation, and medical research.

TELE- VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Reception at the receiving end begins with the antenna... it's a good idea to protect your investment in a TV set by investing some thought and perhaps a few dollars on the right antenna for your location. There are all kinds... various arrangements of aluminum rods mounted on a vertical mast.

The popular "folded dipole" antenna is made up of two poles folded back on themselves (giving you the shape roughly of a rubber band). Usually a straight reflector rod is mounted in line with the dipole to increase signal strength. Where both low and high TV channels are available, all channel reception can be achieved with a low and high band folded dipole mounted in line. The X-shaped antenna is called conical because it was developed originally from two sheet metal cones. A reflector rod can be used in line with the X... and extra little "ears" in the center of the X will improve pickup of channels 10 to 13, where these are available.

The "Yagi" antenna consists of 3 or more elements mounted in a line. Where more than one channel is available, the rods can be cut to different lengths for the different channels. Choosing the right antenna for the job is only one part of setting the best possible reception. The other part is the installation, where such factors as height, resistance to wind and storm damage, etc., have to be worked out. We've had a lot of experience with installation problems in this area. Call on that experience.

"RIGHT DOE"
Flowers!

• MOST EVERYONE
loves fresh flowers around their home, but hesitate to buy 'em week after week, because they're afraid they'll have to spend a TEN DOLLAR BILL for them...

Not so at WINSLOW'S — A LONE DOLLAR BILL (just one buck), will buy you a generous helping of beauty and fragrance

We're happy to see you buy just a dollars worth because then you'll really USE FLOWERS instead of yearning for 'em — we won't try to change you to something more expensive, because these "Dollar bunches" are our main flower line, our bread and butter...

You'll find 'em FRESH (many customers report their lasting a week or more in their homes). This freshness is guaranteed by our automatic mark-down system, UNIQUE, we believe, in the flower business.

Our flowers are PREPACKAGED — if you prefer, pick out your own, as many, or as few bunches as you want (the more you buy, the less they cost you per bunch, e.g.: 2 bunches $1.90, 3 for $2.75, 6 for $5.25, etc.)...

Stuff a buck into your jeans and dash over to WINSLOW'S... fresh flowers will pep you up almost as much as a trip to Florida (we'll still take Florida)

The Longines Symphonette, one of the foremost radio broadcasting orchestras in the world, which gave its first public concert in Boston Symphony Hall in 1946, will present its pleasing concert arrangements for the benefit of the Auburndale Parent Teacher Association at the Totem Pole Ballroom this Sunday evening, at 8:15 p.m.

This program is made possible through the generous cooperation of Thomas L. Gill, owner of Norumbega Park, and theatrical agent Warren S. Freeman, who have more than willingly given of their time and resources to bring the general public such a fine concert, conducted by the eminent Mischel Piatro.

Radio listeners are familiar with the fine symphony concerts of this thirty-piece orchestra, which made its radio debut in 1941 and has been continuously on the air ever since. This magnificent ensemble, which has won numerous national awards, has an established reputation in every nook and corner of the United States and Canada. Each individual musician is an accomplished performer in his right, and under Mr. Piatro's direction achieves richly satisfying interpretations.

The proceeds from this performance are to be used by the Auburndale Parent Teacher Association to provide the Burr, Murray Road and Williams Schools with the most modern Audio-Visual equipment obtainable. The Association hopes that by initiating this program, a beginning will be made toward a still higher educational program for all Newton schools.

Dancing Party Held for Pupils At Bowen School

Marking the halfway point in the dancing and social etiquette courses given by the Recreation Department at the Bowen School, more than 50 children held a dancing party last week at the school.

Many parents and younger brothers and sisters were present to see a demonstration of steps learned in the course. These included basic fox trot, waltz and polka steps with simple combinations.

The group has been meeting each week since the beginning of November for lessons under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Oakman, with Mrs. Harry Rowe at the piano.

Ice cream and cake were served by a committee of mothers and children. At the close of the party, elimination dances of various kinds were staged.

In addition to parents attending, several members of the school teaching staff were present, as were Mrs. Worthington L. West, member of the Recreation Commission; Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, recreation supervisor; C. Evan Johnson, recreation commissioner; and Edward Clarke, Bowen School principal.

Voters-

Mrs. Robert Coit, League director of the state survey, said that while Leagues in Massachusetts are confining the study to manufacturing firms, the trade survey is a national project of Leagues throughout the country, and the total nationwide result will include agriculture, mining, shipping and transportation. She stressed that the purpose of local surveys is to help communities relate in practical terms their local trade interest to the national and international aspects of the picture.

Any local problems revealed by the surveys, Mrs. Coit indicated, will serve to focus attention on the necessity of finding desirable solutions in the general public interest.

The local Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph Miller, plans to call on 50 Newton manufacturers during the next two weeks. Twenty League members will do the interviewing. They include Mrs. Herbert Agoos, Mrs. Harold Stein, Mrs. Stanley Looenberg, Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz, Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. James Currens, Mrs. Stanley Feldberg, Mrs. Howard Arbetter, Mrs. David Rost, Mrs. Elmer Rigelhaupt, Mrs. Melvin Shout, Mrs. Edwin Firestone, Mrs. George Alberts, Mrs. Mary Craven, Mrs. Hugh Harwood, Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. David White, and Mrs. John Schulman.

The Survey, when completed, will be compiled with the help of the committee members and an expert in the field of economics. The Committee members are Mrs. Chester Lipsett, Mrs. Anne Williamson and Mrs. Leonard Albert.

Change-

ently on the same road (the old location of route 128).

Centre street, he continued, travels more than three miles from the Watertown line only to change "for no rhyme or reason" while passing under Route 9 to Winchester street. After two-tenths of a mile, Needham street branches off Winchester, and most of the traffic goes with it.

"Why should we publicize Needham?" asked Sholklin. "It is logical to continue it right to the Needham line and thereby once and for all associate it with Newton and Newton alone." He urged "divorcing" the street from Needham "whose own industrial development tends to further confuse and obscure Newton's proud mile of industry."

Service stations and other businesses are "constantly badgered" by persons seeking directions to the Miracle Mile, Sholklin continued. The change "will make it simple for both the city and the state to properly mark the two great highways, Routes 9 and 128, so that visitors and prospective employees can easily find their way."

Mail deliveries would "in no way" be affected by the name shift, he declared, since the Post Office would keep both the new and old numbers on file.

H. E. Edgar of a Winchester street moving firm said between five and 10 people stop in his office every day to ask directions. "I would love to see the change," he stated.

Wilfred Chagnon of Hubbard Drug in Newton Corner said he also had a steady flow of persons asking directions. He termed the change a "boon to the city."

John B. Rubenstein, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, placed the directors unanimously in favor of the move. He recommended postponing the change until December 31 of this year so that business firms would be able to use up their current stationery and other forms bearing the Needham or Winchester street addresses.

Speakers opposing disagreed on the extent of confusion over finding Needham street. Several cited the amount of time they had put in publicizing their locations throughout the country and in some cases throughout the world. They would have to start their publicity campaigns from the ground up again, with a new street name and new number.

Signs on trucks, buildings and equipment; addresses on machinery name-plates all have to be corrected at great expense, and routines set up over the past few years would have to be rearranged. They argued that better street identification signs would solve the problem.

The intersection of Winchester and Needham streets, just a short distance away from the end of Dedham street, is a severe "traffic hazard," said Robert Imrie of Harlow-Imrie Company, 49 Needham street.

Increased traffic will undoubtedly force construction of a rotary circle at this intersection, he declared, and then the rotary will make a natural

city and state in Norfolk Superior Court. The case grew out of land taken for the Circumferential Highway (Route 128) through the Newton Water Works Reservation.

The aldermen voted $2500 for appraisal of the land, after William R. Mattson explained that "damages should be substantial." Much of the land, he said, had been used as a residence. A — the top single home building zone — and is of high value. About 90 acres were taken for the highway.

Appraisal of the land by an "outside authority" would give the city ammunition for its claim against the Commonwealth when the case comes up in court.

A permit was granted the Jenney Manufacturing Company to construct a 4-car lubricatorium adjacent to its present station at 1005 Boylston street, Newton Highlands. Permission to build the addition, which will take up almost all the property, was voted on the provision that a chain link fence be placed at the rear and side of the land to protect the abutters.

Alderman Joseph B. Davis, chairman of the franchises and licenses committee, pointed out that rubbish had accumulated on the property and was a source of annoyance to neighbors. But he stated the "junk" had been piled there by a nearby firm and the fence would prevent any more dumping. Also granted was a permit for Newton Super Market to expand its parking lot at 19 Pearl street, Newton. This was voted on the condition that curbing and the fence be continued from the present lot.

Although a majority voted in favor, a permit was denied the Berklee School of Boston to use a building at 232 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, as a "music, nursery and dancing school." The Planning Board had previously turned down the request, and the permit failed to receive a two-thirds vote of the aldermen, which is needed to overturn the Planning Board's vote.

The area around the house, now used as a tourist home, is growing into "a miniature Miracle Mile," said Alderman Lawrence B. Damon. Allowing a school in the building, he declared, would be like allowing an old house in the middle of the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center.

A lengthy argument over allowing the Moyer Chevrolet Company of 431 Washington street, Newton, to park autos in a lot at 21 Hovey street resulted in the company's petition being held for further study.

The car company is seeking permission to park "passenger automobiles of employees, customers or guests" on the lot. No cars will be placed on the parking area for display purposes or storage. Also being sought in connection with the lot are three 500-watt lights and five of 200 watts.

Both the lot and the lights received claims and rules committee approval, but they stirred up a storm when brought before the whole board. Chief objector was Alderman Anderson, who claimed the lot would "circumvent" zoning regulations by allowing the company to store used cars there.

He claimed the need for flood lights was "not consistent" with the use outlined by the company as only a parking area for "employees, customers and guests." After nearly an hour's argument, the two petitions were referred back for claims and rules study on the motion of Alderman John P. Nixon.

Walen-

He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University and Harvard University, and taught for a year at the University of Maryland before coming to Newton. He is a veteran of both world wars and hold a major's reserve rating.

The remainder of his term as assistant will be filled this year by Donald G. Enoch of 11 Cliff place, Newtonville, whose appointment was made last week by the Newton School Committee.

A graduate of Newton High, Walen has held the administrative assistant post since 1931. He is a Harvard Graduate and taught six years in Los Alamos, N.M., before coming to Newton in 1946.

He taught journalism in the class that publishes "The Newtonite," the school's newspaper. He has been associated with the New England School Development Council and is editor of the "English Journal."

Enoch served as coach of Newton High's track teams from 1926 to 1946, and has taught mathematics and physics since 1925. For a period after World War II, he handled veterans adjustment problems at the high school.

College Notes

More than 100 courses will be offered this winter by the Division of University Extension which will begin its 40th year of serving the educational needs of adults in Massachusetts. Descriptive catalogs of the winter program may be obtained from the Division of University Extension, 200 Newbury street, Boston 16.

Newton Sports

Newton High's basketball team, finally hitting on all cylinders after a hot-and-cold start, played up their capabilities this past week, scoring a pair of impressive victories. Last Friday the Tigers upset defending champion Rindge Tech 66-62, and Tuesday afternoon the Orange and Black hit its high scoring mark of the season with an 81-63 romp over Watertown . . . The hockey team added a sour note to the week's sports activities, dropping a 2-0 decision to Arlington. The loss dropped Newton into sixth place in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League . . . Starting Saturday afternoon, the last four teams in the GBI—Stoneham, Newton, Rindge Tech and Cambridge Latin—will begin a round-robin tournament at 3 p.m. The leaders will open festivities at 1 p.m. . . . The three games among the top teams should provide some outstanding hockey as Melrose, Arlington and Medford try to dump once-tied Belmont from the unbeaten ranks. The second round of the playoffs will take place Friday night, February 11, starting at 7 p.m. Newton should take to the ice shortly after 9 o'clock. Final games of the season, except for those teams qualifying for the State Tournament, will be Saturday afternoon, February 19 . . . By winning all three of its games against the lowly teams, Newton could move up in the GBI, but it is doubtful if the Tigers could reach a state tournament spot.

Newton's rebound on the basketball court from a mediocre 2-2 start to three consecutive wins has perked up the Tigers' hopes for a shot at the Suburban League title . . . Top win to date was the victory over Rindge Tech, which had edged out the Orange and Black 73-71 in a high-scoring tilt in Cambridge in the opening game of the season. The Tigers entertain Brockton tomorrow (Friday) in a non-league game, and next Wednesday play Cambridge Latin at home.

The most encouraging part of the Rindge Tech upset was that Newton showed a brand of defense which has been lacking in past games. Stan Chamberlain and John Geraci—the latter returning to the hoop wars after a brief stretch on the bench—covered Rindge's outstanding center, Charlie Stead, like a blanket . . . In that opening game, Stead had a field day under both backboards, snaring every rebound that came near him. He also converted several near misses into baskets with tip-ins. But last week it was a different story for the former state high-jump champion . . . Chamberlain and Geraci combined to hold Stead to a mere seven points, while tossing in 16 between them. What is more important, Geraci alone grabbed 20 rebounds—probably more than the whole squad got in that first Rindge game . . . Tuesday's win over Watertown turned into a rout shortly after the third quarter started. The Tigers drove through, around and over the stunned Arsenal Towners to rack up a wild 28 points in that quarter, a high score even for professionals . . . Newton had led at the half 37-28, after coming from a one-point deficit by running in nine straight points while holding Watertown scoreless. As the second half opened, Watertown scored eight points in one and a half minutes as the Tigers tallied a single basket to narrow the lead to 39-36 . . . Then the roof fell in, but good, Nine-teen points poured through the twine as Newton just couldn't seem to miss, while Watertown could only get two. Entering the final quarter, the Tigers had a comfortable 65-42 margin, and Coach Ed Poskit let the other members of the team get some game experience with the game safely under wraps.

Vital to Newton's sudden improvement has been the emergence of Al Rogan as a high-scoring threat. The Newton guard, just "one of the boys" at the start of the season, suddenly began to hit two weeks ago against Brookline and has been leading the scorers since then . . . Against Rindge, he picked up 22 on driving layups and sets from outside, while against Watertown he tied for scoring honors with Capt. Russ Halloran at 18 points.

Little can be said that is favorable regarding Newton's showing against Arlington Friday night. Lacking a consistent offense, the Tigers couldn't muster any serious threat against the Spy Ponders . . . Only Billy Reilly, playing in a defense slot, showed any spark in trying to make a game out of the one-sided encounter. Although the Tigers only lost by a two-goal margin, Arlington dominated the game from start to finish . . . Capt. Paul Fitzgerald turned in another sparkling performance in defense, but he and Reilly couldn't carry the load alone. Reilly drew the raves of the slender crowd with his solo rushes, while Fitzgerald again proved himself a master in the art of the poke check . . . But every time Reilly rushed, he found himself alone in the Arlington zone with no help in sight, and whenever Fitzgerald stopped an enemy rush no Newton player seemed ready to move the disc the other way. Only once was the Arlington goalie forced to come up with some tough shots—three in about 10 seconds—and after that Newton played dead . . . The work performance carried out the Tigers' pattern of alternating good and bad games, so perhaps this week the Orange and Black will come up with something a little better.

Bloodmobile-

The Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, in making this announcement, said: "At a time when the civilian need for blood is greater than ever and when many Newton residents must often appeal to Red Cross in an emergency, it is gratifying to know that Waban, whose quota was 140 pints of blood, produced 181 pints. On behalf of the Chapter in charge of recruitment of donors in Waban; the members of her committee; and the donors who cooperated in this vital program. It is our hope that we will continue to have such heartening results in the other villages which will soon be visited by the Bloodmobile."

The schedule for Bloodmobile visits for the next few months is as follows: February 8 from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Eliot Church, 474 Centre Street, Newton; March 1 from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Auburndale Club, 283 Melrose Street; April 11 from 1 to 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre. Appointments can be arranged by calling the Newton Red Cross Chapter, LA 5-7600.

Population Here Reaches 86,000

Newton's population will probably pass the 86,000 mark at the close of this year's poll listing and state census project, according to incomplete returns on the dual survey.

An increase of close to 4000 residents over the past five years is indicated by the listings carried out since January 3 by off-duty policemen. More than 400 homes still remain to be contacted on "call-backs" by the officers.

The listing was conducted by a force of nearly 50 officers. "Call-backs" to homes not occupied during the first listing are being made by 20 men.

Open House Next Week at Edison Shop in N'ville

William C. Deutschie, manager of the Newtonville Edison Shop at 296 Walnut street, today issued an invitation to local townfolk to attend Open House at the shop, beginning Monday and continuing through Friday, February 11.

During the entire week, Edison Home Service Representatives will be on hand to demonstrate the latest style automatic washers and dryers, as well as offering counsel on the laundering of fine fabrics.

One of the features of the Open House will be demonstrations of many popular new small appliances, such as the electric frypan and skillet, the electric roaster, the electric deep fat fryer and the electric roaster-oven.

Boston Edison Home Economists, Maureen Murphy, Sheila McKenna, Marion Taylor, Judith Rowen and Paula Fitzsimmons will be present during the week, to prepare delicious new food ideas to illustrate how easy it is to make a snack, buffet supper, or an entire meal on small electric appliances.

Refreshments will be served at the affair, which will also feature Miss Kathryn Outzen, Edison home lighting consultant, who will be present Monday and Tuesday to advise homemakers on better modern lighting.

Irving Berlin's Great Picture at West Newton

Manager Joseph Callahan has secured a prize first-run booking in the showing of Irving Berlin's "There's No Business Like Show Business," which begins an exclusive week's engagement in Newton Wednesday, February 9, at the Newton Theatre, West Newton.

One of the most highly rated films to reach the screen in years, the big Cinemascope—Deluxe Color production stars Donald O'Connor, Ethel Merman, Marilyn Monroe, Dan Dailey, Mitzi Gaynor and Johnnie Ray. The picture is a cavalcade of show business and tells the story of a vaudeville family, the Five Donahues, who make their way from the hinterlands to Broadway. The lavishly mounted picture with 67 different settings is the most costly musical ever produced by 20th Century Fox.

Of the 24 numbers in the picture, three are new: "If You Believe" sung by Johnnie Ray; "A Man Chases a Girl Until She Catches Him," and "A Sailor Is Not a Sailor 'Till He Has Been Tattooed."

Other songs include "Heat Wave," "Lazy," "When You Get What You Want, You Don't Want It," "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," and "When That Midnight Choo-Choo Leaves for Alabama."

Also heard were selections by Schubert, Thomas, Donizetti, Barber and Rachmaninoff.

Thrift is popular everywhere

Personally, I've always tried to save money, no matter what the times. I've always been sure money would come in handy, some day.

A lot more folks are now agreeing with me. Savings accounts are increasing almost everywhere. People don't feel the urge now to spend "before things go up." They believe thrift will have its rewards.

So, get your spare dollars and Watertown Federal together.

"The only Mutual Thrift Institution in the Watertown-Newton-Belmont area offering insurance of Savings Accounts through a permanent agency of the United States Government."

PLUS A BONUS OF 1/4 to 1% EXTRA for systematic savings.

White to Speak At Family Night Of Davis P.T.A.

Sammy White, outstanding Boston Red Sox catcher and a West Newton resident, will speak at Monday's "Family Night" of the Davis School Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium.

Boys and girls of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are invited to attend the program with their parents. After the meeting, refreshments will be served to the youngsters in their home rooms by the teachers and room mothers. The adults will meet in the recreation room for a social hour and coffee.

Mothers are being asked to provide cookies for the meeting. In charge is Mrs. William Bright of the hospitality committee, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Silver and Mrs. John S. Carder.

At last week's session of the P.T.A. executive board at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellis Bowen, the ways and means committee reported that plans for a March 12 dance are well under way. Members of the committee are Mrs. Melvin Taylor, chairman, Mrs. Anthony J. Farrington, Mrs. Richard Roche, Mrs. Harry A. Weiner, Mrs. William J. Jones, Mrs. Joseph McNamara, Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Donnell and Mr. and Mrs. Bowen.

Plans for improvement of the Davis School play area have been drawn up, according to Paul O'Donnell, chairman of the building committee.

Mrs. Richard W. Noyes, chairman of the health and safety committee, stated that members of her group have conferred with Safety Officer Charles Feeley on traffic problems around the school. Officer Feeley, Principal Miss Mary J. Nugent and Mrs. Noyes have talked with members of the school safety patrol to remind them of the importance of their duties. Other members of committee are Mrs. John Pauler, Mrs. William D. Jordan, Mrs. Anthony J. Farrington and Mrs. Thomas F. A. Flynn.

A keen interest in skating was reported by Mrs. Russell Palmer, chairman of the skating committee, who pointed out that two buses take Davis School children to the Boston Skating Club every Tuesday. Co-chairman of the skating unit is Mrs. Paul Reilly.

Activities of fourth grade students were discussed with the parents by Miss Anne C. Schiavone and Miss M. Lillian Neary, and Mrs. Phoebe H. Bloor discussed the fifth grade. Cursive and manuscript writing were explained to parents of third grade pupils by Miss Helen C. Laganas and Mrs. Caroline C. Allen.

Mothers assisting at the grade meetings were Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Kenneth Morey, Mrs. Robert B. Giles and Mrs. Donald B. Lawson. ## POLITICAL OVERTONES

Chairman Nelson Has Strengthened GOP Throughout State; Councillor McDonough Making Plans to Run for Governor

It has been a long time since the Republican State Committee has been headed by as skilled and deft a political operative as Elmer C. Nelson who has built the GOP organization in the Bay State to the point where it is stronger today than it has been at any time in the last quarter of a century.

Despite the important role Nelson played in achieving the reelection of Governor Herter in the face of a Democratic trend, a number of his fellow members, among them State Senator Philip Graham and Representative James C. Bayley, would like to give him the heave-ho. The criticism they make publicly against Nelson is that he was at fault because control of the Massachusetts House of Representatives was lost to the Democrats last November, but what most of Nelson's critics say privately is that he is not tactful and diplomatic enough in his handling of Republicans.

What it apparently comes down to is that the busy, energetic, hard-working Nelson is somewhat impatient when party members go to him with nonsensical ideas and he doesn't take the time to butter them up and flatter their ego. Instead, he says what he thinks in plain, unadorned language and lets it go at that, expecting the same loyalty to his party which he himself gives.

Rev. Roy Pearson Inaugurated As Dean at Andover Newton

Rev. Roy M. Pearson, former minister of the Hancock Congregational Church in Lexington, became the second dean in history of the Andover Newton Theological School Tuesday afternoon at ceremonies in the First Church (Congregational) in Newton Centre.

People's Baptist Church of Boston and president of the Newton Alumni Association. The portrait of Dean Emeritus Dabney, painted by noted Newton artist Bernard M. Keyes and donated by the alumni associations and the boards of trustees, was unveiled at a special ceremony witnessed by nearly 250.

More than 125 colleges, universities, seminaries and religious organizations were represented at the inauguration ceremony. The procession was led by Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, since Harvard's founding date of 1636 precedes all the others represented at the service.

In addition to becoming dean of Andover Newton, Dr. Pearson also became Bartlett Professor of Sacred Rhetoric, a post also held by Dean Emeritus Dabney. Participating in the act of induction were Dr. Dabney, Rev. Frederick M. Meek, minister of Old South Church in Boston and president of the Andover Board of Trustees; Howard W. Cole, president of the trustees of the Newton Theological Institution; and Rev. Herbert Gezork, president of Andover Newton Theological School.

Others taking part in the service were Rev. Nathaniel M. Guptill, minister of the First Church in Newton and president of the Andover Alumni Association; Rev. Albert B. Cole, trustee of Andover Theological Seminary, and moderator of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches; Rev. Reuben E. Nelson, general secretary of the American Baptist Convention; Rev. Paul S. Minear, Norris professor of the New Testament at Andover Newton; and Rev. Richard M. Owens of the

Will Review 1st Year of Administ'n

Newton's 1955 budget, along with a half-hour explanation of expenditures by the city for this year, will be presented by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., at Monday night's public meeting of the Board of Aldermen in City Hall.

In addition to recommending a budget, the mayor will outline principal features of 1955's expenses and will review his first year as the city's chief executive. He is also scheduled to compare this budget with those of previous years.

This 7:45 p.m. meeting of the aldermen was not originally slated, since the aldermen's sessions are generally on the first and third Mondays of the month. Under the city charter, the mayor must present his budget by February 15, but Mayor Whitmore explained he could not complete his review of department requests by February 7 — normally the meeting date — so the aldermen's schedule was revised.

The recommended budget will be watched anxiously by Newton homeowners to see whether a tax rate rise may be in prospect. Although predictions are impossible until the budget is actually presented, it seems likely that the mayor will continue last year's policy of keeping all expenses to a strict minimum and maintaining the tax rate at its present level.

Continuing the current rate or even cutting it back slightly seems at least theoretically possible, as increased valuations continue to boost real estate tax receipts. Last year's tax raise of 50 cents was termed a "token" gesture by the Newton Taxpayers' Association, which suggested the increase might have been made so this year's rate could be lowered.

In looking forward to Monday's budget meeting, the Association's bulletin "Taxpayers' Topics" declared that school additions and the new sewer line development can be handled within the $15,000,000 debt limit recommended by the Association for years.

Haydock, Jr. Named to Fund Post

Atty. Robert Haydock Jr., of 229 Dudley Road, Newton Center, has been appointed to one of the key positions on the 1955 Greater Boston Red Cross Fund team.

As chairman of the Professional Division, Atty. Haydock, along with other fund leaders, will spearhead this year's $1,468,849 appeal. This is the minimum necessary to continue the many Red Cross mercy services in 30 cities and towns which have banded together for the drive.

A graduate of Milton Academy, Harvard College and Harvard Law School, he was a naval lieutenant in World War II. He is associated with the law firm of Bingham, Dana and Gould.

Atty. Haydock, who was a solicitor for Advanced Gifts during the Red Cross fund appeal last year, is married and the father of two children, Robert and Sherry.

Brotherh'd Night to Be Held Feb. 17

The next regular meeting of Newton Post will be held Thursday, February 17 in the Memorial Building at Newton City Hall and the occasion will be known as Brotherhood Night. Commander Edward A. Cunningham says the meeting will serve to commemorate the four chaplains who, during World War II went down with the torpedoed U.S.S. Transport Dorchester off Greenland February 3, 1953. These chaplains, Catholic, Protestant, and Jew became one in service to their fellowmen, a dramatic story of spiritual and patriotic sacrifice.

The principal speaker of the meeting will be the Honorable Rudolph F. King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles for the Commonwealth. Registrar King has served in this office since 1944 when he was first appointed by Governor Leverett Saltonstall. He has also served in the Legislature, becoming in 1952, Speaker of the House. Mr. King was appointed by the Secretary-General of the United Nations to serve as a member of a committee of experts

Pilot Editor To Speak at Breakfast

"Times of the Times" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Very Rev. Monsignor Francis J. Lally, D.L.S.Soc., Editor of The Pilot, official organ of the Catholic Archdiocese of Boston, when he speaks at a Communion Breakfast to be held by Our Lady's Holy Name Society of Newton next Sunday morning.

Several hundred members of the Society will attend the 8 o'clock Mass in Our Lady's Church and will receive Holy Communion together. Music during the Mass will be furnished by the Holy Name Choir, under the direction of Miss Florence Herlihy, organist. Immediately after the Mass, a sit-down breakfast will be served in the cafeteria of the parish high school.

Monsignor Lally graduated from Boston College in 1940 and was ordained at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, in 1944. He received a graduate degree in Social Sciences from Laval University in Canada. In June, 1948, he was appointed Associate Editor of The Pilot by Archbishop Cushing.

During 1950, in the company of thirty-five press men from leading American magazines and papers, Msgr. Lally visited the capitals of most of the states of western Europe and had interviews with top European statesmen, including Count Sforza of Italy. Robert Schuman

Budget-

The same amount as last year can be spent on "new street acceptances, general sewers, repairs, maintenance and equipment" without lowering the general level of services, the taxpayers' group stated.

"Unavoidable new operating expenses," Taxpayers' Topic said, "relate mostly to salaries. The school budget requests $320,000 more than last year. The first full year's operation of the new pay scale for city employees inaugurated last fall will cost about $120,000 more than in 1954, and an unknown amount hinging on the recommendations of the personnel survey group can be added.

"When installing any new pay plan in a city during good times, it is generally deemed advisable to spread at least a little raise of some sort around, so we can expect some kind of additional salary expense on that account even though compared with other cities. . . . Newton does right well now."

Two factors in the budget beyond city control are state aid for hurricane cleanup and how much snow falls during the year. In addition, repairs to the city incinerator are taking $260,000 from the surplus. Funds remaining in the surplus may be directly applied to reducing the tax rate.

"We can expect," predicted Taxpayers' Topic, "a healthy increase in total valuation, mostly from new construction (at present $1,000,000 in valuation produces $44,500 in revenue), some recovery of money from the state school building assistance commission, and — after a state deficiency of some millions is paid into that same school building assistance account — we should get perhaps a slight increase in the distribution of state-collected taxes to cities and towns."

The Association, the bulletin continued, has agitated for "more equitable valuations for some time. It has taken definite steps to assist the city in achieving that aim. The Assessing Department is to be congratulated for moving more rapidly in that direction this year."

"As to surplus, the Association for the past three years has recommended $250,000 in surplus at tax rate time as being sufficient. The city regularly has held out more than twice as much. Nothing that has transpired during the past year, or the period as a whole, has caused us to modify our view of the matter."

Cohon, Professor of Jewish Theology at Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, will discuss American Judaism," an exposition of the theological beliefs of the various groups in American Jewish life.

Dr. Cohon, who was ordained as a rabbi in 1912, has been on the faculty of Hebrew Union College since 1923 and is the author of several books, including "Christianity and Judaism Compare Notes" and "What We Jews Believe." Invitations have been extended to clergymen in Newton, Wellesley, Watertown, Waltham, and Belmont, and a large attendance is expected. The Newton Council of Churches, as in past years, will be well represented, according to its executive director, Reverend Sydney Adams.

The guests will be welcomed by Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of Temple Shalom, who will introduce Dr. Cohon, and by Mr. Robert E. Segal, chairman of the Temple's Community Relations Committee. Luncheon will be served by a group of Sisterhood hostesses headed by Mrs. Manuel Andelman and consisting of Mmes. Richard Gray, Bernard Grossman, Kenneth Huberman, Leonard Luchner, Murray Rothman, and Shepherd Vesley.

Dr. Cohon will also deliver the sermon at the regular Sabbath question "Shall primaries for the nomination of candidates to be voted for at city, or town, elections be held in this city or town?" shall be put on the official ballot at the next regular city election or town meeting, as the case may be.

There is a sound basis for making it just as easy for a city or town to adopt plan B or any other standard form of charter. "That is certainly sound home rule for the voters themselves to make the decision," stated Rep. Rawson.

Rawson filed the same bill in 1954 and as the then chairman of the Election Laws Committee, secured its passage by the House without serious opposition. The Senate rejected it but it is hoped that this year's bill will succeed, Rawson concluded.

Among the distinguished guests will be Alderman Leo Cannon, who will act as Master of Ceremonies; Mayor Howard Whitmore, Reverend John Fitzsimmons, Department Chaplain of the Legion, a raconteur of merit in his own right; Rabbi Murray I. # Nat'l Education Magazine Cites NHS Exchange Program

Newton High School's student exchange program is described as "a particularly fine opportunity to observe life in other parts of America" in a three-page article in February's issue of "The Nation's Schools," a monthly magazine for school administrators.

"Whether filling respectfully past the enshrined original Declaration of Independence in Washington, visiting the capitol of their own states, or simply walking abroad in an unfamiliar city, they're learning one of life's most significant lessons—that observation of the world beyond their daily lives is the most fruitful and direct way of learning about themselves," states the article.

"The student exchange program . . . makes possible a particularly fine opportunity to observe life in other parts of America. Each year, two groups of 30 students are 'exchanged' with high schools in other American cities and towns.

"For one week, Newton students became guests in the homes of their exchange partners; then they reciprocate by entertaining in their own homes. More than a passive observation of the new and unfamiliar, the Newton program offers boys and girls the opportunity to meet, and share social experiences with, young people whose lives, traditions and opinions may be quite different from their own."

Benefits of the exchange trips, continues the article, include demonstrating cultural differences among different sections of this country and helping the students appreciate "the social and economic diversity of American life." What is perhaps of most value is that the trips give "a concrete example in the art of being good neighbors."

The cost of the exchange visits is kept low by having students "foot" part of the bill. Transportation, food and housing of faculty leaders and salaries of substitute teachers have never gone past $750.

A large part of the funds for the trips is raised by students and their parents by various cooperative efforts. Square dances, auctions, rummage sales and "pop" concerts have been held in the past, raising as much as 80 per cent of the cost of some of the trips.

"Many rewarding associations among parents of dissimilar backgrounds have followed their work together," notes the article. "The school and the community have profited greatly."

Leaders of the exchange groups are drawn from Newton High's faculty. They are selected "for their own records of leadership, which are often an important resource when they shepherd young people on an extended trip."

Most of Newton's trips to other high schools are made during the spring vacation period, but their visitors come during regular school sessions. In the mornings, the visitors attend classes with their exchange "partners," and the afternoons and evenings are set aside for "intensive sight-seeing junkets."

Although the Newton students are on their vacation, they usually find that the high school they visit is in session. In turn, the Newtonites attend their partners' classes and go on tours in the latter hours.

Newton school officials are understandably enthusiastic about their exchange programs, which originated in the high school. They are actively working to spread the program throughout the country.

"One of the more pressing problems of administering the exchange program has followed from the lack of a national clearing house for schools desiring to make exchanges," says the article. "Supt. Harold B. Gores and Exchange Director Floyd Rinker have been obliged to 'play ear' advertising the program as widely as possible and soliciting inquiries from their colleagues."

"So convinced" are they of the potential of their program for creating good will and understanding that they have almost become evangelists in urging its adoption by other schools. The prospectus that they have prepared speaks for itself.

"We would like to see 3000 schools participating in the exchanges . . . establishing strong bonds of understanding and friendship . . . By an exchange of letters and visits and by the inspiration of lively discussion, youth will share in the great task of establishing 'An Age of Friendship.'"

Nonantum Library Highlights Advisory Committee Report

A new Nonantum Branch Library located on a city-owned park highlights the recommendations of an advisory committee's report on improvements in that section of the city following a four-month study by the 7-member committee.

Also recommended by the advisory unit in its report to Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. were an off-street parking area on the site of the present fire station, a playground for small children, a synchronized traffic light at Adams and Watertown streets, and an overall study of traffic conditions on Watertown street.

The best site for the new library, sought by the Nonantum Improvement Council since 1949, is the park at Adams and Bridge streets, the committee reported. At present the library is located in a rented store, and service is inadequate for the area involved, supporters of the new branch argue.

Rejected as a possible library site was Fire Station 8, located at the corner of Bridge and Watertown streets. This was listed instead as the best spot for an off-street parking area. The station is scheduled to be abandoned upon completion of the new station at Watertown and Crafts streets, Newtonville.

The "tot lot" for small children was recommended for the Watertown street side of the Stearns School playground. The Adams and Watertown streets traffic light, the committee recommended, would work in conjunction with the Chapel street light.

Study of Nonantum's needs began last year when, following a meeting with the mayor of a delegation from the Nonantum Improvement Council, a special committee was appointed.

Named to the study unit were Alderman William A. Diman chairman of the street traffic committee; Alderman Stuart M. Spalding, a member of the public buildings committee; Mrs. Jean N. Swartz and Frank Lombardi of the Nonantum Improvement Council; City Librarian Harold O. Wooster and James P. Gallagher, a library trustee. Appointed as chairman was Karl H. Brock, a member of Newton's Planning Board.

General recommendations for the same projects have been made for several years by the Improvement Council, which was formed in 1949 at the suggestion of the Newton Community Council to seek erection of a new library building.

The Nonantum Improvement Council is now composed of the Carr, F. A. Day, Lincoln-Elliott and Stearns Parent-Teacher Associations, Newton Boys' Club, Newton Good Citizenship Association, Nonantum Businessmen's Association, Nonantum American Legion Post, North Congregational Church, Our Lady's Church, St. Jean's Church, and the United Italo-American Organization.

First Project
The library was the Council's first project, and still ranks as its most important. Those favoring the new branch point out that it would serve students from seven local public and parochial schools.

In a recent "progress report," the Council stated that it "has striven to develop the village center idea in Nonantum, bringing in services urgently needed, as well as improving the general appearance of our community."

"Business, industry and population statistics show considerable growth in this area. With the change in ward lines, Nonantum covers a larger territory than before; and since communities tend to overlap somewhat, whatever improvements we bring to Nonantum really affect a good portion of the north side of the city," continued the report.

Several projects have been accomplished by the Council during its four years of existence: "Adams street was made a paved thoroughway from Watertown street to California street, thus easing the traffic problem besides creating a new route to the shopping center," said the Council.

"On January 8, 1954, the Newton National Bank opened its Nonantum Branch. This marked the culmination of one of our long-standing efforts," noted the progress report. "Our first official move to secure a branch bank in this area was made in a letter to local banks dated November 6, 1951. The Nonantum Businessmen's Association (formed at the urging of the Council) was largely responsible for the ultimate success of this project."

Post Office
Another "long-standing objective" of the Council was the establishment of a branch Post Office in Nonantum. Businessmen in that area currently are served by the Newton Post Office more than a mile away from the closest part of the commercial district.

"For many years," reported the Council, "various single groups have tried to secure a branch Post Office in this area, notably the United Italo-American Organization. On Nov. 6, 1952, in a letter to the postmaster-general, the Nonantum Improvement Council took up the fight. When the businessmen organized, they added their strength and came up with an impressive statistical survey.

"Result: On Sept. 13, 1954, official notification was received that the postmaster-general had approved the establishment of a branch Post Office in Nonantum." Improved postal service is assured Nonantum upon erection of a new building to house the Post Office branch.

The recommendations of the advisory committee to the mayor reflect other projects eagerly sought by the Improvement Council for many years.

Pvt. Jay I. Moskow, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Moskow of 146 Woodchester drive, Chestnut Hill, is at Ft. Dix, N. J., for eight weeks of basic infantry training. He is a graduate of Lawrence Academy in Groton and Boston University.

Newton Woman To Become CPA
A Newton resident is the second woman in Massachusetts to become both an attorney and a certified public accountant.

Mrs. Catherine C. Meaney of 192 Melrose street, Auburndale, starts work this month as a CPA in her office, 53 State street, Boston, where she will also continue her law practice. She is associated with Harold G. Jacklin, a CPA in the same office.

Mrs. Meaney was admitted to the State Bar in 1934, when her daughter, Barbara L., was a few weeks old, and to the Federal Bar in 1947. She is the wife of Joseph S. Meaney, who is employed in the Boston Post Office. Barbara is a senior class president at Simmons College; a student at Warren Junior High School.

Mrs. Meaney has taught accounting at Burdett Business College and other Boston business schools for several years. She graduated from Lynn Classical High School in 1924 and from Simmons College in 1928. She received her law degree, cum laude, from Portia Law School in 1932.

Mrs. Meaney's father was Login Borys, well known Lynn merchant, who died recently.

Formerly with Charles F. Rittenhouse & Company, Mrs. Meaney is a member of the Auburndale Women's Club, Corpus Christi Guild, Middlesex Bar Association, Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants and the National Association of Cost Accountants. She is treasurer of the Crescent Beach Association of Mattapoisett.

On Tuesday, February 1, the ninth grade Cabinet presented a grade-wide assembly. The purpose of the assembly was to promote interest in the Cabinet.

Master of Ceremonies was Peter Derow, ninth grade president, with an introduction by Bo Pettit, ninth grade vice-president.

A panel, consisting of Brenda Castle, Pat Gravalles, Jerry Bonazoli, Mark Snider, Eleanor Vernon, Eliot Gardner, and Bo Pettit, led the discussion on the two chosen topics. These topics were: what type of a dance should the ninth grade sponsor; and what is "school spirit."

After the panel discussion, coupled with a general discussion, it was decided that the dance which the ninth grade plans to sponsor sometime in March be a "Sadie Hawkins" type. Those who helped in making the assembly possible were Mr. Henderson, Roger Tucker and Allan Paulson.

Some of the things which will be discussed in Cabinet during the reminder of the year are ninth grade memberships, the two dances which are coming up, the class picture, the blood drive, and the class gift.

Not Unusual

Anyone who has observed the efficiency of the Newton police department, time after time as we have, were not surprised at the quick apprehension of the thugs who broke into a home here and enacted an unforgettable tragedy.

We have long watched the local police department go into action and on occasions, we have marveled at their promptness and dispatch, not once but many times.

Whether citizens of this city realize it or not, Newton has probably, man for man, one of the finest police departments in the entire state. Covering such a large area of territory, the work of the local police is all the more amazing.

Certainly there are those who are quick to criticize and all too often, too few to commend. Yet for all this, the citizens of this city can be proud of its police department from the Chief right down to the man "on the beat." More than that, the Newton police department consists of men who, although efficient, are courteous to a degree and rarely have we heard this assertion disputed.

The tragedy which occurred here was appalling. It is to be hoped that never again will such a cold-blooded affair be known here yet the citizens of this city can rest assured that in their police department they have men who are at all times alert to the dangers which exist in this city today.

Wonderful though it was that the culprits to this dastardly deed were apprehended quickly, it was not unusual in Newton where a police department of courageous and alert men are always on the watch for crime.

Lincoln's Words, Today

Every time that Lincoln's Birthday rolls around we gain a new appreciation of his greatness, and of the wisdom of his many pronouncements.

Most of them are as meaningful today as they were in Lincoln's time, and one of them is that "you cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they should do for themselves."

Certainly this applies to government in business. During the 1930's and 40's, the federal government built up a multi-billion dollar system of government owned enterprises competing with private business. At least 78 government corporations and agencies were set up to handle such activities.

President Eisenhower has made a start toward reducing the size and scope of governmental operations, a move which must be continued and expanded. Getting, and keeping, the federal government out of business and out of competition with business could save the American people billions of dollars.

History's Lesson

When primitive man, observing a rolling stone, seized upon an idea and perfected the first crude wheel, he started civilization really rolling. But he caused some consternation, too.

Others of our ancient ancestors who had been getting things from here to there by laboriously carrying them by hand, envisaged a wheeled contraption that would "throw men out of work."

We know, of course, that it didn't,
and that the primordial wheel made jobs
instead of destroying them.

So it is today, as we progress further into the age of "Automation," the automatic operation of productive machinery.
The fear of "workerless factories," being spread in some quarters, is entirely and historically groundless.

We can have wonderful and more efficient machines, and jobs in increasing numbers at the same time. The history of the industry says we can, and the practice of industry says we will!

Give for Your Heart

A member of the Heart Sunday Army, one of your neighbors, will ring your doorbell on the afternoon of Sunday, February 20. Open your door and open your heart to your neighbor who will accept your contribution to fight heart disease and to carry forward the work of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

The solicitor will have an identification tag and an envelope for your contribution.
There will be no high pressure "sales talk," as a matter of fact, you can seal the envelope, and it isn't at all necessary to disclose the size of your contribution. The Heart Fund Volunteer will, of course, leave a "thank you" receipt.

A major portion of all contributions will be retained to advance heart projects in this community and state, the remainder going to support national programs of research, education and community service.

Newton has never failed a worthy cause. Be generous, welcome your Heart
Fund Volunteer on Heart Sunday, February 20. Give for your heart's content.

Political Overtones

It is highly improbable that any attempt to fire Nelson will be successful, but if it were, the big loser would be the Republican party, for there aren't too many men of his ability, energy and political experience within the GOP.

A number of Republican politicians have lamented at length over the fact that their party lost its control of the lower branch of the State Legislature in last autumn's election.

In grumbling over that bit of misfortune, it evidently has not occurred to them that under such circumstances they were lucky, indeed, that they did not also surrender the Governorship and the seat in the U. S. Senate held by Lev-erett Saltonstall.

If Nelson is to be blamed because a number of Republican legislators weren't able to hold their seats against the challenges of Democratic opponents, it would seem that he is entitled to some slight measure of credit for the success of Governor Herter's campaign which he directed.

State Senator Graham, a North Shore turkey-grower who publicly urged Nelson's ouster in a recent speech before the Republican Club of Massachusetts, has been a storm centre in the Republican party for some time.

It was Graham who led the revolt against Senate President Richard I. Fur-bush last autumn, and it was Graham who insisted that Senator Charles J. Innes of the Back Bay be demoted from his post as majority leader in the upper legislative chamber as the price Furber had to pay for achieving an unprecedented third term as Senate head.

But he is taking on more formidable opposition, when he draws a political bead on the rugged Mr. Nelson.

The cold fact of the matter is that Nelson has done an outstanding job as chairman of the Republican State Committee, that he has strengthened the GOP organization in many sections of Massachusetts, that he is serving his party at some financial sacrifice to himself and that he wouldn't hold the job except for his loyalty to Governor Herter for whom he has tremendous admiration.
It would be quite a comfort to Democratic politicians if Nelson were fired.

When Governor's Councillor Patrick
J. McDonough of Dorchester charged after last June's Democratic State convention that ex-Governor Dever had pulled the plug on him and contrived his defeat in his fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor, most political observers dismissed his complaints as those of a disgruntled, disappointed and defeated candidate.

It has gradually developed since then that McDonough's irate protests were based on fact, that he knew what he was talking about and that he might well have gained the right to run as the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, if Dever had maintained a hands-off policy and had not thrown his weight behind Murphy.

Dever and McDonough, two professionals in the business of politics, have since placed aside whatever differences they had and are now working together to promote the annual Jackson-Jefferson dinner the Democratic party will put on in mid-April.

As matters turned out, Dever may have done McDonough more of a service than a disservice in blocking his nomination. Murphy, who was victorious over McDonough at Worcester, ran against Herter, was defeated and retired to private life.

McDonough is still in the Governor's Council, achieved tremendous attention as the peace-maker principally responsible for ending the recent revolt at the Charlestown State prison and is quietly mapping his campaign for the Governor-ship in 1956.

Whether McDonough would have had any more success in a fight with Herter than did Murphy is, of course, a question that will never be answered because even if Herter and McDonough should be the opponents in 1956, the circumstances under which they would wage their campaigns would not be the same as in 1954.

McDonough has a more colorful personality than Murphy and undoubtedly would have put on a more spectacular and flamboyant campaign than did the quiet-mannered Malden man.

That doesn't necessarily mean that it would have been any more successful. McDonough probably would have stirred more interest and enthusiasm, but, as it was, a much bigger vote came out in Massachusetts last November than was anticipated.

Most political observers believe that Governor Herter was extremely strong last autumn and that no Democratic candidate, with the possible exception of Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes, could have defeated him. They are uncertain about Hynes since he is untested outside of Boston, but they concede that he undoubtedly would have been much stronger in his home city than was Murphy.

If that appraisal is an accurate one,

then McDonough, by losing his bid for nomination at the Worcester convention, was saved from the defeat most of the experts think he would eventually have encountered and was spared to make his fight for the highest office within the gift of the people of Massachusetts under possibly more advantageous conditions.

So is the course of political history charted. One thing which is certain is that McDonough, because of his part in bringing to an end the prison rebellion, is far better known throughout Massachusetts today than he was last June.

Resolution Honors Memory Of Riley Hampton

A Resolution on the passing of Riley Hampton was adopted by the Board of Directors of the Newton Community Chest at its meeting February 3. This Resolution was as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED

That the Officers, Directors, and staff of the Newton Community Chest, record with deep sorrow the death on January 19, of Riley Hampton, A resident of Newton for twenty-five years, he was most active in church, civic and community affairs.

Riley was Newton Campaign Chairman of the 1949 Red Feather Campaign and a devoted campaign worker of the Chest for many years. He headed the Newton-Wellesley Hospital second building fund campaign and was a director of the Newton Community Chest and Stone Institute as well as a member of the Board of Governors and a trustee of Newton-Wellesley Hospital at the time of his demise.

He was a member of the Board of Aldermen for two years, for many years a junior warden and vestryman of St. John's Episcopal Church, a member of the Newton Council, Civil Defense, and Chairman of the Newton Chapter of Red Cross Preparedness and Relief Committee. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the West Newton Cooperative Bank and a incorporator of the Newton Savings Bank. He was a member of Rotary and the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

In business Riley was editor of the Raytheon News, and much of the credit was due him when this house organ won the award in 1953 of the International Conference of Industrial Editors as the best in its class.

But more important than all of these honors bestowed on him was that Riley Hampton was a friendly man. He was loved by all who knew him and no one had more sincere friends. His untimely passing at the age of 56 has deprived the city of an outstanding citizen and the Chest of one of its most loyal workers.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED

That this Resolution be spread on the records of the Newton Community Chest and a copy sent to his widow, Mrs. Myra Hampton, with our expression of deepest sympathy.

The Officers and the Board of Directors of the Newton Community Chest

Letters

VERY HONEST PERSON

Editor, Newton Graphic:
May I use your newspaper as a medium to publicly thank a very honest person.

On Thursday, February 2nd, I lost a wallet containing a considerable sum of money along with checks and personal papers on Pearl street, Newton. After considerable consternation on this, especially because the money belonged to my employer, I contacted the police and was informed by them that the wallet had been found and turned over to Officer Timothy Rilly at Newton Corner. The finder was Bianca DiLuzio of 9 Rockland street, Newton.

This act on Mrs. DiLuzio's part certainly was a heartening experience and revealed to me that there are still honest people in this world.

Again I wish to thank publicly Mrs. DiLuzio. God Bless her.

Allston, Mass.

● With the opening of each new supermarket, we of MARKET BASKET have always been alert to the advances which have made the supermarket of today as different from the general store as the sleek super jets shooting through our skies differ from Wilbur Wright's first box plane.

● Here at Oak Park, in the fourteenth unit of our chain, we have incorporated all of the latest devices to make every shopping trip pleasurable . . . scientific lighting, acoustic ceilings, soft-toned interior painting, shelving engineered to bring our great variety of choice foods to more comfortable shopping levels, plus mechanized checkout booths . . . Plenty of parking, of course!

● Yet we have not overlooked two of the essential ingredients of pleasurable food shopping . . . our store is compact enough so that you needn't get worn out just selecting the merchandise you need . . . AND every employee is trained in that all-important factor, COURTESY.

● WE KNOW OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT . . . COMPARE our VALUES, every week in the year.

Shopping Center Opens Today in Oak Hill Park

Month-Long Celebration Of Opening to Feature Awarding of Mink Stole

Gala ceremonies were scheduled this morning (Thursday) at the new shopping center on Saw Mill Brook Parkway, Oak Hill Park, with city and state officials taking part in the opening of the six stores, gas station and branch library.

The opening celebration of the Oak Park Shopping Center will continue through the next four weeks, culminating with the award of a $1000 mink stole to some lucky woman. Two $100 suits or dresses will be presented each of the three weeks preceding to shoppers.

Drawing for the Stole which has been styled by a leading New York designer, will be at 11 a.m. March 7. It is currently on display at the Oak Park Pharmacy. Names of winners for the suits and dresses will be drawn on the 14th, 21st and 28th of this month.

Women may enter the running for the stole or the weekly prizes by signing registration blanks available at any of the new stores. There is no obligation to purchase anything when registering, and there is nothing to buy. Merely drop in and sign the blank.

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. was scheduled to officially open the brand-new center to the public by cutting a ribbon across the front at 9 a.m., assisted by state and city notables. Afterwards, he planned to visit the new Memorial Branch Library with members of his staff.

The first volumes to cross the charging desk were slated to be two copies of recent books, one presented by Judge Thomas Weston, president of the library trustees, and the other by City Librarian Harold O. Wooster.

Space for the library has been donated by the builders of the Oak Park Shopping Center, V. Cuilla and Sons of Sharon, as their contribution to the community. The new branch, rented to the city on a 50-year lease at the token sum of one dollar a year, replaces the library in a converted classroom at the Memorial School.

New books and new music records for children have been added to the expanded library. The Memorial Branch is finished in modern style, with shelving in a willow color and the tables and desk in a natural finish woodwork.

An art exhibit of pictures suitably framed is now on display at the library's newest branch, courtesy of the Charles Harris Framing Company of Boston. This collection was previously exhibited at the Main Library.

The branch will serve about 300 homes in the Oak Hill Park development of houses for veterans, along with another 100 homes nearby. Since establishment of the branch in the Memorial School toward the end of 1950, more than 120,000 volumes of juvenile and adult books have been borrowed by the community.

Officials invited to the opening are former mayors Theodore R. Lockwood and Paul M. Goddard, and heads of all city departments. Invitations have also been sent to State Sen. Richard H. Lee, Reps. Irene K. Thresher, George Rawson, Arthur G. Heaney and Donald L. Gibbs, Lt. Gov. Sumner G. Whittier, John H. Walsh, president of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company, and representatives of the Department of Commerce.

In addition to Mr. Lockwood, who was serving as mayor when the Oak Hill Park development was undertaken, others invited who were instrumental in the housing project include Carl C. Mullen, Warren W. Oliver, Fred A. Hawkins and Edward J. Kivell.

The Merchants Committee and the Oak Hill Park Association also have invited veterans organizations, their auxiliaries and all other groups in Newton to participate in the opening of the long-awaited shopping center.

A number of past presidents of the Oak Hill Park Association were expected at the opening ceremonies. Bernard Plotkin, current president of the Association, suggests that residents of Oak Hill Park visit the new center to see first-hand the new shopping services available.

The new shopping area, housed in a low, modern building with parking space for 500 vehicles, contains six stores, the branch library and a gasoline service station. The center provides a variety of goods and services designed for one-stop shopping.

Stores include Market Basket Super Market, Oak Park Pharmacy, Linda Mae Food Shop, Cohnan's One-Hour Cleaning Service, Leshner's Dairy and Delicatessen, Oak Park Barber and Beauty Shop, and an Amoco Service Station.

The building was designed to blend in with the residential character of the neighborhood, and the surrounding area has been attractively landscaped. Constructed of red brick in Colonial style, the building is 283 feet long and is 60 feet deep at its widest point.

Store owners have formed the Oak Park Merchants' Association, with the following officers: William Stocklan of the Oak Park Pharmacy, president; Nathan Shuman of the Market Basket, treasurer; and Gail Nathanson of the Oak Park Barber and Beauty Shop, secretary.

Members of the Store Committee of the Oak Hill Park Association, cooperating with the opening, are Chairman Lee Carver Kitson, Harold Hurst, Eric H. Hanson, and Edward Appell.

Herbert W. Winer, president of Market Basket Stores Inc. and a resident of Newton for 11 years, declared his belief that the new market "which our engineers have planned to insure food shoppers of the utmost in comfort and convenience, will be an asset not only to Oak Hill Park, but to the surrounding Newtons and to residents of South Brookline and West Roxbury as well."

The ample, level parking area does away with wedging cars into a narrow space, Mr. Winer declared. "And we have tried to create a homey atmosphere in the Market Basket where you may shop efficiently and yet leisurely, where you won't find the hustle-bustle urgency so characteristic of much of today's shopping."

He termed his personnel at the store "the most friendly and helpful group you have met in all your food shopping." Well-known throughout the grocery trade is Ben Schaffman, grocery manager, and fruit manager Anthony Bonfiglio is an expert in the display and maintenance of his highly-attractive products.

Nathan Shuman and Charles Lerner, who operate the meat, fish and dairy departments in the Sharon Heights store of the Market Basket chain, are running the same departments at Oak Park. Meat is sold on a service basis, so that customers may obtain expert advice.

General supervisor of the new store is Morton J. Winer, vice-president in charge of sales and operations. "Over the years," said Herbert Winer, who is secretary of the Waban Improvement Association, "as we have grown we have been insistent that any product bearing the Market Basket label be rigidly tested to meet our exacting specifications."

"As a result, the name 'Mar-

C. of C. Head Lauds New Library Site

Terming the new Oak Park Shopping Center with a branch library "a 1955 development which other communities would like to copy," John B. Rubenstein, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, lauded the builder of the shopping block in a public statement today.

"This is an example of cooperation between modern business and the community which is outstanding," said Mr. Rubenstein. He explained that the builders of the block, V. Cuilla and Sons of Sharon, have given the city a 50-year lease on a 25 feet by 60 feet store for the library at the rate of one dollar a year.

The lease was given "on the theory that the use of this active branch library will create public good, will increase the use of the shopping center, making it more of a gathering place, and be a community benefit," he said.

"The City of Newton is well-known as a community with high educational and cultural standards," he noted. "The working relationship of interested citizens who give generously in time, energy and money to promote Newton institutions and public services is an outstanding reason for these standards."

President Rubenstein cited the library as an outstanding example of cooperation over the past 85 years. The original library and its site was donated to the city and was dedicated in 1870. Sites for branches in Auburndale, Newton Centre, Waban and West Newton were purchased, buildings erected and then given to the city through popular subscription. In Newtonville, a similar public subscription purchased the land, and the building was erected jointly by the federal Public Works Administration and the city.

"Because the Newton Free Library system is accessible to the different villages and sections of the city through a more than usual development of can easily be visited by classes, and it is also the geographical center of a group of close to 400 families, most of whom include young children.

"A writer who has travelled extensively throughout the United States," Mr. Rubenstein declared, "says that the condition of the Public Library is the best single measurement as to whether a city is a good place to live and work. The interest of citizens and the support of City Administrations have worked together to develop and strengthen the Newton Free Library."

"The Oak Hill region has two unique 'firsts' in library history. Around 1918 there was an unusual experiment in giving a section of scattered homes, a type of house-to-house library service. To reach a present day concentration of homes, the shopping center with a Branch Library included is a 1955 development which other communities would like to copy."

Princess Ilena Addresses Annual N-W Hospital Meeting

Princess Ilena of Rumania was the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in Usen Auditorium on Tuesday, February 1. In her quietly moving address, the Princess, for the past several years a resident of Newton, told of her experience in establishing and maintaining a hospital in Rumania under communist rule.

Starting with a bare field and the gift of a crop of potatoes, the Princess was to see her efforts bear fruit in the establishment of a 60-bed hospital which was to grow to 120 bed capacity before being finally closed by the Reds.

Citing the contrasts between the meager plant and facilities available in Rumania and the mechanical and technical perfection of our American hospitals, the princess pleaded for more heart, more understanding and more gentle care in our own practice of medicine and nursing.

An overflow audience filled Usen Auditorium to capacity and also filled every available seat in the cafeteria at the dinner which preceded the main event of the evening.

At the regular meetings of the corporation and the Board of Trustees, held in the auditorium prior to the dinner, Mark C. Wheeler of Wellesley was elected president of the hospital. Mr. Wheeler is a vice president of the Merchants National Bank of Boston, was recently elected financial division chairman of Greater Boston's Red Feather drive, has served as vice president and acting president of the Forsyth Dental Clinic and has held a number of other important civic posts.

He succeeds Charles M. Cutler of West Newton, to whom he paid tribute in accepting his new position. On behalf of the hospital and its trustees, Mr. Wheeler expressed his appreciation to Mr. Cutler for the countless hours of selfless service and outstanding judgement given by Mr. Cutler to the Newton-Wellesley.

Earlier the trustees had voted a message of appreciation to Clarence C. McDavitt, who is retiring from the board, for his many and long continued contributions and wise guidance to the management of the hospital's affairs.

Resolutions in tribute to Riley J. Hampton and James L. Richards, both former members of the hospital's board, were unanimously adopted, and it was further resolved that copies of the tributes be sent to the families of the two men whose presence will be sorely missed by the community which they served.

Ralph Taber, reporting for Thomas Shirley, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers, members of the Board of Governors and members of the Board of Trustees:

President, Mark C. Wheeler; first vice president, Marshall G. Bolster; second vice president, Donald P. Perry; treasurer, Samuel O. Brown; clerk, C. Raymond Cabot; members of the corporation, F. Gorham Brigham Jr., Nathan D. Bugbee, Lyndall F. Carter, Donald B. Conant, Samuel A. Fitch, Joseph Greenbaum, Irving Usen and Richard Wengren.

Trustees, the above and George S. Burgess, William M. Cahill, Marion F. Chick, Richard B. Cole, Edward B. Gray, Miss Louisa Hunnewell, Donald D. McKay, Mrs. Ellery Rogers, Ralph F. Taber, Mrs. George H. Talbot, Rupert C. Thompson and Joseph Wogan, all of whom were re-elected.

Julian D. Anthony, Paul T. Babson, George S. Burgess, William F. Chase, Charles M. Cutler, John D. Fox, Edward B. Gray and Richard Wengren were elected to the Board of Governors for one year.

Harold A. Bishop, chairman, and Norman H. S. Vincent were appointed to the auditing committee. Hugh Munro, chairman, and George S. Burgess, Kivvie Kaplan, Mrs. Lucius E. Thayer and Harry L. Peabody form the new finance committee. Paul T. Babson, chairman, W. Elliot Pratt Jr. and Nathan Bugbee make up the investment committee, while Charles M. Cutler, chairman; Endicott Smith and Lyndall F. Carter will serve as nominating committee.

George S. Burgess, reporting for the Board of Governors, noted the following additions to the medical staff: active staff, Doctors Martin B. Levine, John S. Meyer, Stewart A. Wilbur, Theodore L. Badger and George W. B. Starkey; to the courtesy staff, Doctors Melvin A. Shoul, Floyd A. Cornelson Jr., Hugo D. Angelinlin, Daniel J. Holland, Robert Kirschbaum, Irving W. Ballit, Elizabeth G. French, Robert W. Brown, Waldo L. Fielding, Ernest P. Davidow, Francis S. Keating, Francis M. Woods, and Lawrence S. Morse. Carmi R. Alden and John L. Doherty were re-instated to the courtesy staff.

Dr. Francis X. Sommer was granted a leave of absence for one year and Dr. James P. O'Hare's resignation was noted with regret. Certain minor changes in the by-laws were read and approved. The retirement of Mrs. Rallsback and Mr. Davidson from the Board of Governors was noted with regret and with an expression of deep appreciation for their many services to the hospital.

Samuel C. Brown reported as treasurer that an early decline in revenues had been largely overcome and that the hospital's fiscal picture now showed more promise for the year ahead. Mr. Brown remarked on certain changes in Blue Cross payments to the hospital and its effect on finances.

Gifts in the amount of $43,000 to the general endowment funds were gratefully acknowledged, as were bequests totalling $56,000. Mr. Brown observed that the Newton-Wellesley Hospital seemed to have successfully weathered a financial crisis which had had as an effect a substantial shrinkage in working capital, but that the hospital could look forward to a year in which this same working capital could be rebuilt.

Henry T. Dunker, reporting for the investment committee had a most encouraging report to make. The total market value of the investment portfolio of the Newton-Wellesley now stands at $1,269,669 and shows an unrealized gain of $333,000 over the book value of these holdings. The percentage of common stocks now represents 63 per cent of total investments and offers a sound return and a high degree of flexibility in the hospital's investments.

Dr. Richard I. Smith, in reporting for the executive committee of the medical staff, commented favorably on the fact that the Newton-Wellesley had been able to fill its complement of residents and interns despite the fact that there are only 5,000 qualified doctors available to fill 10,000 such vacancies in the nation.

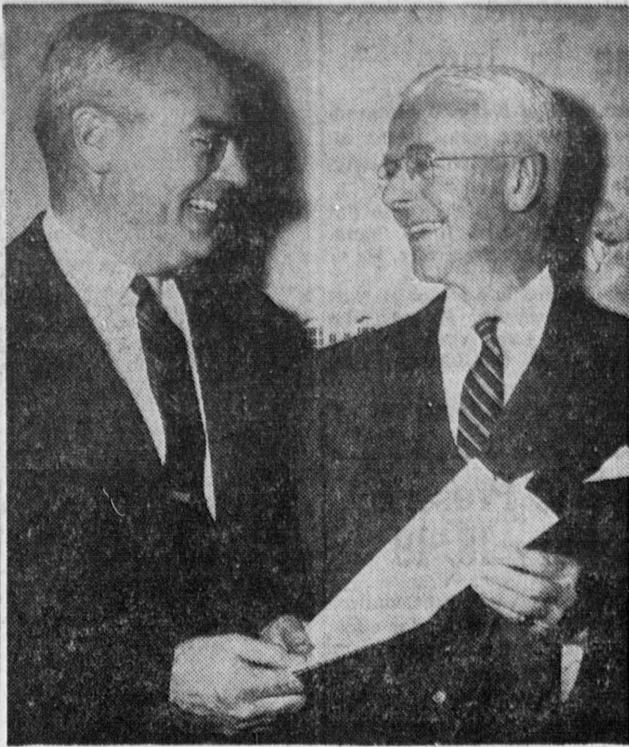

He paid tribute to the effectiveness of the new surgical recovery room, a gift of the Hospital Aid, and made a plea for new facilities for the accident service, citing the high speed, heavy traffic and increasing new industry as placing greater demands on emergency services. The Newton-Wellesley is the only hospital in the center of more than 100,000 people.

Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, director of nursing, also noted the benefits derived from the new post-operative recovery room in terms of better patient care both following operations and on general floor service, since floor nurses have been relieved of time-consuming post-operative nursing duties.

The success of the new block system of classes permits greater clinical experience and more intensive classroom schedules, and seems to justify the additional efforts necessary, according to Miss Fuller. She also noted the success of the Human Relations program and its beneficial effects on the rate of withdrawal from the school. This work has been funded by a grant of $15,000 from the National Institutes of Health.

Mrs. Paul T. Babson, reporting for the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, was able to note that the hospital auxiliary is now the second largest in the Greater Boston area and now enjoys the largest membership in its history.

The Coffee Shop served 114,580 customers during the past year and had a total income of $32,365. Gift Shop

Newton-Wellesley Hospital during the past year, he had some very convincing and heart-warming "bests".

The new director and trustees were in receipt of a telegram from Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, former director, expressing his continuing good wishes.

tion. As a beloved teacher, colleague, and pastor to pastors the Dean has blessed our work and life on the Hill with the precious gifts of patient good humor, gracious dignity, and steady vision.

"A friend to all, his instant kindness and sound counsel have been means of grace and strength. As preacher, and as a leader in significant denominational and ecumenical enterprises, he has knit the School firmly into the concerns of the Church around the world. In their delightful home Dean and Mrs. Dabney have extended to all the warmth and wealth of Christian hospitality. Their quiet work in the Good Samaritan Society will not soon be forgotten by the many who received its help.

"We therefore wish to express our deep and lively appreciation to Vaughan and Ruth Dabney for the great good they have done us, and we pledge to them our warm and lasting Christian friendship in the days to come."

Dr. Nelson was the featured after-dinner speaker at the mid-year joint alumni luncheon, which was held in Noyes Hall. About 150 alumni of the Newton institution heard him speak on "The Local Minister and the Ecumenical Movement."

Taking part in the service at the luncheon were Rev. Joseph A. Sisk of Suffield, Conn., vice-president of the Newton Alumni Association; Rev. Gup-till; Rev. Owens and officers of the school.

In the morning, two new faculty members were inducted at the school's chapel. Rev. J. Leslie Dunstan became associate professor of missions and comparative religion, and Rev. Wallace F. Forgy was inducted as director of field work and associate professor of pastoral theology.

More than 200 attended the service, which was conducted by Dr. George C. Pearson, President Emeritus Everett C. Herick, Rev. Lawrence L. Durgin, minister of the Central Congregational Church in Providence, R.I., and Dr. Minear.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barrett Folkson of 154 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, were entertained at the Hotel Fensgate last Saturday evening with a surprise dinner dance tendered them by a number of their friends on the occasion of their 20th wedding anniversary. The guests included: Gilbert Isger, George Shrut, Harold Gorney, Benjamin Fink, Murray Glass-freen, Arthur Wasserman, Jo-man, Jack Siletsky, Milton Schep-soph Waxman, Mr. and Mrs. Melville C. Mrs. Paul T. Babson, reporting for the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, was able to note that the hospital auxiliary is now the second largest in the Greater Boston area and now enjoys the largest membership in its history.

The Coffee Shop served 114,580 customers during the past year and had a total income of $32,365. Gift Shop stands at $1,269,669 and shows an unrealized gain of $333,000 over the book value of these holdings. The percentage of common stocks now represents 63 per cent of total investments and offers a sound return and a high degree of flexibility in the hospital's investments.

Dr. Richard I. Smith, in reporting for the executive committee of the medical staff, commented favorably on the fact that the Newton-Wellesley had been able to fill its complement of residents and interns despite the fact that there are only 5,000 qualified doctors available to fill 10,000 such vacancies in the nation.

Missionary to Give Two Talks On Life Among the Ovimbundu

Just back from four years among the Ovimbundu of Angola, West Africa, Rev. Thomas M. Okuma, an international, interracial American Congregational Christian missionary, will be speaking in Newton February 13 and February 17.

Sunday morning, February 13, at 10:45 he will address the Youth Church at the Second Church in Newton, Congregational, West Newton, and Thursday night, February 17, he will address a Family Night Dinner Meeting in the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton.

Born in the Hawaiian Islands, an American of Japanese ancestry, Mr. Okuma uses two languages in his work in Africa, namely, Portuguese, the colonial tongue, and Umbundu, the native language.

Located at Bailundo, on the plateau of Angola, Mr. Okuma travels hundreds of miles annually by Ford truck in the line of duty. Often it is under a burning African sun or through pouring rain. Many times he has to stop and dig his car out of the deep mud. He confers with African pastors and lay leaders of the Bailundo church which has some 10,000 members and is scattered over an area covering thousands of square miles. Cheerful, friendly and understanding, Mr. Okuma's leadership is warmly welcomed by the Ovimbundu Christians.

Mr. Okuma's responsibilities divide roughly into three parts, those of evangelistic work with the Bailundo church; as liaison man between the mission and the local government administrator; and as custodian of the extensive property on the American Board mission station.

This includes a school with 300 boys and girls ranging from six to seventeen years of age, many of whom walk two days and nights from their distant villages and one couple walked an entire week.

There are also dormitories for those students who live at the school, a dispensary through which last year there passed around 10,000 clinic out-patients, industrial buildings and missionary residences.

Mr. Okuma was educated at the University of Hawaii; Berea College in Kentucky where he met his wife, the former Naomi Chafin of West Virginia; at Andover-Newton Theological Seminary and at Yale Divinity School.

The Okumas have three children, two small daughters and a son who was born in Lisbon, Portugal, while the family was studying Portuguese en route to Africa. They also studied Umbundu at Chilocho before going on to Bailundo.

For three years before enlisting for service overseas, Mr. Okuma was a pastor on the island of Kauai, Hawaii, and on Central Maui.

Would Amend Law on Rights Of Survivors

A public hearing was recently held by the Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs on House Bill 612, which was filed by Rep. Arthur G. Heaney of Donald M. Hill, Jr. of Newton.

Under the present law, when a married person dies intestate, leaving a husband or wife but no issue, the surviving spouse gets the first $10,000, and the remaining property divided equally between the surviving spouse and the heirs. This is true even if the only heir is a distant cousin whom the deceased has never seen.

HB12 would amend the law so that the survivor would take the first $50,000, with the remainder being divided between the survivor and the heirs. It seems reasonable to assume that anyone with an estate of over $50,000 would probably leave a will.

Mr. Hill, Rep. Heaney and others appeared in support of the petition, and there was no opposition. It is expected the report of the Committee will be released very soon.

Predict Sellout At 'Totem Pole Matinee' Again

"Totem Pole Matinee" has taken over the Saturday afternoon of teenagers from Greater Boston. This Saturday there will be another enormous crowd on hand to see a big record hop televised from the Totem Pole Ballroom in Auburndale by WBZ-TV at 2 p.m. over Channel 4.

As usual, male and female stars from the world of records will entertain. This week's "big names" are Joan Webber, Georgia Gibbs, the Billy Williams Quartette and Lou Monte. Doors open at 12:30 p.m.

Joan Webber will sing her current hit, "Let Me Go Lover." Her Nibs' Georgia Gibbs, who rose to fame a few years ago with "Kiss of Fire," will present her latest, "Weedle-ee-dee." Songs that made the Billy Williams Quartette famous on the Sid Caesar TV shows will be repeated; and Lou Monte is to give out with "Dark Town Strutter's Ball" and others of his records in Italian.

Stan Richards will interview them all. He will also preside over a panel, composed of the stars and selected teenagers, which evaluate new records. Produced by Ken Mayer, the show's sponsor is Howard Johnson's.

Matthew A. Budd, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Budd, of 37 Cedar street, Newton, a junior at Amherst College, was Phi Gamma Delta representative for the 25th annual Embassy at the college last Monday and Tuesday. Budd was in charge of the religious discussion groups to be held in that fraternity.

Nine noted church leaders conducted the two-day program. Each year outstanding men in the religious field are invited to come to Amherst to participate in student discussions on a specific theme. The current Embassy topic was, "Rebels and Responsible Men," and was the focal point of evening sessions held in each of the fraternities and dormitories.

Started by a group of students in 1921, the Embassy annually offers each Amherst undergraduate a chance to discuss his religious attitude in terms of problems of individualism and conformity on the campus and elsewhere. Although held under the auspices of the Amherst College Christian Association, the Embassy is non-sectarian and non-denominational.

Special Parish Meeting for W.N. Unitarians

Necessary major repairs on the church tower and belfry of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, recommended by the board of trustees, will be described in detail with facts, figures and candid color photographs at a special parish meeting at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the parish hall.

The warrant for this special meeting has been posted and printed in the February church calendar, signed by L. Fabian Bachrach Jr., chairman of the trustees, and Margaret S. Ball, clerk of the Society. Daniel Needham is moderator.

A. Bela Sziklas, church architect, will be guide and narrator for a color slide "picture tour" of the church property. These photographs, taken through the courtesy of Bachrach Studios, will give the parishioners graphic views, from hazardous angles, of many of the defects in stonework, finials, copings, roof, tower and belfry of the church edifice.

Members will then be asked to take appropriate action on the recommendations of the trustees relative to this major repair work, which also includes patching and painting the plaster inside the church auditorium.

Henry Whitmore Jr. is chairman of the church building plans committee, which was responsible for the $72,000 church school addition already completed and in use.

Preceding the parish meeting, a group of men of the parish, headed by members of the finance committee, will prepare and serve dinner at 6:30 o'clock for legal voting members of the parish. John F. Taplin is chairman of the finance committee, with Warren G. Hill as trustee member.

Temple Emanuel Youth Program Draws Praises

Praise for Temple Emanuel's well-rounded youth program was voiced by George I. Samansky, executive director of the Jewish Centers Association of Greater Boston, following a review of the Newton Center temples projects.

Citing the large number of participants in the program — 1190 at the last count — Mr. Samansky declared, "The Jewish Centers Association is proud to be associated with this remarkable undertaking. In a period of somewhat under two years since its inception, the Temple Emanuel youth program has made notable strides forward. The program has expanded to the point where in sheer numbers of participants as well as in quality, the program is one of which Temple Emanuel can be proud."

"Due tribute is paid to the remarkable response on the part of the Temple membership to the call for volunteer youth services. It has been most heartening to witness how the pioneering efforts of Temple Emanuel in a few short years have resulted in a youth program which must surely place the Temple in the front ranks among Temples in this field of work," said Mr. Samansky.

Sigmund J. Hellmann is director of youth activities at Temple Emanuel. His work is supervised by Dr. Albert I. Gordon, Rabbi, and by Lloyd Oppenheim and the members of the Youth Activities Committee.

In discussing the youth activities program, Dr. Gordon said, "We have undertaken to meet the needs of our young people from their earliest years through college because we of Temple Emanuel believe that a religious institution should be concerned with the development and integration of the whole person. We believe that there is much that we can do to provide not only a wholesome and substantial religious background and training through the medium of excellent religious schools but also through indirect and sometimes direct assistance to the parents of our youth."

"It is our conviction that by becoming the child's second home, the Temple should provide educational, recreational and social life for its young people and will find a warm and friendly response from them. We of Temple Emanuel are dedicated to this goal."

Members of the youth activities committee are Chairman Oppenheim, Nathan R. Angoff, Mrs. Irving Berk, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bickelman, Mrs. Benjamin Blocker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Cohen, Morris M. Danovitch, Roland Deutsch, Ernest Dietz, Mrs. Samuel Epstein, George Eavzan, Ralph Feldman, Dr. Robert S. Amidst a festive atmosphere, the first meeting of the Temple Supper Club was marked with enthusiasm when the Temple's temporary headquarters in Newton had the entire ground floor filled to capacity. ## 2 Former Newton High Hoopsters Star for Colby

A pair of former Newton High School stars are playing "A-1" basketball for the Maine collegiate champions, Colby College. Newton members of the Colby Mules are Don Dunbar and John Marshall, both juniors who have seen much action as utility men on Coach Lee Williams' defending Maine Conference titlists.

The Mules have lost only three conference decisions in the last 42 games over a five-year stretch. In conference play this year Colby has won six, lost none, including two victories each over Bates, Bowdoin and the University of Maine. The Williamses appear to be "in" for their fifth straight State title.

Dunbar and Marshall played two years of basketball for Newton. Don, who is 6-1 and weighs 175, has a field goal percentage of .400, and is hitting for .600 from the foul stripe. Marshall, 5-11, 160, is just under those figures.

Dunbar has played the infield and outfield in baseball, but expects to hold down a pasture berth for the Mules this spring. A standout tennis player, Marshall is captain-elect of the "C" racquet wielders.

Overall, the Colby cagers have won 12, lost 3, but, in NCAA listing, the Mules are 11-0. Colby dropped games to Brown and Harvard in the New England tourney held in the Connecticut gym at Storrs, and lost to Seton Hall at South Orange, N. J.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dunbar of 983 Center street, Newton Centre. John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Marshall, of 36 Plainfield street, Waban.

Murder Charge Asked Against Trio

First degree murder indictments were sought by District Atty. George E. Thompson yesterday (Wednesday) before the Grand Jury against the three men accused of invading a Newton home Friday night and slaying a Cambridge lawyer with a single shot through the heart.

Lesser charges of assault and intent to rob were also filed against Arthur L. Devlin, 31, of Waltham; Russell P. LeBlanc, 24, also of Waltham; and Henry P. Arsenault Jr., 28, of Natick, who admitted firing the bullet which instantly snuffed out the life of Merrill Lovinger in the Waverly avenue home of Henry Mintz.

Spectacular police work brought the trio into custody only 36 minutes after the bullet went crashing through the heart of the young Cambridge attorney as his bride of five months stood looking on. Two surrendered meekly to Newton officers, but Devlin was taken into custody only after a bloody battle with a pair of patrolmen.

Arsenault and Devlin burst into the plush ranch house at 341 Waverly avenue shortly after 6:30 p.m. Friday, thinking it was the home of a "Mr. Silverman." They had hoped to find "a considerable sum of money" at the Silverman house.

With drawn .45 caliber automatics, the pair forced Lovinger's wife, Fanna, who answered the door—back through the house into the kitchen. Lovinger walked out of a TV den, and without warning Arsenault sent a single shot into Lovinger's chest. Panic-stricken, they fled from the house.

Only seconds later, Inspectors Charles W. Lynch and John B. Shorton—who had been circling the area on the alert for house-break suspects—saw the two running down Waverly avenue followed by Mintz's son, Allen.

The youth told the officers of the slaying, and the inspectors immediately radioed a description of the pair to headquarters. Extra cruisers and police were dispatched to the scene, and an ambulance was sent to Mintz's home. But Lovinger, despite emergency aid by a neighbor, Dr. Francis P. Giampa of 64 Green park, was already dead.

Patrolmen Ralph Rich and Joseph LaCroix spotted Devlin in a yard at the corner of Park and Tremont streets. Devlin pulled out his heavy automatic—trigger cocked and with a bullet in the firing chamber—and tried to bring it into position to fire a shot at LaCroix.

LaCroix grabbed Devlin's wrist and struggled to keep the weapon pointed upward as Rich dashed to his aid. Devlin brought the gun down on LaCroix's head, inflicting a wound which required five stitches to close, but the officer—blood streaming down his face—managed to hold onto the wrist until Rich subdued Devlin.

Easier Capture
Arsenault—confessed killer of the Cambridge attorney—was captured easily. Sgt. Albert Yanco and Patrolman Richard B. Hickson decided that the killers were probably trying to get out of Newton by trolley. They stopped two street-cars near Newton Corner and searched them without success.

Then, driving toward the Watertown terminal, they spotted a man who fit the description of one of the criminals waiting at a trolley stop. Sgt. Yanco said later that the gun under Arsenault's coat made a bulge that was easy to identify. But Arsenault made no move to draw the weapon. He surrendered meekly, giving up his loaded, ready-to-fire gun.

Meanwhile, LeBlanc, driving what was supposed to be the escape car, lost his nerve when his companions came running from the house after the shot. The license number of the vehicle had been taken by the two inspectors cruising the area even before the slaying, as they noticed it circling near Mintz's home.

About four blocks from the scene, Inspectors Lynch and Shorton found LeBlanc trying to slip through the police drag-net after "lying low" for half an hour. Unarmed, he also surrendered without a struggle. All three were in custody only 36 minutes after the crime.

Grilled at police headquarters until about 1 a.m. Saturday, the trio readily admitted their roles in the attempted holdup. Arsenault and Devlin appeared unconcerned and defiant as they were paraded from their cells to the second floor of headquarters for questioning. They readily posed for cameramen.

LeBlanc was the only one to show emotion at his part in the senseless slaying. Each time he was led up the stairs, he covered his head almost completely with his shirt to escape the ceaseless exploding of flash bulbs and the whirring of movie cameras.

Later in the evening, Arsenault's nerves appeared to get the better of him. He looked as if he had not realized the full extent of his crime until the scattered events of the night had fallen into place in his mind.

At one point, he turned to newsmen crowded into the headquarters lobby and said, in a low but firm voice, "Will you guys tell them something for me? I want to die willfully. I want to pay for it."

Blames 'Society'
While intensive questioning by Newton officers and police of other communities continued through the weekend, the victim of the shooting was buried Sunday in West Roxbury.

At services in Brookline, Rabbi Zev Nelson of Temple Emeth laid the blame for the killing squarely on the doorstep of present-day society. "For years we have emphasized the material things. We have been interested in getting rich and nothing else," he declared. "When you take this climate and combine it with hot and cold wars, you raise a generation of vipers that is trigger-happy, that thinks nothing of shedding blood."

"We are reaping that which we have sown. We have a reign of terror in our community. No longer is there safety, even in our homes. One no longer knows what is going to happen to him when he opens his own door. . . . Only you and I, aroused, can banish this reign of terror."

"It is our sacred duty to see that Merrill Lovinger did not die in vain. You and I," he continued, "can do something to arouse public opinion and see that these murderers are banished from our city."

The three criminals made two appearances in Newton District Court, then were transferred under heavy police guard to East Cambridge jail for grand jury action. Saturday the shackled trio heard charges of murder and attempted robbery read against all, carrying a loaded revolver without a license (Arsenault and Devlin), and assault on a police officer (Devlin).

Pleas of innocent were ordered entered for the defendants on all counts by Judge Donald E. Mayberry, and the case was continued to Monday. Re-arraigned the beginning of the week, the three again had their cases continued, this time to Saturday. But they were promptly whisked off to Cambridge for grand jury action, which takes precedent over the lower court.

Newton Sports

One of the best weeks of the young year sportswise was turned in by Newton High athletes as wins were registered in basketball, hockey and track by lopsided margins. The hoopsters raged from behind in the final quarter to dump Brockton 67-57 in an independent game at the Newton High gymnasium, Friday night, Newton's trackmen took eight out of nine first places in dumping Brookline 52-25 in a Metropolitan Track League meet, and Saturday afternoon the hockey squad set a season's scoring mark by rapping in five goals against a woefully-weak Rindge Tech squad. . . . The basketball win was the most spectacular victory of the trio as the Tigers put on a wild fourth-period scoring display to snatch a one-sided victory away from the visiting Brocktonites. Last year's Tech Tourney champions showed plenty of brawn, but put on a brawling display of basketball that eventually cost them the ball game from the foul line. . . . The Tigers actually were outscored from the floor, 22 baskets to 21. A total of 25 free throws made the difference as Brockton gathered only 13. . . . Brockton gave a questionable display of sportsmanship from the opening whistle. Their coach volubly disputed every foul called against his club, no matter how deliberate the violation, and had no objection to his players on the bench yelling at the referees. The Brockton mentor wound up the battle with the familiar "sour grapes" routine of "We was robbed."

The game had no bearing on the Suburban League title race. Newton and Rindge are continuing their battle for top spot and a Tech Tourney berth. Each team has dropped only two decisions, and another loss will probably put one out of the running. . . . The Orange and Black was slated to entertain Cambridge Latin—which holds a decision over Newton—yesterday afternoon, and an 8 p.m. game is scheduled for Friday night at Waltham High. Remaining games are next Tuesday afternoon at Arlington, and Friday night, February 18, at 8 p.m. against Brookline at the Newton High gym.

The win over Brockton was fashioned on the strength of a 27-point windup period by the Orange and Black. Trailing 46-40 going into the final quarter, Newton appeared to be a well-beaten team as Brockton was steadily improving its position. . . . But the Tigers went off like a skyrocket in that final chapter, scoring from all angles while restraining Brockton to a meager 11 points. In the final three minutes, Newton poured 13 points through the hoop for what looks like—on paper—an easy win. . . . Capt. Russ Halloran took scoring honors with 18 points, all but two on field goals. Al Rogan was close behind with 16. The latter also converted eight foul shots as his driving layups drew rule violations throughout the encounter. . . . Newton's lopsided romp over Brookline was headlined by Mel Shine's 51-foot, 9-inch toss of the shot for a new Metropolitan record. This was the second time he beat the existing mark easily, but the previous record wasn't allowed. . . . At that time, officials weighing the canvas sack loaded with steel pellets found that only 11 pounds had been loaded into it, and consequently the record toss could not be allowed. Friday, however, there was the regulation 12 pounds of shot in the sphere, and Mel had a new record to his credit. . . . The only event won by Brookline was the relay, and the Wealthy Towners were aided in that victory when Newton's third runner stumbled. Racking up first places for the Tigers were Don Brigham, 50-yard dash in 6.8; John Simcock, 45-yard hurdles in 6.4; Barry Gilvar, 300-yard run in 37 flat; Pete Nelson, 1000-yard run in 2:30; Bill Mullahy, mile run in 5:02, and Simcock again in the high jump at 5 feet, 8 inches.

Newton showed some of its best efforts of the year in its whitewash job on Rindge Saturday, but the Technicians helped the Tigers look good with generally inept play. . . . The win boosted the Orange and Black into a fourth-place tie with Stoneham. The Tigers stand a good chance of winding up in that fourth place in the GBI—and perhaps third—if they can play as well in their next two games against fairly strong Stoneham and winless Cambridge Latin.

Billy Reilly, who has only gotten his skating legs back the last few games after an early-season illness, paced the Tiger attack with a pair of long-shot goals and an assist. Little Brian Dooley in he Newton nets registered his second calmsome job of the year with comparative ease, being pressed only early in the first period when Rindge put on one of its rare concerted attacks. . . . Reilly's first goal was a weird fluke. After the Tigers had blown a handful of perfect set-ups in front of the Rindge cage, Reilly let loose with a long loft from the blue line at 7:33 of the opening stanza. The disc seemed about to skim by the side of the net, but a Rindge defenseman tried to knock it down. Instead of hitting it in front of him, though, he allowed it to bounce at an angle behind him. The Cambridge goalie was completely out of position, and the disc skidded behind him. . . . From then on Rindge rarely got out of its own zone, and Newton shot to its heart's content. Gerry Butterworth nudged a close-in shot into the net at two minutes of the second period on a pass from Capt. Paul Fitzgerald for the only tally of that period. . . . Three goals flowed into scoring territory in the fourth quarter as the Tigers practiced their passing and shooting with little argument from the Technicians. Other scores were by Ken Keyes on a pass from Gerry Butterworth after Reilly's long screamer was blocked, and a deflection by Paul Ryan of a long shot by Capt. Fitzgerald.

By LEE LOUMOS

When the average TV set owner needs service, he wants it right away. And naturally he wants it to be accurate. . . . getting to the real trouble without trial-and-error. And there are a number of things the owner himself can do to help the serviceman give him the kind of service he wants. What can you do? Well, think back to the last time you needed service. Did you see the trouble coming on for a couple of weeks before the set stopped working at all? Wasn't there sound in the picture. . . . of a tendency for the picture to tear, to pull out, or to get dim or washed-out looking? Often these problems begin in a small way. Most service calls are for worn-out tubes, and often these will wear out gradually. So look for trouble signs. When you detect them, don't put off your service call. Get the set fixed before it quits completely. That way you can pick your own time. If the set has to go into the shop, for instance, you can have it so on a day when you don't have any favorite programs on.

There are other ways you can help speed service. Keep a record of each service call. Get what tube was replaced and so on. If there's a weakness in any of the set's circuits, that record will show it. And describe trouble symptoms as accurately as you can. If we have been servicing your set recently, we have such a record of your set in our files!

And the only other step you can take is to choose your serviceman carefully. When you know your serviceman, you know your service will satisfy.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia. For a better choice in the finest in TV, visit our showroom. Bizelew 4-7240

Graphic Cooking School Has Large and Enthusiastic Crowd

In one of the best attended and most enthusiastic sessions yet held, hundreds of women attended the Newton Graphic annual cooking school held last Thursday afternoon at Masonic Hall, Newtonville.

Here they witnessed the latest methods of up-to-the-minute ideas of modern cooking and heard the story told of how to determine the best grades of meats by a representative of the Star Market Company. In addition to the talk on meats, a demonstration of proper ways of cutting meat was held and immediately following the school session itself, prime cuts of meats was awarded to many lucky women in attendance.

NEWTON H. S. NOTES

On Wednesday, January 26, the Sophomore class at Newton High held their election for class officers. They did their voting in the cafeteria. Everything was run in a Democratic way. The voters were checked in at one end of the cafeteria. At this time they were given a ballot. Then they proceeded to the center of the cafeteria where partitions had been set up so that the voting could be done in private. After filling out the ballot the voter was checked out. The terms checked in and checked out simply mean that the voter walked by a table and gave the people at the table his (her) name; and they checked his (her) name off the list of all the students in the Sophomore class. The voter then gave his (her) ballot to the official counter, and went back to his (her) homeroom.

The following students were elected: Allen Martin, president; Judith Brown, secretary; and Nancy Stearns, treasurer. Thomas J. Curtin, the Director of American Citizenship for Massachusetts, announced that Friday, March 11, student delegates chosen from each participating school, will assume the positions of all the members of the General Court and in the State House. This includes the office of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, members of different state offices, as Secretary of State, Representatives in the Massachusetts House and Senate.

All the delegates cannot be Governor, of course, so the names will be put in a glass bowl and drawn for each position.

Richard Lucier, the President of the Associates of Newton High School, will be the delegate from Newton.

Warren Loring, Dr. Charles Peltier of the high school, and Dr. Harold Gores, the superintendent of Newton Schools were among the invited guests of the Independent School Association of Massachusetts and the Parents League of Greater Boston which held a joint dinner and meeting on January 27, at the Museum of Science, Science Park, Boston.

August Heckscher, the chief editorial writer of the New York Herald Tribune, spoke on "The Free Inquiry and Facts of Communism."

Inez Fox is dance chairman, Ann Stoppelman in charge of tickets and Kay Irwin in charge of the refreshments. Helen Morrissey, ways and means committee chairman, and the other members of the committee are hard at work to make the dance a success.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The next meeting at the Congregational Church Parish House Wednesday, February 16 begins with the dessert social hour at 1:00 a.m. The hostesses are Mrs. John J. Ellsworth and Mrs. Bernard N. White. Promptly at 1:45 is the business meeting following which Mrs. Thomas A. Rudkin will review some current books. In the Club's recent poll of "favorite program," Mrs. Rudkin won A-rating, attesting once again to the popularity of her spritely annual excursions into the world of books. The annual food sale is held in conjunction with this meeting.

Eunice Avery to Lecture On China-Formosa Situation

In her next Wednesday morning lecture at 10:30 o'clock at the Community Playhouse in Wellesley Hills, Miss Eunice Harriet Avery will discuss the present Chinese situation against the background of vast changes in the Far East and conflicting interests. All lectures are open to the public with tickets available at the door. Miss Avery was in Formosa this past summer and there met friends from the China mainland. In Hong Kong she spent hours with people who monitored the Chinese radio and press. In Indonesia she discussed Far-Eastern problems with many groups of informed people. She can help increase our understanding of this critical area, because she knows China in a way that very few of us do. Reservations for the small informal luncheon held at the Wellesley Inn following the lecture may be made by telephoning Mrs. Edwin H. Kreig.

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

This is the fifth in a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

What is the new deduction "child care" which is shown on page 3 of the Federal return?

This deduction will benefit certain taxpayers who incur expenses for the care of children under 12 years of age or any child or dependent who is mentally or physically incapable of self-support. The taxpayer must be a woman or a widower, and the expenses must be paid to enable the taxpayer to be gainfully employed.

What are the limitations on this deduction for "child care"?

The following limitations apply to this deduction:

1. The maximum deduction is $600 per year regardless of the number of qualified children or dependents.
2. A married woman must file a joint return with her husband, and the deduction must be reduced by the amount their adjusted gross income exceeds $4,500. However, these limitations do not apply if the husband is physically or mentally incapable of self-support.
3. No deduction may be claimed for amount paid to a person for whom the taxpayer can claim a dependency exemption; for example, payments by a widower to his dependent mother.

What is a casualty loss?

A casualty loss is a loss of property arising from fire, storm, theft or other casualty. It is a loss due to some sudden, unexpected, or unusual event. A loss resulting from a fire, damages to your automobile, losses by theft, damages to property by storms, floods or a bursting boiler, are typical of the losses you may deduct on your tax return. Usually the cost of the repairs is evidence of the amount of the damage. You may not deduct the portion of the loss which is paid by the insurance company.

What other expenses may I deduct on the Federal return?

You may deduct such expenses as:

1. Union dues
2. The cost and the expenses of cleaning special uniforms necessary for your employment.
3. Investor's expenses, such as safe deposit box rental, investment fees, etc.
4. Cost of determining your tax liability
5. Dues paid to professional societies

6. Expenses incurred in preserving income-producing property

7. Fees for obtaining employment

Must I deduct my actual "other deductions" on my tax return?

No. You may deduct either your actual "other deductions" or what is called an "optional standard deduction" of 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income. If your adjusted gross income is less than $5,000, you get the benefit of this deduction by using the tax table. If your "adjusted gross income" is $5,000 or more, you are allowed a 10 per cent deduction, with a maximum of $1,000. However, on a separate return for a married taxpayer, the maximum deduction is $500.

Should I use the "optional standard deduction"?

That depends on how much you have for actual other expenses. A taxpayer who had "adjusted gross income" in 1954 of $4,000 and actual other expenses of $200 will pay a smaller tax if he uses the tax table. On the other hand, if the same taxpayer had actual expenses of $800, he will pay a smaller tax if he deducts his actual other expenses.

Why is it to my advantage to be careful about the classification of my deductions?

The proper classification of your expenses will, in many instances, reduce your tax liability.

Example: During 1954 a taxpayer had a salary of $6,000 and rental income of $1,200. The expenses of his rental property (depreciation, real estate taxes, etc.) were $700; his other expenses (contributions, medical expenses, etc.) were $315. The taxpayer had gross income of $7,200, adjusted gross deductions of $700, giving him an adjusted gross income of $6,500. In lieu of his actual other expenses, he may deduct 10 per cent of adjusted gross income, $650. By using the 10 per cent standard deduction his income subject to tax will reduce his tax liability. If the taxpayer's adjusted gross income was $4,500 rather than $6,500, he would use the tax table.

..Health For All..

NO MEDICAL SMORGASBORD

You know how women are when they put their heads together for a good medical gossip. There is always one who seems to have had every known treatment for her ailments. Perhaps her boasting makes you wonder if you are getting everything that's coming to you. You are taking pink pills, but for the same trouble Mrs. Jones got white pills. Mrs. Smith had an interesting operation. You wonder whether you might not get better faster if you could have all four.

All of us, of course, want to know that we are receiving the best possible medical care when we are ill. But medical care isn't a smorgasbord where you can try a little of every dish on the table. There often is more than one way of treating a particular ailment, fortunately for all of us. The doctor can choose the method or combination of methods best suited to the individual.

scribing treatment. Age, and even weight, can be important. The medical history will give him clues. The patient may be allergic to certain substances. There may be a heart condition to consider. Diseases he has had in the past will enter into the decision. Furthermore, the name of an ailment does not always indicate how sick the individual is. Of two people with the same disease, one may be in the hospital and the other be doing very well at home.

When there is illness in the family, your doctor won't be offended if you ask him about treatments you have heard or read about. You may be able to understand his explanation of why he has chosen a certain course of treatment. But just remember, he's the doctor.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Newton Tuberculosis Health Association, whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Letters

PRaise for Police
Editor, Graphic:
The Police Department of the City of Newton should be commended and praised for the exceptional and very efficient manner in which it apprehended many dangerous criminals this past year.

The most recent episode in which our officers participated—that of rounding up three desperate characters—was wholly within the realm of good police detection and crime prevention.

Too much cannot be said about the six officers who captured the perpetrators of this crime. The officers should be singled out for added praise and credit, with a reward for excellent work performed.

It has always been my profound personal conviction that the Board of Aldermen—without any undue delay—should draw up and enact into legislation a law pertaining to certain benefits, compatible with the risk and hazards involved while in the performance of their duties.

We were very fortunate and lucky that one of our officers didn't become a victim of a fatal shooting tragedy. Our police officers need every added protection for themselves and their families.

General Patton's Spearhead to Meet In New England

The Fourth Armored Division Association, made up of men who served with the famous Fourth Armored Division, will hold its Ninth Annual Convention at the Hotel Statler in Boston on June 23rd, 24th and 25th. This Division, popularly referred to as General Patton's Spearhead, blazed a trail across the face of Europe through France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, and Czechoslovakia in five campaigns, which led to its being the first armored division in United States history to be awarded the Presidential Citation. It was also awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm, by the French government. But its proudest moment was, when General Patton, in speaking of the division said, "There has never been a more supreme fighting organization than the Fourth Armored Division."

The committee in charge of arrangements for the Convention is headed by David Montague of Lexington, Mass., who is also its Vice-President of the national association. Robert Priest of Stow, Mass., and Frank DiPietro of South Braintree, Mass., round out the committee.

In view of the fact that a great part of the Division was made up of men from the New England area, it is expected that a group of more than 1200 will be in attendance at the convention.

A preliminary meeting is being held on Friday, January 4th at 8 p.m. at the Hotel Statler in Boston. All men of the Fourth Armored Division are invited to attend. Officers of the national body will be on hand to address the membership.

Chrysler and Imperials Increase In Sales

Sales of 1955 Chryslers and Imperials for the last 10 days of December, 1954 increased more than 30 per cent over the same period a year ago, reports E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Dealers delivered 5,040 new cars to owners during the last 10 days of December, 1954, compared to deliveries of 3,849 cars for the same period in 1953, an increase of 30.9 per cent, Braden said.

"As production rises and shipping conditions improve Chrysler sales will continue to increase because of the enormous bank of orders held by dealers," Braden said. "Sales of new cars for the month of December were 13,230, the best month since July, 1953. This represents a 16.1 per cent increase over December sales a year ago when 11,396 cars were sold."

"Evidence of public demand for Chrysler nationally can be seen in the fact that our shipments to dealers throughout the U. S. for December are up 58 per cent over December last year."

Chrysler's confidence in continued public acceptance of its products is reflected by the Division's announcement last week that production capacity will be increased by 40 per cent through addition of a multi-million dollar manufacturing plant to meet the requirements of increasing sales volume.

The new plant and equipment, including the latest materials handling devices will make possible a total over-all automobile production in excess of 1200 cars per day with a proportionate increase in employment.

"For 1955 Chrysler has power of leadership with two new V-8 engines—the 250-horsepower FirePower V-8 and the new 188-horsepower Spitfire V-8—plus fully-automatic Power-Flite transmission with selector lever on the dash, double-wide pedal power brakes and full-time coaxial power steering," Braden said.

"Chrysler and Imperial styling this year has the forward look and their outstanding design plus 87 new features assures us of the greatest public acceptance in Chrysler's 31-year history. In preparation for the 1955 selling season we have built a strong, efficient dealer body and factory and field sales force and we intend to gain for Chrysler an increasing share of the automobile market."

RECORD HIGH $14,095,038 BUDGET PROPOSED BY MAYOR WHITMORE

Million Above City's Actual '54 Expenses

A city budget of $14,095,038—more than a million dollars above what was actually spent last year—was recommended by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., Monday night during a half-hour address before the aldermen during which he reviewed his first year as the Newton's chief executive and outlined his program for this year.

Mayor Whitmore admitted he was seeking "not as tight a budget as last year" since he included some expenses which are "not essential." However, some of the projects should be undertaken this year before rising expenses balloon their ultimate cost, he declared.

"Sensible economy should be our guide," said the mayor in explaining part of the increase. As an example of false economies, he reported that in the past funds for equipment repair had been cut, so that now the city is spending large amounts to keep its heavy equipment from falling apart.

No estimate of the increased budget's effect on the tax rate was made by the mayor because there were "too many variables." The rate depends upon how many of the "not essential" items are approved by the aldermen, how much money is received by the state and how much is applied to reducing the tax rate from the city's $900.00 surplus.

He termed $834,077 of the increase "unavoidable." The chief item beyond his control is the school budget, which went up $371,000 over last year. The 1955 school request is $4,695,573, more than a third of the total city budget.

Although the city's debt amounts to $184 hanging over the head of every man, woman and child in Newton, the city "has never enjoyed a financial rating," the mayor reported. Offsetting the debt he said, is Newton's $2900 per capita valuation.

Valuations in the city went up $7,000,000 during the year, and income from this increase at the present tax rate of $44.50 would bring in $311,000 extra in revenue. Newton should gain about $135,000 from the annual exchange of funds between the city and the state, and another $150,000 in motor vehicle excise receipts.

A quarter-million is still owed Newton by the state in rebates on school building expenses, he pointed out, expressing the hope that payment would be made.

Cohen, Professor of Jewish Theology at Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, chose as his subject "American Judaism," a discussion of the theological ideas of the various groups in American Jewish life. The guests were welcomed by Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of Temple Shalom, who also introduced Dr. Cohen, and by Mr. Robert E. Segal, Chairman of the Temple's Community Relations Committee.

After the address, there was a discussion period led by Reverend Sidney Adams, Executive Secretary of the Newton Council of Churches.

Among those present were the following clergymen from Newton and surrounding communities: Sidney Adams, Centenary Methodist; Willard C. Arnold, Newton Centre Methodist.

W. Clifford Fisher Named Deaconess Hospital Official

Appointment of W. Clifford Fisher of 17 Champa street, Newton Upper Falls, as purchasing agent for the New England Deaconess Hospital was announced by Robert D. Lowry, executive director.

A graduate of Newton High School, Fisher served with the Navy as a pharmacist mate in the European Theater during World War II. In 1951 he was called back into the service and served at the Newport and Chelsea Naval Hospitals.

His associations with the Deaconess began in 1946, when he went to work in the pharmacy department. He became assistant purchasing agent in 1952.

Fisher is a member of Newton Civil Defense and Fraternity Lodge of Masons in Newton. He teaches Sunday School at the First Methodist Church in Newton and studies business administration nights at Northeastern University.

He is married to the former Elinor Newey of Newton. The couple has four children, Clifford, II, 8; Jeffrey, 5; Leslie, 4; and Paul, 1.

Lauds Firemen's Project of Yule Toy Repairing

Praise for the Newton firemen's project of repairing dolls and toys for underprivileged children at Christmas was given in a letter to Fire Chief John E. Corcoran this week.

A letter of commendation, written by Robert E. Wombold of 13 Churchill street, Newtonville, and forwarded to Chief Corcoran by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., reads:

"It is not often in the course of everyday happenings that we pause and take cognizance of the acts of either individuals or groups who, because of their willingness to help others, give freely of their own time, effort and money to bring cheer and joy to persons less fortunate than themselves.

"We have in Newton a group of civic-minded city employees, the Firefighters who have done a tremendous job of preserving the Christmas spirit for the children of our city by making certain that every toy who might have been forgotten had at least one toy or doll on the day of the year that is so important to all of us.

"It is a magnificent testimonial to the character of these men, who by the nature of their livelihood, are willing to risk life and limb in the protection of citizens and property.

"Further this public-spirited group of men, under the able direction of Firefighter Richard Hay, also established a Women's Auxiliary with Mrs. Christine Walsh as president. These generous ladies worked very diligently in making, sewing and repairing dolls, clothes, etc. for little girls and boys. They represent completely my own opinion of the ideals of American womanhood.

"It is a pleasure Mr. Mayor to extend my personal congratulations and best wishes through you, to this fine group of Newton men and women."

1000 Citizens to Aid Heart Drive

Some 1000 Newton citizens will make neighborhood visits this Sunday afternoon between the hours of 1:00 and 4:00 p.m. to receive free-will Heart Fund contributions from their neighbors.

Edwin L. Beckwith is General Chairman assisted by Heart Sunday Chairmen F. Gorham Brigham, Jr., Alexander Cochran, Clifford W. Dow, George J. Elbaum, Frederick C. Fisher, Kevin Hughes, Miss Margaret F. Magoley, Giles Mosher, Jr., E. James O'Donoghue, Mrs. Edwin F. Roberts and Miss Annette Sirotin.

These public spirited citizens deserve a hearty welcome, and it is our sincere hope that when your Heart Neighbor rings your doorbell you will open your door and your heart. Your neighbor is giving her time voluntarily to help in the fight against our nation's leading health problem—heart disease. The doctors say that sufficient funds have never been available to finance the presently defined areas of research, and only through research can our medical scientists conquer heart disease. The present outlook is a hopeful one—one which we can make more hopeful by our donation on Sunday afternoon.

Your heart dollar is an investment. We are sure you will agree that an investment in the welfare of your heart is an investment which will pay dividends to you and generations yet unborn. When your neighbor calls, "Think of your heart and give thoughtfully," they concluded.

Taxpayers' Head Says 'Too Early' To Guess Taxes

No estimate of the effect on the tax rate of Mayor Whitmore's record $14,095,038 budget was made by Lorenz F. Muther Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayer's Association, following the mayor's budget message Monday night since there are so many "ifs, ands or buts."

Muther expressed no alarm over the increase in the budget requests, pointing out that there has been a steady rise of almost a million a year in city expenditures since 1945, when the budget was only $5,000,000.

The effect on the tax rate, he declared, will depend on many things. How many services demanded by the citizens will determine what extra projects are required, in addition to the rising costs of maintaining the city's current "standard of services."

Also entering the tax rate picture is the handling of the — TAXES —

Nonantum Library, Off-Street Parking Lot in '55 Projects

A new branch library and an off-street parking area in Nonantum were asked by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. as part of a sweeping construction program to be financed by various bond issues, in his budget message Monday night.

The library, long sought by the Nonantum Improvement Council, would be financed with a $100,000 bond issue. The building, to be used also as a community meeting place, was enthusiastically supported by the mayor, who stated, "I feel $100,000 is necessary and urgently recommend that it be provided."

A $500,000 street improvement bond issue was recommended "for street construction, reconstruction and the acquisition and construction of off-street parking areas."

Mayor Whitmore said it was "essential" to provide off-street lots in Newton Highlands, Auburndale and Nonantum.

A sewer and drain bond issue of $800,000 was earmarked by the mayor to construct part of a new main trunk sewer to service the south side of the city. Not only will this sewer handle the load currently being emptied into the present inadequate mains, but it will also help eliminate pollution of the Charles River. He also recommended using $160,000 of this issue "to relieve the flooding conditions caused by the South Meadown and Paul Brooks."

A total of $300,000 remains available for last year's school bond issue, but another half-million should be authorized, he declared. This would finance two classrooms and a combination auditorium-playroom at the Ward School, Newton Centre, costing $250,000; four classrooms and auditorium-playroom, along with land taking, at the Cabot School, Newtonville, for $300,000; and four additional classrooms at the Pierce School, West Newton, costing in the vicinity of $100,000.

"Every effort should and will be made to reduce the cost of these additions below the indicated amounts," Mayor Whitmore said.

Early Copy Will Be Appreciated For Next Week

Giant Rummage Sale to Help Defray Exchange Trip Cost

If you are aware of unusual activity and much "to-do" about everything throughout the Newtons these days, don't be alarmed—the Marines haven't landed! It's just that everyone is busily engaged in preparation for the giant rummage sale which will be held Saturday, February 26, at Newton High School.

As in former years, this sale will be sponsored by the par- ents of the High School students who will participate in the School and School Exchange program, and who are now, along with the entire student body, busy as the proverbial beavers collecting and selling scrap-paper, magazines, and "what-have-you" to augment the money raised from the rummage sale, all of which will go toward financing their trip to Boulder, Colorado and Wilmington, Delaware, where they will journey in late March. A total of 62 students will participate, 32 of them going to Boulder and 30 to Wilmington.

Collection centers have been set up throughout the Newtons, to which all donations should either be sent or brought in as soon as possible. Anything and everything from clothing to bric-a-brac will be acceptable, and we are even hoping that one or more collector's items will be found among the articles. This sale is only one of many functions being planned to raise money for this worthwhile cause.

Mrs. Malcolm Dunn of 106 Gibbs street is the General Chairman. She has as her Co-chairman Mrs. John Swanton, Jr., of 27 George street and Mrs. Gustav R. Breitke of 86 Oxford road. Mr. Theodore Fleisher of 150 Grant avenue, and Mr. L. S. Feinberg of 47 Nobscot road are in charge of publicity.

It is hoped that this year's sale will be even more successful than those of previous years.

Newton Civic Ass'n to Be Active in Municipal Election; With Power Divided on Beacon Hill Sessions Bound to Lag

The Newton Civic Association headed by the energetic Carrol J. Hoffman is preparing to take an even more active part in next autumn's municipal election than it did in 1953.

This is made plain by the fact that the leaders of the organization already are looking ahead to the contests that will be waged for places in the city government. A meeting of the board of directors of the association is to be held Friday night for the announced purpose of organizing for the coming campaign.

One reason Mr. Hoffman and his associates are beginning their campaigning so early in all probability is that Newton's political makeup obviously has undergone a change, and the municipal election could prove an interesting one.

received in time to keep down the tax rate.

Projects he referred to the aldermen for consideration included:

Establishment of a personnel agency—a survey by an employees' committee is nearing completion, and the findings will soon be turned over to a citizens' advisory committee for further study; recommendations should reach the aldermen "some time about the middle of the year."

"Revitalized city planning"—street acceptance procedures have already been improved, and housing projects have been in unfilled locations; the mayor recommended consideration of "a full-time professional city planner to work with our planning board."

Revision of charter—new procedures have improved coordination of departmental activities, but "serious consideration" should be given a charter revision to streamline city departments.

Centralized purchasing—a study has been completed of a separate purchasing department, which would buy Newton's supplies instead of each department going into the market by itself; an ordinance setting up the department is pending before the aldermen, and if it is passed an appropriation will then be sought.

The mayor noted, on the profit side of the ledger, that a large reimbursement may be coming to the city from state hurricane aid. "Caco" has cost $362,000 to date, but if maximum state aid is obtained, the total expense to the city would be only $80,000. "Edna" was a minor storm by comparison—at least as far as damage to city property was concerned—with only $21,000 spent. "A high percentage" of this may also be returned by the state.

Mayor Whitmore explained he had hoped to present the budget in a revised, more easily understood form, permitting an easier comparison of similar items within departments, but time did not permit the changeover. By next year, though, the change will be made, allowing "a quicker and more complete analysis of all city expenditures."

The aldermen's finance committee will meet with department heads Saturday in the first of three all-day sessions to discuss specific items in the budget. Following these meetings, the finance unit will present its version of the budget to the Board of Aldermen for final action.

more noted. He cited the low cost, demountable addition to the Franklin School in West Newton, costing only $64,000, as an example of bringing down school construction costs.

He also recommended a recreation building bond issue to finance four projects: a field house, with toilet and storage facilities, at the Albemarle playground; modernization and enlargement of the Auburndale playground building; a new building, providing facilities for skating and indoor recreational activities, at Bulboughs Pond; a building with toilet and storage facilities at Edmands Park, along with a drinking fountain and open picnic shelter.

If the aldermen and the Emergency Finance Board approve the bond issues, then $2,000,000 will be added to the current city debt. However, the increase in debt at the end of the year would only amount to $533,000 as nearly a million and a half will be paid off during the year. This would bring the city debt at the end of the year to about $16,900,000, according to the mayor's figures.

Costs of school construction came in for a long discussion by Alderman H. Eugene Jones at the aldermanic meeting following the mayor's budget message. Expressing concern over the "seeming lack of control" over construction projects, Alderman Jones urged the board to hold a tighter rein on building programs. He also suggested that Franklin school-type additions be employed at the Pierce, Ward and Cabot Schools.

Eis remarks came as the aldermen considered a $4000 appropriation for preliminary work leading to the advertising for bids on the Peirce School addition. This money was later voted unanimously by the board.

Alderman Jones declared that the city should not build "monumental" structures to house temporary "bust-out" population increases. He pointed out that the number of pupils in the school system would reach a peak in 1960, but five years later would drop back to the present level, leaving a large number of empty classrooms.

"Much money" could be saved by employing the Franklin School type of construction to these additions. The projects should be, he stated, "minimum in cost but not in facilities." Alderman Jones said he had the support of Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores in recommending the less-expensive type of construction.

He estimated the city will need between 30 and 40 classrooms in 10 or 12 "bust-out" units by 1960, all of which could be of the Franklin School type. These structures could easily be designed to fit in with the appearance of the present schools, as well as with the neighborhood while still not costing large amounts.

A study of the city's building code was urged by the aldermen, since general use of the demountable, partially prefabricated additions are not allowed at the present time. The Franklin addition was permitted, he said, only because construction of the East-West toll highway nearby made a permanent structure unwise.

World Day-

Preceding the World Day of Prayer Service, there will be a Period of Meditation in the Fuller Chapel at 1 p.m. This service will be led by Mrs. Ross Cannon, wife of the pastor of Second Church; Mrs. Anthony Jaureguy, past president of the Council of Church Women; and Mrs. Randolph Merrill, wife of the minister of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

Under the sponsorship of the General Department of the United Church Women of The National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States of America, which represents 10 million women, the World Day of Prayer is observed each year on the first Friday in Lent. In 1887 it was a Presbyterian woman in Boston who established a nation-wide day of prayer for foreign missions. A few years later a day was chosen by Baptist women for prayer for home missions; in 1919 the two days were united, and the first Friday in Lent selected as the Day of Prayer for missions. Travelers and missionaries spread the movement, and eight years later, in 1927, it became the World Day of Prayer. This will mark the 69th observance. The theme will be "Abide in Me" (John 15:4).

As the observance has spread, so has its purpose deepened. From praying for home and foreign missions, participants have come to the realization that together, they form the world Christian community. Today they pray for the expansion of their faith around the world, and for the safety and peace of all mankind. Since prayer demands action, the World Day of Prayer offerings began many years ago with $70 collected by one small group. By 1954 the total rose to $434,000. These offerings are divided evenly between the National Council's Division of Home Missions and of Foreign Missions, and is used for a variety of interdenominational mission projects.

Services begin on February 25th on the Tonga Islands, west of the date line where Queen Salote leads her subjects in prayer; they continue through-

city's surplus, now at $900,000 and probably close to a million in a short while, Muther continued. He said his group favored keeping between $250,000 and $500,000 in the surplus, and using the remainder to keep down the tax rate.

Theoretically, he said, enough money could be found in state aid, the surplus and other items to cover the $1,128,693 increase in expenditures. But this is just theoretical, he warned, and that money might not wind up in the city's pocket when the final tallies are completed.

Muther said his Association was "exceedingly gratified" that the mayor had given a "state of the city" address, pointing out that the Taxpayers' had suggested such a message last year. He expressed the hope that the custom of delivering the budget in such a speech would become permanent.

Bachrach Group Elects Officers

Joseph Merrill, who is in charge of proof retouching for the Bachrach Laboratories in Newton, was re-elected president for a third term of the Bachrach Associates at the group's 27th annual meeting last week.

Also re-elected was Mrs. Mary Sweet Carroll, who was named treasurer. Mrs. Ingrid Forsberg was elected vice-president, and Miss Gertrude Roode was chosen as treasurer.

Four directors named to 2-year terms included Miss Anna DeLuca, Mrs. Carol Goodbar, Russell Lowell and John Coleman. Mr. Lowell has the longest employment in the Bachrach organization, having joined the firm in 1915 in Baltimore. He has held various offices in the Associates almost continuously since its inception.

The final results of the 1955 Red Feather Campaign show that Newton raised $297,117. This is about $3700 more than was reported on the final night of the Campaign in November.

Copies of a final report showing campaign results have been sent to the 2,563 members of the Campaign organization in Newton by Benjamin Shattuck, Chairman, with an accompanying letter expressing thanks for their participation in the Campaign. The total number of pledges was 22,674, an all-time high for our city.

Approximately 14,000 of these pledges were in the Residential Division, 4,500 in the Manufacturing Division, 1,800 in the Municipal and Public Schools Divisions, 1,600 in Mercantile and 700 in Advance Gifts.

Two of the divisions reached 100% of their goals — Men's Mercantile, John Crosby, Chairman, and Municipal, Monte Basbas, Chairman. Public Schools, Frank Zervas, Chairman and Manufacturing, Richard Williams, Chairman, exceeded 98% and Residential, Edward A. Green, Chairman, Advance Gifts, Hugh Harwood, Chairman, and Women's Mercantile, Mrs. Arthur Norton, Chairman, raised 95% to 97% of their goals. The final percentage for all divisions was 98.9%.

Newton's 1955 total of $297,117 is approximately $4,000 short of the amount raised last year, a drop of 1.3%. This percentage of loss is the same as for the whole campaign which reached 98.7% of the amount raised last year.

Major Herbert J. The award was for maintaining 100 per cent drill attendance during the past calendar year. These awards do not merely reflect a 100 per cent drill attendance but prove that these personnel have shown a marked devotion to their duties and to the U. S. Marine Corps.

Newton Chamber Commerce Opposes More Legal Holidays

Five bills pending before the state legislature, seeking "to impose unnecessary and unreasonable restrictions on business operations," are opposed by the Newton Chamber of Commerce in this month's bulletin.

The proposals objected to by the chamber are:

Applying Sunday laws all day on Memorial Day and Veterans Day.

Making March 17 a state-wide legal holiday.

Making state election day a state-wide legal holiday.

Compelling employers to give workers two hours time off with pay on state election day.

Requiring employers to pay workers selected for jury duty the difference between jury pay and their regular wages.

"While the opposition has been successful in obtaining rejection of such bills in recent years," noted Rupert C. Thompson, executive secretary of the Newton Chamber, "they have always been troublesome, and they may be especially so this year."

"This entire group of bills has a common characteristic: for one purpose or another, they seek to impose unnecessary and unreasonable restrictions on business operations. There is no alternative," he wrote, "to outright opposition to all of them. It is risky business for Massachusetts to force such new restrictions on business."

Opposition by the Chamber is based, said the executive secretary, on its belief that the "large existing holiday list" should not be expanded further with events "important to special groups or geographical areas." He cautioned that the Chamber's stand "in no way reflects a desire to minimize or disparage the importance of the events."

Referring to the bill seeking employers to bear the cost of jury service, Mr. Thompson wrote, "If Massachusetts is going to force employers to assume financial responsibility in the individual relations between the citizen and his government, there is no end to the directions which such a policy could take, and the outlook for business would be grim indeed."

He noted that Newton's employment figures are continuing well above the state averages. Statistics for December—the last full month charted—reveal a 14 percent increase in the number of local workers over those employed during December, 1953.

During last December, an average of 7972 workers were employed in Newton manufacturing establishments. This represents an increase of 92 over the year before's figures. Payrolls show a 21 percent jump over the same period, reaching $2,071,898 in December, 1954.

The state employment average for last December was 7 percent lower than the previous year, while wages dropped 6.6 percent.

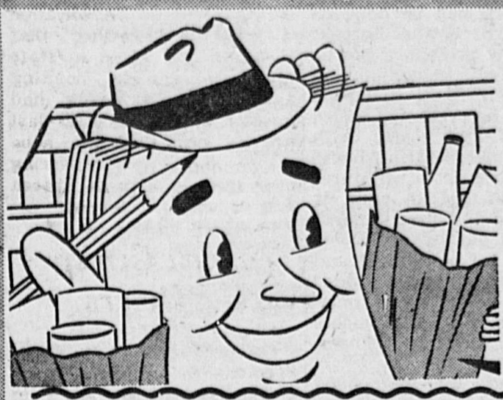

Average weekly earnings in Newton manufacturing establishments amounted to $59.97 last December, a jump of more than $3 over the year before. However, Boston area wages were $70.04 for the same month.

Figures compiled by the Chamber, comparing December, 1954, with the last pre-war December in 1940, show that local manufacturing has more than doubled over the 14-year period, while payrolls have leaped to more than six times the pre-war figure.

In December of 1940, there were 3135 manufacturing workers in the city. This has spurred to 7972 as of last year, a 154 percent increase. Payrolls have grown 644 percent in the same period, from $278,317 to better than two million.

Cost-of-living figures in the Chamber's monthly bulletin show that the purchasing power of the dollar in January sank to 88.57 cents compared to what the dollar would buy over the 1947-49 period.

Individual January expenses compared to the same period, based on the purchasing power of a dollar then, were listed as food, $1.07; clothing $1.04; shelter, $1.18; fuel and light $1.16; miscellaneous, $1.22, and all these classifications combined, $1.13.

Political Overtones

It will not be at all surprising if the present legislative session on Beacon Hill should prove to be one of the longest in the history of Massachusetts. Everything certainly points in that direction right now.

If the lawmakers take any extended vacation for themselves next summer, they may well have to spend most of next autumn arguing over some of the many measures awaiting their attention and action.

The progress achieved by the Legislature during the first month and a half of its deliberations has been extremely slow, and it is difficult to see how any real speed-up can be accomplished.

The outstanding reason for this situation, of course, is the divided leadership on Beacon Hill, with a Republican Governor, a Senate in which the GOP holds a slight balance of power and a House that is under Democratic control.

Another factor is that new measures have been admitted for consideration almost as rapidly as the old ones have been acted upon.

The battle over the seven orders for probes of various phases of the Herter administration consumed a full week, and much of the time devoted to that issue was a sheer waste.

It never has been disclosed where the idea for the investigations originated. It certainly didn't come from the Democratic leaders who officially sponsored the measures because in some instances they had little more than a foggy conception of what they were talking about.

One order, for example, called for an investigation to determine why funds appropriated for educational purposes in State mental institutions were never used. That measure was abandoned when it was established that no such funds ever were appropriated.

When a debate started on an order for a probe of the publicity expenditures in the executive department, it centered mostly on Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier who obviously is a source of irritation to Democratic politicians.

Very little was said concerning Governor Herter except by his Republican defenders who brought out that his expenditures to keep the people of Massachusetts informed of his activities have been about average.

There were some amusing aspects to the partisan debate and dispute regarding Lieutenant Governor Whittier.

It fell to the lot of Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons, who undoubtedly will battle Whittier for the GOP gubernatorial nomination next year, if Governor Herter does not stand for a third term, to speak out in defense of Whittier.

Whatever Gibbons' personal feelings may have been, he filled his role like the good political soldier he is and voiced some effective arguments in behalf of the man who is his prospective opponent within his own party.

Gibbons almost got caught tangled up in his own eloquence. He explained that the reason Whittier needs a larger staff than did his predecessor, former Lieutenant Governor Charles F. Jeff Sullivan, is that he is at the State House every day and devotes much more time to his job than did Sullivan.

Later in the same debate, Gibbons, while endeavoring to justify Whittier's expenses for travel, said the Lieutenant Governor is engaged in the greatest educational campaign undertaken in the history of the Commonwealth and is acquainting the people with the operation of their State government.

Democratic Floor Leader John F. Thompson declared that he was interested to learn this. He said he had observed Whittier in every nook and corner and cranny of western Massachusetts and that he was somewhat at a loss to understand how Whittier could be so widely travelled and still be at the State House every day.

Gibbons retorted that the Democrats apparently were worried about the prospect of battling the Lieutenant Governor in the future. Thompson replied that Gibbons himself was likely to engage Whittier in political conflict before the Democrats did.

Gibbons hit back sharply that he wasn't looking for any solicitude from Thompson for any battles he might wage in the future.

Thompson's closing sally was that it was his considered judgment that the educational campaign on which Whittier was embarked was to educate the people as to the name of the Lieutenant Governor.

Eventually, of course, the House after a windy debate strongly tinged with partisan politics overwhelmingly killed the order for a probe of how much Messrs. Herter and Whittier spend for publicity.

One reason for the one-sided margin by which that measure was torpedoed, incidentally, was that in the row over a previous order for an investigation of the State public works department, a Democratic spokesman managed to affront the House members of Italian descent, who were standing behind Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe, and they staged a second revolt against their party leadership on the publicity probe.

The suggestion for the investigation of expenditures by the Governor for Lieutenant Governor for publicity purposes was silly to begin with, and there never was any real likelihood it would be passed. But it is typical of the harassing tactics the Democratic chieftains are likely to adopt from time to time as a reminder that they hold the reins in the House of Representatives.

Governor Herter and his advisers presumably realize that they will experience more trouble next year getting legislation enacted into law than they will this year, and they undoubtedly will endeavor to get as much accomplished as possible before the 1955 session is concluded.

In an election year it will be a little more difficult to persuade Democratic House members to break party lines, and there will be even heavier political overtones than there are at present.

This is the year when the major part of Governor Herter's legislative record for his second term will be made, and it all adds up to a session of near-record length.

While the attacks directed at President Eisenhower at a meeting of the hard core of the Republican Old Guard in Chicago last weekend caused a lifting of political eyebrows, they probably are not nearly as significant as some columnists and commentators profess to believe.

It's no secret that the right wing of the GOP is not at all happy about many of the Eisenhower policies, but if President Eisenhower seeks reelection next year, as it is now expected he will, there will be no place for the conservative Republicans to go except with him. They're surely not likely to line up behind Adlai Stevenson or Averell Harriman.

There may be spasmodic talk about the Old Guard starting another Bull Moose movement, but nothing will come of it. Men like Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois are much too shrewd to wander so far from the ramparts of their own party that they can't get back to them in a hurry.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Cincinnati is experimenting with a deluxe bus service in which patrons who pay a $10 monthly fee, in addition to the regular 10 cent fare, have reserved seats and get virtually front-door service. So far the idea is working out well, and many commuters have stopped driving to work in their own automobiles.

Philadelphia police, who raided a city-operated health centre, found Custodian James Weathers and his wife, Gladys, selling whisky and beer to 16 dice-playing patrons in a doctor's conference room advertised on business cards as "Gladys and Jimmy's."

The British Post Office has rescinded a 30-year-old rule that women employees must not lift packages weighing more than 15 pounds. The explanation for the move is that girls are stronger nowadays than were their mothers or grandmothers.

Uranium fever is sweeping Texas. Prospectors with Geiger counters are swarming over ranches and State parks taking the pulse of rocks and ridges. What they could do if they found uranium on somebody else's land is not clear from this distance.

Mrs. Edna Hopton of Cleveland, a deaf mute, was granted a divorce from her husband, who is also deaf and dumb, after she convinced Judge B. D. Nicola that "nagging in the sign language can be just as effective as spoken words."

Out in Fresno, Calif., ex-convict Manuel Eurich, 35, was sentenced to from 1 to 14 years in prison, despite his plea that he had written worthless checks only after getting drunk in a bar while sitting out a thunderstorm on his way to a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Hawaii's first Democratic Legislature convened this week at historic Iolani Palace in the traditional garden-party atmosphere of hulas and ukuleles. So eager were Democratic leaders to make a good showing that House Speaker Charles Kauhanue issued an order that all Democratic legislators had to be in bed by 9:30 the night before the opening session.

Employees in the postal dead letter department in Dallas opened a misaddressed envelope and found a message which read: "We're all well here—excepting Pa, and he caught the flu and died; but that's all right, because all he ever done was slop the hogs, anyhow."

Complete Text of Mayor's Budget Address

I am indeed grateful to your Honorable Board for the courtesy extended to me this evening. I am well aware of the heavy work schedule which confronts you, a schedule which becomes more diverse and complicated annually, as does that which falls upon those of us whose responsibility it is to administer the affairs of a rapidly-growing city.

However, I believe it is to our mutual advantage to pause occasionally in our forward march to re-assess the program on which we have embarked and to take stock of what has been accomplished and what lies ahead. Too frequently we become engrossed in particular projects which tend to distract our attention from the broader objectives. Obviously, it would be impossible to review the entire work of a very active year in a short talk, but there have been some unusual occurrences during the period which merit comment at this time.

My principal purpose tonight, however, is to examine our position now and to look ahead at needs and plans outlined and expressed through the medium of the annual budget which I have today transmitted to you. While a mid-term message from the Mayor is not an innovation, Mayor Weeks having presented such a message twenty years ago, it is somewhat unusual and a departure from custom.

On January first a year ago I promised to you a rather ambitious program, designed primarily to modernize and improve the organization and operation of our city government. Progress has been made along these lines. First, under the supervision and guidance of an outstanding consultant in the personnel field, a program has been initiated for the establishment of a Personnel Agency. Two committees were appointed by the Mayor—one an employees' committee, and the other a citizens' advisory committee composed of five men eminent and active in personnel work.

We are indeed indebted to these men for their willingness to give generously of their time, energies and abilities in this essential undertaking. The employee's committee has worked long and faithfully reviewing and analyzing the classifications and job descriptions of every city employee, except those in the school system. Its work is nearing completion and its findings, suggestions and recommendations will soon be turned over to the citizens' committee, which will undertake the broad task of recommending a fair and equitable salary and wage scale, the elimination of inequities which currently exist, and the basic requirements for a modern personnel agency, which should have the very desirable effect not only of improved personnel morale but also of a more equitable and logical distribution of the work load.

This employees' committee deserves great credit and thanks for the faithful and intelligent manner in which it has performed its assignment. Some time about the middle of the year your Honorable Board should receive the findings and final recommendations for consideration and action.

Secondly, reference was made to the need for revitalized city planning, which is so necessary for the orderly and constructive development of the city, particularly as it reaches maturity. The Planning Board has worked diligently, and together you have accomplished much. The Rules and Regulations Governing the Preparation of Petitions and Plans to be Submitted to the Planning Board Acting as a Board of Survey, adopted by the Planning Board last December, and the passage by your Board of related ordinances, have in my opinion, been most constructive actions. They will expedite street acceptances in new developments thereby expediting acceptances under the Betterment Act, a heavy backlog of which still remains.

HOME DEVELOPMENTS

New amendments to the ordinances have now precluded development and construction in land areas unsuited for housing by giving to the city the authority to specify what locations are unfit for various reasons for development. The need for such authority has become increasingly apparent for the protection of both prospective home-owners and the city. The new provisions for acceptance of streets by the city under General Law will relieve the city in the future of some of the heavy financial burden it has borne for so many years.

Long-range planning remains a necessity for the future welfare of our city. Such an activity is a continuing one and requires constant attention. Capable and conscientious as they are, the unpaid members of our Planning Board, who give many hours willingly in their constructive endeavors, cannot do the full job without some continuous and professional assistance. I recommend to your Honorable Board that you study the advisability of engaging a full-time professional City Planner to work with our Planning Board.

Thirdly, in my inaugural message, I recommended that serious consideration be given to revision of our charter to provide a more streamlined organization of departments and a more effective and efficient administrative authority. A year's intimate association with the present departmental setup and its operations has confirmed my earlier opinion.

At the same time, the ramifications involved in a broad reorganization are many and any final recommendations should come only after exhaustive study as to its potential underlay but will not be complete for some time. In the meantime, new management practices and procedures, providing for improved coordination of departmental activities and services have been instituted.

While no mention was made a year ago concerning centralized purchasing, primarily because I believed any recommendation for the creation of such an agency should be preceded by careful and exhaustive study as to its potential advantages and disadvantages, you subsequently, on my recommendation, voted an appropriation for studies relative to this and other activities.

As a result of the study you now have before you for consideration a proposed ordinance which would establish a purchasing department. I trust that you will see fit to adopt the ordinance. Among the many advantages of centralized purchasing are standardization of articles and supplies, consolidation of purchases, improved inventory control, improved competitive bidding and establishment of improved planning for purchases, all of which lead to economies.

Judging by the experiences of other municipalities, a purchasing department, when fully operative, will save money for the city over and above the cost of establishing and maintaining the department. Modern municipal management includes centralized purchasing as one of its prime requisites. Inasmuch as the authority to establish such a department has not been granted, no appropriation request has been included in the annual budget. Such a request will be forthcoming when the ordinance is adopted. In the meantime, by means of funds you have already appropriated, plans are being prepared and perfected so that the establishment of the department can be expedited.

Brief mention of a few other activities and undertakings of the past year seems in order before passing to a discussion of the budget. A permanent memorial to Newton citizens who have served in all wars was erected, to take the place of the Honor Roll of World War II, at the corner of Walnut Street and Commonwealth Avenue. Delegations from several cities and towns have come to see this memorial and some communities have subsequently established one of their own. This memorial has provided a fitting tribute to our veterans. Under the guidance of the Veterans' Services Officer and with the approval and support of the Mayor a Veterans' Honor Guard has been established and represents the city at many ceremonies. I wish to thank the Honor Guard for the fine representation it has afforded the city. This activity was instituted without cost to the city, being underwritten by civic-minded citizens to whom we are all grateful.

TRAFFIC IMPROVED

For some four or five years the city has been endeavoring to obtain permission from the State to have an access road constructed from Route 128 to Grove Street in order to permit and expedite construction of warehouses in the area formerly utilized by the railroad for the storage of its cars. Permission was finally obtained last year and construction, the value of which may run to $500,000, is now underway.

The Assessment to be placed on the properties in the next year or two will result in a tax income which will assist and benefit every taxpayer in the city. Traffic rules and regulations promulgated as a result of the opening of the access road will benefit residents in the area by eliminating the heavy truck traffic which has existed for so many years along the entire length of Grove Street. Such traffic will in the future be permitted to use Grove Street for a short distance only, for purposes of direct entrance and exit from the warehouse area, and Route 128.

A brief reference to events occurring during 1954 would be incomplete without mentioning hurricanes Carol and Edna, whose destructive visitation will be recorded prominently in the city's history. Fortunately, almost no injuries to persons resulted from the hurricanes. Damage to property cannot be accurately determined. Over 3500 city trees were uprooted or destroyed and many more suffered damage requiring attention. Almost all such damage was caused by Carol. Hurricane Edna's contribution was primarily destruction by water and was almost all confined to personal property.

Under the provisions of an Act passed by the General Court soon after the first hurricane, and in accordance with rules and regulations established by the State Hurricane Relief Board, your Honorable Board authorized the city to expend up to $500,000 to clear the city streets of debris and to repair, at least on a temporary basis, damage to city property. Approximately $362,000 has been spent to date because of Carol and this is approximately the total amount that will be spent, although some repair work is continuing as weather permits, and may continue into 1955.

Accounts and statements in the prescribed detail have been submitted to the Relief Board in the amount of $214,000 and State reimbursements have already been received in the amount of $98,000. I feel quite confident that the city will receive state reimbursements covering up to 95 per cent of our expenditures, much of this in the near future when the backlog of work both here and at the Relief Board becomes less onerous. If the city receives up to 95 per cent reimbursement, the net cost to the city will approximate $8,000.

HURRICANE "EDNA"

Expenditures to date as the result of Hurricane Edna approximate $21,000. Here again it is reasonable to believe that a high percentage of reimbursement will be forthcoming. A book could be written concerning the experiences during that trying period of hectic days and sleepless nights for many of us. I am truly proud of the loyal response of our employees who literally were called upon for superhuman efforts in coping with disaster conditions. We hope not to go through such an experience again, but the lessons learned will make us all more capable, if such should eventuate.

I am sure we are all grateful for the willing and constructive efforts of the citizen volunteers in the Auxiliary Fire and Police Departments and other Civil Defense activities. Red Cross and other organizations, and to those who responded to the request for administrative and supervisory assistance. The attitudes, understanding and cooperation of Newton people in such periods of distress are not only reassuring, but truly indicative and exemplary of why we have such a fine and coherent community—ready, willing and able to stand together. I am indeed grateful to you for your understanding, counsel and assistance to me in those critical days.

There are many other 1954 events, changes, innovations and projects which are worthy of comment, but these can be reviewed on other occasions since you are not only familiar with them, but have had a prominent part in developing them.

The budget is the key to the program for services and functions of a government. It determines the operating activities of the departments and many of the capital improvements which will be constructed during a fiscal year. In effect, it establishes the "municipal standard of living." Adoption of the budget, therefore, represents the Board of Aldermen's most important policy-making decisions of the entire year.

The process of developing and adopting the budget has two major objectives. First, the proposals or recommendations of the Mayor for a balanced program of activities and construction which he believes will best meet community needs within the financial ability or desire of the taxpayers to provide the necessary funds, and

Secondly, the determination by the Board of Aldermen whether community conditions and the general welfare warrants the elimination, reduction, continuation or expansion of specific activities. The Board is assisted in these important policy decisions by facts presented by the Mayor and his department heads concerning the consequences and effects of various alternative decisions which the Board may make.

After adoption of the budget it is up to the Mayor for the most part to see that it is effectively administered and that the planned program contained in it is as nearly as possible accomplished. Modifications and changes may become necessary, because of changed community conditions, general economic conditions or other unforeseeable factors and circumstances. Any major changes require the approval of the Board. Thus, policy-making is a continuing process throughout the year.

IMPROVED BUDGET

It had been my hope to present this year's budget in a revised form which would more clearly present, on a standardized and uniform basis for all departments, the costs of personnel services, general administrative expenses, supplies, materials, purchases of equipment, contract payments, rentals, pensions and annuities, and grants-in-aid. With these classifications as major expense items, which in turn would be subdivided into subsidiary control accounts and object code items, a quicker and more complete analysis of all city expenditures would be possible. It would also facilitate machine accounting, which should result in a more economical operation.

A considerable amount of preliminary work has already been accomplished toward this end, but it could not be fully worked out in all details prior to submission of this budget. Further work will be done on the change-over so that by next year the new procedure can be put into effect. In conjunction with the new form, a capital budget can be presented which can be associated closely with the regular or operating budget. Many capital expenditures are now included in what is primarily an operating budget. Only these minor "capital expenditures" for equipment and "permanent improvements" which are incidental to operating activities of departments should be included in the operating budget.

A year ago, I recommended for your consideration a budget of $12,880,263.95 for the year 1954, after reducing the department requests by $481,753.95 or 3.6 per cent. Added to that budget were appropriations approved between February 14th and the date the Board approved the final budget which amounted to $12,008,132.85. Carryovers and supplementary appropriations during the year resulted in total appropriations for 1954 of $13,570,510.58. Total expended last year (exclusive of bond money and grants from revenue required for bond issues) amounted to $12,966,345.68 or $604,164.90 less than total appropriations. Of this amount approximately $346,000 was returned to the treasury and $258,000 was carried forward to 1955.

The Mayor's budget for 1954 was characterized correctly as a tight budget, which it was intended to be. In fact, the Mayor's budget as submitted was reduced by the Board by only $65,200.

I am now presenting to you for your consideration a budget for the current year amounting to $14,095,038.93. This amount exceeds the Mayor's recommended budget of a year ago by $1,214,774.93. It exceeds the amount expended in 1954 by $1,128,693.25.

NOT AS "TIGHT"

My budget for this year is not as tight as last year's in the sense that it includes proposed expenditures which cannot be classified as absolutely essential at this time. In my opinion, however, they are desirable and worthy of your serious consideration. A postponement of them may result in increased costs at a later date. Several items included will increase efficiency of operations. Several more were requested by the department heads last year but were not submitted to you in the Mayor's budget because I had not at that time had the opportunity to determine by observation and personal contact the need for them. I feel fully qualified now to endorse them and believe they should be placed before you.

I am sure you are as mindful as I am of how rapidly our city has expanded and developed in recent years and that the expansion is continuing, all of which necessitates extension of services and facilities to provide fully for the safety, health, education and general welfare of all people in accordance with the same high standards we have maintained over the years and for which we are noted. As services and facilities are extended, maintenance requirements become greater.

While providing the necessary maintenance we should not lose sight of the need for added or improved facilities. Failure to keep up to date as far as is reasonably possible and within our means may well result in either a lowering of our general municipal standards or greatly increased expenditures in future years. I believe it fair to say that no one is more conscious of the desirability, yes even the necessity, for efficient and economical government than I. My every thought and act is toward that end. But I am also conscious of false economy which often imbues our considerations in our efforts to save money.

Sensible economy should be our guide and the true test should be the value received for money expended. For example for many years we have failed to appropriate sufficient money to maintain our sidewalks properly, with the result that injuries and claims have increased. Another example is our failure to provide the necessary funds to keep our equipment up-to-date and we now have not only inefficient machines and road equipment,

UNAVOIDABLE RISES

There are in this budget increases over which we have no control at this time—expenditures for which we are obligated. These, together with the amounts of the increases over the expenditures in 1954 are:

The School Budget	$371,028
Debt Retirement & Interest (Exclusive of Water Debt)	187,159
Salary and Wage Increases (Effective last October)	104,250
Pensions & Annuities	101,640
Final Payment for Alterations to Incinerator	30,000
Cost of Changing Ward Lines (Endorsed on Referendum)	30,000
Expediting Plans for a Purchasing Dept.	10,000
	$834,077

The principal recommended increases, including those just mentioned, together with their per cent of the total increase over the 1954 expenditures are as follows:

Schools	371,027	33
Debt Retirement and Interest	187,159	16.5
Salary and Wage Increases (Effective last October)	104,250	9.2
Pensions & Annuities	101,640	9.0
New Equipment for Street Dept.	60,000	5.3
Special Building Project for Schools	57,700	5.1
Ward Line Changes	30,000	2.7
(In conjunction with creation of a new ward, voted by the people on referendum)
Final payment for the Improvement and Alterations to Incinerator	30,000	2.7
Maintenance of School Buildings	25,000	2.2
Improvement of Street Lighting	20,000	1.8
Construction of Grounds (School and Recreation Areas)	19,900	1.7
Debt Service for and Expediting Plans for Purchasing Dept.	10,000	1.4
Other Recommended Increases for Equipment, Services and Functions	112,916	9.4

5 BOND ISSUES

In addition to budget appropriations, we have annually for the past six years authorized and issued bonds for various public improvement projects and school buildings. The requests for improvement and construction projects this year are unusually heavy. Many have been deleted because of the lack of funds. In order to provide the money to construct those which may be necessary at this time a request will have to be entered with the Emergency Finance Board to authorize the issuance of:

(1) Street Improvement Bonds, $500,000. This amount is to be utilized for street construction, reconstruction, and the acquisition and construction of off-street parking areas. I believe it is essential to allocate some of these funds, when and if available, to provide off-street parking areas in Newton Highlands, Auburndale and Nonantum. A similar amount of such bonds was issued last year.

(2) Sewer and Drain Bonds, $800,000. Last year $200,000 of such bonds were authorized and issued. The increased amount of such bonds this year is necessary to construct a portion of a new main trunk sewer to service the south side of the city. The present system is incapable of handling the load which is being emptied into it, with the result that some pollution of the Charles River occurs. This expenditure will not only provide a new and modern system capable of accommodating the present load but will also help to eliminate pollution of the river. Also, from this amount, $160,000 should be expended to relieve the flooding conditions caused by the South Meadow and Paul Brooks. The remaining balance will be necessary for sewer extensions.

(3) School Bonds. Approximately $500,000 should be authorized and issued, in addition to a balance of approximately $300,000 now available to finish various school projects and to construct, at the Junior Ward School two additional classrooms and a combination auditorium and playground, which will cost in the vicinity of $250,000; for land-takings and construction of an addition of four classrooms and an auditorium and playground at the Cabot School about $300,000; and to construct four additional classrooms at the Pierce School to cost about $100,000.

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

This is the sixth in a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

To what exemptions am I entitled on my Federal return?

In computing your tax liability, you are entitled to the following exemptions:

1. $600 for yourself.
2. $600 for your wife, if you file a joint return.
3. $600 for yourself, if you are 65 or over; $600 for your wife, if she is 65 or over and you are filing a joint return.
4. $600 for yourself, if you are blind; $600 for your wife, if she is blind and you are filing a joint return.
5. $600 for each dependent.

Who is considered a dependent?

A dependent is a closely related person or a person who resides with you, who, in most cases, had income of less than $600, who received more than one-half of his support from you, and who did not file a joint return with his wife. The dependent must be a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Canal Zone, Panama, and in certain cases the Philippines.

Did the new tax law change the rules for the allowance of the $600 dependency exemption?

Yes. The following changes were introduced in the new tax law.

1. A non-relative can now qualify as your dependent, if he is a member of your household.
2. A child, who is under 19 years old or who is a full time student at a regular school or college may earn more than $600 and still be taken as a dependent if you contribute more than one-half of his support.
3. If several contribute toward the support of a qualified person but no one contributes more than half, they can now agree to let any one of them take the dependency exemption. However, the taxpayer taking the exemption must have contributed more than 10% of the support.
4. Cousins who received institutional care may, in certain instances, be claimed as dependents.

I support my mother who is 68 years old. May I deduct $1,200 for her?

No. You may deduct only $600 for your dependent mother. There is no additional exemption for a dependent who has attained age 65. The added exemption applies only to a taxpayer.

When is my marital status determined?

Your marital status is determined as of the last day of the taxable year. This means that if you were married on or before December 31, 1954, you may file a joint return with your wife. If you were divorced on or before December 31, 1954, you are considered a single individual for tax purposes and, therefore, you may not file a joint return with your former wife.

Who is considered a head of a household?

A head of a household is an unmarried taxpayer who contributes over half of the cost of maintaining a home in which any of the following relatives live:

1. An unmarried child, grandchild, or stepchild, even though the child has income of $600 or more.
2. Any other relative who is a dependent.

A dependent parent will qualify a taxpayer as a head of a household even though the parent does not live with the taxpayer, provided the taxpayer furnishes more than one-half the cost of maintaining the parent's home.

What is the tax advantage to being classified as a head of a household?

The tax liability of a head of a household is computed by using rates which are lower than those used for other unmarried taxpayers.

My son was born during 1954. Do I get full $600 exemption for him?

Yes. You do not prorate the $600 exemption for birth or death. This means that you would be entitled to the $600 exemption for a child who lived for a few seconds after birth. You get no exemption for a still-born child.

What is a joint return?

A joint return is a return which includes the income, deductions and exemptions of both husband and wife. It is usually to your advantage to file a joint return because of the income-splitting provisions of the tax law.

Which return should I use?

You may use Form 1040A, Form 1040 (short-form) or Form 1040 (long-form). Form 1040A, the wage earner's return, may be used if you are not the head of a household and your gross income is less than $5,000 and is received from wages, interest, or dividends. The interest or dividends cannot exceed $100. If you use Form 1040A the Director of Internal Revenue computes your tax, refunding an overpayment or assessing you for an underpayment. The Director uses the tax table which allows you approx-

Complete Text of Mayor's Budget Address

All of the above have been signified as necessary for housing purposes by the school committee. Last year bonds in the amount of $2,182,000 were issued for school building purposes.

Every effort should and will be made to reduce the cost of these additions below the indicated amounts. City and state authorities are fully cognizant of the high cost of school construction and during the past year a temporary portable addition was constructed at the Franklin school for approximately $64,000, which amount was considerably less than the cost of such an addition in the so-called conventional type and was permitted because of its presumed temporary use in its present location, and its portable features. The Newton Taxpayers Association has filed a bill in the Legislature calling for a revision in building codes for schools under the supervision of a board to be created for such a purpose. The School Committee has evidenced its concern along with that of City officials for the high cost of school construction and every effort must be made to bring down these apparent high costs.

(4) Recreation Building Bonds. The following requests have been received and appear to be desirable. (a) A Field House at the Albemarle playground providing toilet and storage facilities; (b) Modernization and enlargement of the present building at the Auburndale playground; (c) A new building at Bulloughs Pond to provide facilities for skaters and for indoor recreational activities; (d) A building with toilet and storage facilities at Edmonds Park, together with a drinking fountain, and open picnic shelter. No bonds for Recreation building purposes were issued last year.

(5) Library Building Bonds. The village of Nonantum has for some years expressed its need for a library building, not only for library purposes, but for a community meeting place. For this purpose I feel $100,000 is necessary and urgently recommend that it be provided.

If you and the Emergency Finance Board approve these recommendations, $2,000,000 will be added to our present debt. Last year a total of $3,717,000 in bonds was issued. During the year 1955 bonds in the amount of $1,467,000 will be paid off, leaving at the year-end a net increase in debt amounting to $533,000. Our debt at the year-end will be about $16,900,000 provided no bonds in addition to those here-in mentioned are authorized and issued.

We have at the present time an available borrowing capacity of approximately $3,300,000 with Emergency Finance Board approval. School building bonds may be authorized and issued outside the debt limit under the provisions of Chapter 645 of the General Laws. Inasmuch as these amount to $500,000 our borrowing capacity at the year-end within the debt limit will remain at approximately the same figure.

PER CAPITA DEBT

Many of the projects mentioned above have been requested in previous years. I recognize that our debt is high, amounting to $184 per capita. As an offsetting factor to the $184 per capita in debt, our valuation is in excess of $2900 per capita. I further recognize that the cost of debt retirement and interest this year will amount to approximately $7.50 on the tax rate, and is equivalent to approximately 10 per cent of the budget which percentage is generally recognized as being acceptable for annual carrying costs of capital projects.

These projects are submitted to you because I feel it is as much your responsibility as it is mine to determine the policy in regard to capital spending. There may be other projects which I will submit to you if it seems advisable.

You have already authorized water bonds in the amount of $350,000 for the improvement and development of the water distribution system and for water main extensions. This authorization does not affect the tax levy, nor require an appropriation from revenue, as do other bonds, but it does affect the gross debt of the city.

The city of Newton has never enjoyed a finer financial rating, as exemplified by the fact that when it borrowed $2,000,000 last November the bonds were sold at an annual interest rate of 1.70 per cent for a 20-year issue, plus a good premium. It was one of the lowest rates granted a 20-year issue during the year 1954 to any city or town of the Commonwealth.

Another example of the very high credit rating of the city was the rate of .46 per cent obtained for a million dollar tax anticipation loan in May. Banking and Brokerage Houses bid actively and high for our paper, as evidenced by the number of bids received. Incidentally, our temporary borrowing last year was reduced to $3,000,000 as compared with $4,000,000 in 1953—an indication of increased efficiency in tax billing and collecting.

Turning now from the expenditure proposals to the income prospects for the current year, we can look forward to an approximate increase of $7,000,000 in combined new real and personal property assessed valuation. On the basis of a tax rate of $44.50, additional revenue of $311,500 would be received.

STATE OWES 'BACKLOG'

As you know, Newton is entitled to receive from the School Building Assistance Commission 20 per cent of the approved cost of school construction, the amount to be spread evenly over the life of the bonds. We are currently being reimbursed $10,030 a year in this respect. There is a backlog to which the city is entitled, in the amount of about $250,000, which would bring distributions up-to-date. Every effort is being made to obtain the money, or to have it considered as estimated income, so that we may use this amount this year as a factor in determining the tax rate. Once up-to-date, our annual reimbursement from this source will amount to approximately $85,000 annually.

According to preliminary estimates on the cherry sheet, the balance in favor of the city will be approximately the same as last year—about $135,000.

It is reasonable to assume that the city will receive more money from motor excise taxes in 1955, perhaps to an amount of $150,000.

The surplus at the end of 1954 amounted to $952,000. If the Legislature extends from December 31 to March 31 the deadline date for use of receipts, our surplus will be enhanced.

There are so many unknown and variable factors involved that it is impossible at this time to make any prediction as to what the tax rate may be for 1955. Your treatment of budget requests will have a great bearing upon the rate.

You are aware, of course, that it is the duty of the Assessors to establish the tax rate, but by custom and courtesy they have conferred with you concerning the amount of surplus to be used in setting a rate.

I have endeavored to present to you the highlights of the budget, a capital improvement program and the debt and financial picture of our city. Undoubtedly you have many questions regarding particular phases of them. I shall be very happy to go into detail concerning these important considerations with any member of your Honorable Board. I am looking forward to conferring with your Finance Committee in the near future.

1954 'UNUSUAL' YEAR

I hardly need remind you that we have passed through a very active, and in many ways unusual, year. I feel we have made progress toward the principal goal we established in January of 1954—that of modernizing our governmental and administrative organization and machinery. We are improving our services and facilities. Also, we have improved our public relations. Since May, at the Information Desk in the rotunda, more than 10,000 persons have been assisted in their ordinary and extraordinary problems.

We must, in the light of uncertain world affairs and the change in basic policy and planning, continue to strengthen our Civil Defense organization. Money for this purpose is recommended in the budget.

I have not included in the budget a request for an appropriation to cover the cost of windstorm and disaster insurance for city property. Your committee studying insurance coverage will undoubtedly have recommendations to make on these and other matters. After it reports, I shall transmit recommendations.

I wish in particular to compliment the Police Department in behalf of the people of the city for their almost phenomenal accomplishment of recent date. They have brought great credit upon themselves and the city and have set a high example for all of us in the public service.

I wish to express gratitude to all the organizations in the community—civic, charitable and religious, who have on so many occasions been host to the Mayor, who has not only enjoyed their generous hospitality, but also the benefit of their suggestions and advice.

I am extremely grateful to the many civic-minded citizens who have served willingly and helpfully on the various committees and boards to which they have been appointed. We all owe them a debt of gratitude.

I am most grateful also to all the department heads and my fellow employees who have been so helpful, loyal and conscientious in handling their responsibilities and duties. They have the good of the city and its people at heart. I am truly indebted to the members of my own staff who have worked unusually long hours in assisting me.

And I am deeply appreciative of the patience, counsel, understanding and assistance which your Honorable Board has so graciously extended to me. No Mayor could ask for better cooperation than I have received and I thank you for it. I look forward to the continuance of this constructive and pleasant relationship during the balance of the year.

THE BIBLE IS A CATHOLIC BOOK

People differ radically in what they think about the Bible.

Some seem to think it was handed down from Heaven written in English and bound in morocco. Many accept it as the inspired Word of God without knowing why they are justified in doing so. And others say that the Bible is full of contradictions and must be taken "with a grain of salt."

A proper understanding of the Scriptures can exert a tremendous influence for good in your personal life. You should, therefore, know where we get the Bible... what it means... why you can believe its every word.

Nowhere in the Bible text will you find a list of the 73 inspired books of which it is composed. This list was given to the world by the Catholic Church almost three full centuries after the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Between the time of the Crucifixion and the time that the Scriptures were gathered into a single Book, millions had received and accepted the teachings of Christ... and had died without ever seeing the complete Bible.

Established by Christ Himself and rapidly spread among the nations of the world, the Catholic Church was carrying on Christ's work for the salvation of men some 60 years before the Apostle John wrote his book of the New Testament.

For more than a thousand years afterward, the Scriptures were preserved and circulated by Catholic monks and scholars who laboriously copied the sacred text by hand. And the Bible authorized by the Catholic Church was the first book produced by Gutenberg upon the invention of printing.

Yes, the Bible is truly a Catholic book. They were members of the Catholic Church who, under God's inspiration, wrote the New Testament in its entirety.

It was the Catholic Church which treasured it and gave it to the world in its original and unaltered form. It is the infallible authority of the Catholic Church that always has been the only sure guarantee of its inspiration.

There are obscure and difficult passages in the Bible, some of which may seem confusing. But with the complete revealed truth of God, delivered to her from the beginning, the Catholic Church has faithfully unfolded the meaning of the written Word of God to past generations of mankind—and does so today.

Those who are familiar with the Bible, as well as those who are reading it for the first time, will find many important questions concerning it clearly answered in a free booklet which we shall send you on request. Ask for Pamphlet No. 3-N.

Says Theological Seminaries Must Train Ministers to Lead

Theological seminaries must train ministers to lead the church's forces out of their proudly steeped castles to attack the enemy where he really is—in the businesses, the schools, the courts, the homes, the political offices.

This was the clarion call of the Rev. Dr. Roy H. Pearson following his induction as dean of the Andover Newton Theological School at Newton Centre, oldest Baptist and Congregational seminaries in America.

President Nathan Pusey of Harvard University led a procession of 125 richly-robed presidents and representatives of colleges and universities and religious groups from all parts of the United States which preceded the service.

The impressive ceremonies were held in the First Church, Congregational, in Newton Centre.

Dr. Pearson, formerly pastor of the Hancock Congregational Church of Lexington, stressed that it is essential "for theological schools to produce skilled preachers, warm-hearted pastors, and accomplished administrators, but unless they also produce vocational catalysts capable of transforming the occupations of men from means of gain into channels of worship, they are leading the church to save its life and thereby lose it."

In a significant appraisal of the responsibility of the theological seminary, he emphasized that the Christian church must revise its assessment that laymen being technically untrained for the Christian ministry are therefore actually unfit for service.

Although he agreed that there is a considerable amount of lay ministry already in action, he pointed out that in the average church of 1000 members, there are probably 800 preachers who are not preaching, 800 pastors who are not exercising the pastoral function, 800 witnesses who never witness.

"We have 90,000,000 laymen in this country in our churches. They are not penned up in the ecclesiastical headquarters; they are actually on the spot when ever significant decisions are being made in the community. One wonders what would have happened to Jesus' gospel if He had been forced to place it in the hands of the professional clergy of the Temple priesthood and been denied the help of fishermen like Peter and tax collectors like Matthew.

"In a day when we make so much of the lack of able ministers, it is the biggest responsibility of the seminaries to train men who can bring to life this tremendous, dormant power of lay ministry. It is the biggest responsibility of the seminaries to train men who will remove themselves from the neck of the church's bottle and encourage the layman's warmth of shared experience to demonstrate again the triumphs of personality over technique.

"It is the biggest responsibility of the seminaries to train men who will regard themselves not as incarnations of the ancient Atlas carrying the whole world around on their own shoulders, but as coaches of teams, directors of orchestras. "The work of the church was never intended to be kept exclusively for the professionals. It is the witness of history that in the affairs of God's kingdom the volunteers have steadily outstripped the regulars, the amateurs have repeatedly beaten the professionals.

"The true apostolic succession does not stem from the Temple but from the fishing boats. To that high calling all church members have been summoned," he said.

"It is one of the principal

Dr. Pearson revealed that in 150 years, the School has trained 500 missionaries, 600 who have become college presidents and professors, 600 more who have become chaplains, directors of religious education, and 600 who have become denominational officials. The total number of parish ministers graduated passes the 600 mark.

That Long, Long Deal?

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY
FEB. 22nd

FREE MINK COATS?
FREE WRIST WATCHES?
FREE YEAR'S GAS SUPPLY?

(If you are considering the purchase of a new car and are confused by present day give-away and no down payment ads, this message is for you. We'll start off by asking a question and if your own answer doesn't start you thinking, read no farther.)

SEE THE NEW 1955 CARS ON DISPLAY

QUESTION: Does it make sense to you that any automobile dealer is in business to sell his merchandise at a loss?

If you are naive enough to believe that he is, then his misleading ads are aimed at you.

PRIVATE FINANCE PLANS?

There is no such thing as a private finance plan. All dealers can give the same terms. Let's look at a couple of so called private finance plans!

NO DOWN PAYMENT! How about this one? The ad doesn't state that there will be two separate mortgages, one on the car and the other on your personal belongings. You won't miss any payments on this little arrangement, because even if your furniture has seen better days, it's all you have (and besides what will the neighbors think when that big truck drives up to haul it away?)

LOW-LOW-LOW PAYMENTS? Sure if your credit rating is good. Just remember the less you pay—the longer it takes. Did you notice the ad doesn't say for how many months? You'd better be sitting down when the salesman tells you.

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT SOME OF THE FACTS!

FACT NO. 1—All dealers purchase their cars from a manufacturer at the same price regardless of dealer size.

FACT NO. 2—All dealers purchase parts and accessories (radios, heaters, etc), at the same price! Therefore all dealers are on an equal footing when it comes to over-allowing on a used car or giving a cash discount on a no-trade deal. We repeat, no dealer—regardless of size gets an extra discount for volume deliveries.

Just plain good sense stops a dealer from selling a car below his cost. He is forced to stop discounting while he still has enough profit left to do three things:

1. Pay his overhead.
2. Make a reasonable return on his investment.

SO WHAT DOES THIS ADD UP TO?

The integrity of your dealer is your only guarantee of satisfaction. Again, does it make sense to you that he should feel under obligation if you take all of his profit in the way of an over-allowance on your old car or a discount?

BUT—Present day ads would lead you to believe that he will gladly give all his profits away, service your car, keep you in gas for a year and maybe toss in a mink coat? What do you think?

Anything mechanical, including a new car, needs a few adjustments during the breaking-in period. Let's suppose you turn on the key one cold morning and nothing happens. What do you need most right away? Those six giant size boxes of

3. Service and take care of the car you purchased, during its warranty period.

If he doesn't keep enough profit to take care of these items—where do you think he will cut down first?

BUT, you say: "The factory will take care of my car!"

WILL THEY?—Let's look at a few more facts: No automobile manufacturer has one single mechanic to repair your car. Every adjustment or repair must be done in a dealer's service department. If you doubt this statement—just write to the factory and tell them your troubles.

The letter in reply will read like this: Dear Mr. Jones . . . "We suggest that you take your car back to your selling dealer—who, we are sure, will be happy to correct any difficulty you might have."

Mother Fletcher's Egg Noodles you got free with the car or the immediate appearance of a factory-trained mechanic sent by a dealer who is proud of the new car you bought and wants to give you the service to which you are entitled?

Outside of a new house . . . a new car represents the largest investment you make. Why not give us a chance to prove to you that we can meet any deal you are offered, including the ridiculous financing plans if you insist. No one has a private or original plan, every dealer has them all. We just don't advertise them, but if you feel that a particular PRIVATE PLAN suits your purpose, come in and we'll gladly sign you up—and on the same terms advertised. Take our advice though and pay as much as you can a month—it's cheaper.

WHO SAYS YOU CAN'T BUY A LOW-PRICED CAR

OH, YES YOU CAN—We can deliver a LOW-PRICED 1955 AUTOMOBILE to you tomorrow. But let's be honest mister, you are the fellow who makes it expensive. In all probability you don't want that shiny little low-priced beauty. You want a lot of extra fancy chromium trim on the outside plus a two-tone paint job. You want foam rubber cushions and fancy upholstery on the inside plus tinted glass, automatic transmission, white-wall tires, radio, power brakes, electrically operated seats and windows and perhaps power steering. Then to top it off, you want enough extra horsepower to beat anyone away from the stop light. Mister, you've just added $836.30 to that LOW-PRICED car and it's now $2,586.30!

We're not being critical, we like those extras on our own car, but please remember—We still have for immediate delivery a lower priced car if you want it.

If you've read this far, thanks. Our only purpose is to let you know that you don't have to drive all over the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for a deal on a new 1955 AUTOMOBILE. We can meet any deal you get. Try us and see. Furthermore, we offer ourselves as your home town dealers, our modern service facilities and our factory-trained mechanics as home base for your new car. Remember—you just don't get something for nothing. So please, read all the ads, look for the hidden gimmick, check the deal and then come in and see us. We'll do our best to prove to you that the best place to buy your new 1955 AUTOMOBILE is from any one of us!

Sincerely,
The Newton Dealers Association

Newton Visiting Nurse Ass'n Members Witness Skit

"It all boils down to this: are you or are you not interested in public health?"

This was the crucial question faced by Mrs. Worthing L. West, in her role as a busy woman active in Newton affairs, in a skit presented for the board of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association at its monthly meeting February 14. The playlet was prepared and the parts taken by Mrs. West, and the mesladies Thomas H. Lanman, Charles E. Megargel, and Samuel E. Cutler, director the last three of whom portrayed dedicated members of the Board. In the course of the skit, they persuade Mrs. West that she could not only contribute to the cause of improved health and care of the sick by becoming a worker on the board, but would also derive great satisfaction from cooperating with public-spirited women from all parts of Newton on one of the many committees concerned with the support of the agency, its headquarters building, and its varied public services.

As the protagonists of this Red Feather Agency point out in dramatic terms, this community service envisages the maintenance of a sound health program from birth to old age for all the people of Newton. Beginning with instruction to expectant mothers, later with the care of babies and the counseling of their mothers in Well-Baby Conferences, it makes provision for the needs of all through bedside care and treatment, physical therapy, and health guidance, not overlooking those thoughtful services of comfort so necessary to the elderly, lonely, and bed-ridden.

In the course of the business meeting, it was revealed that the Agency's allotment from the Community Chest this year would be $2200 less than will be needed — because the Red Feather quota was not reached. Inasmuch as nursing services cannot be cut, so great is the need, the Finance Committee is looking for ways in which to make up the deficit.

The day-by-day work of the agency was described in very human terms by Miss Katherine MacDonald, executive director, and Miss Mary Jane La Fayette, staff nurse.

Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr., President, announced that Mrs. Leo Barry would represent the Board at the Institute to be held at the Boston University School of Social Work, March 23rd and 24th. Mrs. John T. Croghan, Mrs. H. Earl Burnham, and Mrs. Jones will also attend.

Appointments to the Personnel committee were: mesdames Roy G. Hoskins, chairman, Charles E. Megargel, Arthur Southwick, from the Board; Miss MacDonald and Miss Clare Power from the staff.

The March 14th meeting will be the annual meeting to be held at the regular time at the headquarters building on the grounds of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Self-confidence is a good trait, but be sure you are in a position to back it up.

Francis E. Willard Settlement

The Annual Meeting of the Francis E. Willard Settlement of Boston, was held on February 8 at the Ross-Worthington Home, 90 Worcester Lane, Waltham. Mrs. Everett C. Bryant has been chosen President of this 61 year old organization, succeeding Mrs. Joseph F. Wogan of Newton. Other Newton ladies who have been chosen to carry out the far-reaching work of the Settlement are: Mrs. Douglass B. Francis, Mrs. Maurice W. Dennison, Mrs. Earle F. Bliss, Mrs. Harry D. Lord, Mrs. Elmore I. MacPhie, Mrs. Paul J. Hartman and Mrs. Mortimer M. Prescott.

The Newton Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Joe W. Gerrity, has recently donated new draperies throughout the Ross-Worthington Home which just opened this year. Through the many bridge parties, fashion shows and parties the Auxiliary has run through the years they have been able to plan entertainment and parties for the women residing in the Settlement's homes, bringing them gifts at different times of the year. Also as a result of the Auxiliary's efforts they were able to carpet the large living room of the new Ross-Worthington Home.

Newtonville Garden Club

It is expected that members of the Newtonville Garden Club will take full advantage of Guest Day by having one or more guests at their meeting next Thursday at the Library Hall, for the timely and fascinating program on "Bulbs." Because bulbs and Spring are synonymous in the minds of garden lovers this sound-motion picture showing the glorious colors of the great variety of bulbs now familiar to all of us is a particularly welcome prelude of things to come in our own gardens. There will also be an opportunity to obtain authoritative information regarding bulbs in the question period following the meeting.

Mrs. L. J. Sullivan of Lakeview avenue will be hostess for Guest Day and the president, Mrs. H. H. Lounsbury, will preside over the meeting.

Auburndale Concert by Longines Symphonette Delights Audience

The Longines Symphonette, conducted by Misha Placido, was presented recently by Thomas L. Gill in association with Warren S. Freeman in the Totem Pole Ballroom in Auburndale.

The performance given for the benefit of the Auburndale P.T.A., was enthusiastically received by a large audience. The success of this venture is due to the efforts of Murray Both, ways and means committee chairman, and his staff of workers.

This world renowned orchestral group has long been familiar to radio listeners for its sustained excellence of fine musical presentations.

The program featured as soloist Lenard Lublow, violinist, and Richard Kay, cellist.

A. G. Asaff, President of the Auburndale P.T.A., introduced Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and Superintendent of Newton Schools, Harold B. Gores, who addressed the audience briefly during intermission. They expressed appreciation to those who had the foresight to bring entertainment of such high calibre to Newton.

It was felt that Mr. Gores echoed the opinion of those in attendance when he suggested that this presentation would be a forerunner of equally good programs to be arranged for future enjoyment by citizens of Newton.

At a nuptial mass in St. Anselm's Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Virginia Arlene Jansson became the bride of Mr. Herbert Gregory Behan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gregory Behan of Newton Centre. The Rev. Robert Ecker officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception at Hampshire House, New York City.

M.I.T. Alpha Tau Omega "Help Week" at Boston State Hospital

Fred Maguire of Newtonville, M.I.T. student member of Alpha Tau Omega chapter, announces that forty members rolled up their sleeves and showed Boston State Hospital in Mattapan what a fraternity "Help Week" means.

For eight hours Thursday and Friday, and for a half-day Saturday, February 10 through February 12, Alpha Tau Omega pledges and members washed windows; did electrical work; repainted TV sets; scrubbed paint; laid asphalt tile floors; fixed leaky faucets; and disc jockeyed on WBSH, the hospital's intro-mural radio station.

The first Help Week in 1952 in Boston focused on Boston State Hospital, largest mental hospital in the Commonwealth, where staff and patients welcome volunteers. The superintendent, Dr. Walter E. Barton, estimated that what the fraternity accomplished would take 13 porters one year to do!

The community service spirit of M.I.T. graduates, acquired as Alpha Tau Omega pledges in Cambridge, has spread throughout the world and will continue as Alpha Tau Omega men learn what Help Week tradition means.

National Alpha Tau Omega blazed the trail in substituting "Help Week" for "Hell Week" in initiations five years ago. They realized the community would better appreciate energy spent to improve the neighborhood than in pranks.

Four Walls

Suppose you were spending today in bed. You think you'd like that? But suppose you had spent yesterday in bed, and knew you'd be in the same place tomorrow, and many tomorrows? Look around you at the four walls of your bedroom and try to imagine how you would get through weeks and months of it.

There are hundreds of thousands of your fellow Americans facing this problem. They are the victims of chronic diseases such as tuberculosis. With modern drug and, in some instances, surgical treatment of tuberculosis, many patients can leave the hospital after a certain point in their treatment has been reached and finish their convalescence at home. These new developments in TB treatment are a good boon to TB patients and their families. Not only have they saved thousands of lives, but they have shortened the heartbreaking long separation of families that had to happen when rest in a TB hospital was practically the only successful way to treat TB.

Even when patients can leave the hospital early, there are special problems. The TB patient at home is still a patient. The new drugs have lessened the possibility that he may pass his disease on to other members of his family, but precautions against infection must still be taken. He may still need lots of rest, for the drugs can do no more than give his diseased lung a chance to heal itself.

There must be a restful atmosphere in the home. The patient must be protected from anxiety, because worry can seriously hinder his recovery. Well-meaning efforts of friends and relatives to "cheer him up" may do more harm than good. With all these problems, the family needs expert help in organizing the home so that the advantages of being at home can play their full part in speeding recovery. Help is available. The doctor, the public health nurse, social agencies in the community, and, of course, the local tuberculosis association stand ready to help TB patients and their families.

(This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Birthday Party Is Huge Success

With temperatures hovering slightly over the zero mark, over 270 parents and teachers turned out on Wednesday evening, February 2nd to celebrate Countryside School's second birthday. Square dances and waltzes to the tune of Earl Davis' orchestra were enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee. The parents also had an opportunity to observe the gala birthday decorations that graced the halls and foyer, all of which were done by pupils of Countryside.

The children held their celebration in the afternoon, by attending a Punch and Judy show, put on by John Slison, after which refreshments were served.

The following were the lucky winners of door prizes at the dance: S. Fentin, J. McLean, A. Roberg, W. Karver, L. Alperin, R. Schwartz, A. Levine, G. Nelson, K. Goldberg, R. Mann, R. Rosenthal, I. Feinzig, B. Bergman, M. Toney, M. Bloom, D. Bishop, H. Morris, S. Barron, L. Fentin, Dr. Singleton, and H. Winn.

College Notes

Miss Katherine Hennig, daughter of Mrs. Winifred Hennig, 1839 Washington street, who is enrolled as a sophomore at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, was recently elected treasurer of the Alpha Sigma Delta Literary Society. Miss Hennig is also active in Student Fellowship and is a member of the College Choir.

Sorority pledging for freshman women at the University of Massachusetts was held recently.

Pledged to Chi Omega was Marsha G. Samoylenko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory J. Samoylenko, 37 Duffield road, Auburndale.

George H. Flynn, a junior at New Hampton School, New Hampton, New Hampshire, was recently elected vice-president of his class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Flynn of 291 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands.

Miss Jeanne Rudofsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman H. Rudofsky, 9 Duxbury road, has just been elected secretary-treasurer of her class at Boston University, School of Social Work. Miss Rudofsky was graduated from Jackson College, in 1953, where she was elected to Alpha Kappa Delta, National Honorary Sociological Fraternity. She is now associated with Family Service Association of Greater Boston.

Three men from Newton who are students at Babson Institute of Business Administration, Wellesley, have just been honored by being named to the Dean's list. These students are Joseph M. Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Clarke of 46 Randlett park, West Newton; Alan Golub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Golub of 345 Dudley road, and Edward J. McCabe, son of Mrs. Edward J. McCabe of 65 Boyd street.

Leon C. Martel, Jr., of 56 Gay street, Newtonville, designed the huge snow sculpture setting and lighting arrangements for the annual Outdoor Evening Ice Show at Dartmouth College's Winter Carnival this year. Martel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Martel, attended Newton High School and is now in his senior year at Dartmouth. He has chosen philosophy as his major field of study. He is active with the crew team and the Outing Club Ski Patrol at the College. He also served as chairman of its dormitory committee and member of the Interdormitory Council.

The committee of prominent Bostonians, formed to obtain funds to restore historic North Church's steeple which toppled in a hurricane August 31 last year, has accepted a unique offer from Colgate-Palmolive Company, whereby box tops of Fab detergent will be redeemed not only in Boston but throughout all New England this month for money to be contributed to the North Church restoration fund.

Colgate-Palmolive Company will pay 5c for each top of any box of Fab turned in by users. Leading New England chain stores and independent grocers are cooperating to collect box tops received during the month of January and send them to the Reuben H. Donnelly Corporation in Boston where they will be separated and counted.

The old North Church Fund urges all persons interested in helping to restore the historic steeple to participate. Fab box tops may be handed in at New England grocery and chain stores. Tops may also be sent directly to Colgate-Palmolive Company, 339 Park Square Building, 31 St. James avenue, Boston 16.

Located at 193 Salem street in Boston, the old North Church was immortalized by Longfellow in his poem describing Paul Revere's midnight ride, the signal for which—"one if by land, two if by sea"—was the two lamps hung in the church's belfry.

Crossing the street in mid-block, jay walking, is the most dangerous pedestrian action according to Triple A's safety director, Mrs. Frances B. Russ. 41% of pedestrians killed in traffic last year were guilty of this violation of the safety code. Adults would be wise to heed the message as well, said Mrs. Russ.

Teachers, school safety patrols and the police have done a tremendous job in the past 30 years in reducing the number of child traffic fatalities and injuries in going to and from school, but parents should also talk to their children about the importance of crossing only at corners said Mrs. Russ. Sound safety rules should continually be impressed on children—when playing, going on errands or going to and from church and the movies.

Do It Yourself House and Garden Tips

BY ROBERT C. McCANN

The most ambitious of you home owners probably fixed and repainted your screens last fall, when you took them down, but most didn't. The job should be started now, so it will be finished before your garden duties interfere. Hardware and lumber dealers know this and have screen paint and hardware ready now.

Loose corners on the screen frames should be repaired first. Each month a different safety message is impressed on school children through Triple A's safety posters and through lesson guides used in classroom instruction. The posters are drawn by the children themselves, all first prize winners in the American Automobile Association's poster contest held annually throughout the nation's schools.

Mrs. Russ suggests that parents find out what the monthly traffic safety theme is and discuss it with children at home. In this way the poster message will have a double impact on the child.

Girls', Teens' Spring Styles Feature the Long Torso Look

Prepared by the Fashion Merchandising Department of Women's Wear Daily

A great fashion program is in the making for young girls and teen-agers for the spring season. Everything in the design realm devoted to the young set points to news in silhouette, color, fabric, according to the findings of Women's Wear Daily's fashion editors.

This season it is the long torso and slimmer lines that take the headlines. This new elongated torso silhouette outlines the young girl's figure dramatically and releases pleats or fullness in the skirt. It extends, too, to suits and coats and even has its expression in sweaters and knit overblouses.

Slimmer lines on their way in, too, are especially noticed in coats and suits. The strong acceptance of the boy coat for fall strengthens its position for spring. Coat styling is 50 per cent fitted, 50 per cent loose, but almost all are straighter so that nipped fullness is gone.

A print season in dresses also is well on its way in. Print designers have contributed gay, novel and amusing patterns in which etched motifs, architectural outlines, harlequin diamonds, unusual stripes and bright blossoms will attract attention.

SPRING COATS
The Easter coat will be identified by silhouette changes, fabric variation, softer colors, notes Women's Wear Daily. Newest identification marks of the spring coat are straighter lines, fabric variety, some attention to longer torso effect and a revived interest in the boy coat.

The boy coat is adopting soft detailing so that it is feminine rather than completely boyish. Its general effect for spring is concerned with novelty buttoning, soft pockets, often a back belt.

Toppers are being designed in short Eton lengths or finger tip versions, and while straighter, they often show pleated backs. They are done in washable nylon or Orlon fleece, in white or pastels.

In the fabric spotlight, shetlands return after a long absence in every size and in a wide choice of pastels and looks right for the boy coat revival. Lightweight tweeds are popular; nubby tweeds are soft looking in pastel tones; donegals with variegated nubs also are scheduled in pastels; tweeds

There are at least a dozen different types of corner fasteners on the market. Most of these can be used providing the frames haven't rotted. There are corner braces, angle braces, scotch fasteners, chevron fasteners and chair braces, to name a few. You can look at all of these at your hardware store and decide which would be most applicable to your screens.

Unfortunately, loose corners often mean the wooden frame has started to rot, usually from lack of paint. You may still repair these screens and extend the life of them at least a few years by proceeding as follows. Drill a quarter inch hole about two and one half inches deep on the edge of the screen moulding. Drill this hole at the corner, where the two frame pieces meet, so the hole will be of about equal length in each piece. This hole must be drilled while the screen is held so that the corners are square, preferably in a vise or clamp. Next, saturate hole and corner seam with a water-resisting wood glue. Now tap a quarter inch birch dowel, about two inches long, in the hole. One dowel, which is three feet long, costs about ten cents and will repair about eighteen corners.

Screen paint is made thin for the wire mesh and should be used on the steel wire type. You can buy a screen paint applicator for twenty-five cents; it will do a better job much faster. Of course, it isn't necessary to paint the copper or plastic screens.

Oilmen drilling the deepest well in the world—in California—took a routine "bottom-hole" temperature at 20,003 feet and found it to be 334 degrees Fahrenheit, more than hot enough to cook a meal.

with overchecks play up color. A navy spring is in the air, especially in the 7-14 range. Nevertheless, pastels are popular, and the leader of these is pale blue. Pink, beige, aqua and maize span all fabric ranges. Heliotrope, spring violet, mauve and lavender coatings are the season's pet.

BOX-JACKET SUITS

Suits highlight the boxy jacket with back interest in low belts, tabs and pleats. Slim skirts look new with these jackets and are often in contrasting fabrics, among which spring weight tweeds are significant. Fitted jackets are teamed more often with full skirts, many of which reveal trimmed petticoats.

Women's Wear Daily points out that the long torso look is influencing young suits this spring in fitted as well as boxy jackets. Pocket flaps are placed low on the jacket to emphasize interest at the hipline.

DRESSES

The spring dress for Easter is fresh and gay with prints preparing for a strong season. Pleats return to popularity and a wealth of cotton blends offers easy upkeep.

Silhouette excitement centers on the long torso or the long torso effect, in all size ranges. Interpretations range from the straight, unmolded line to basques and low hipline treatments. Cuff bandings play an important role and the draped skirt, low around the hips, is back after a long absence. Skirts are flared, gathered or pleated below the elongated torso.

Pleats, with a "French touch", are real fashion news for spring, says Women's Wear Daily. Flared skirts often add a flounce at the hemline. Pleated collars and cuffs and detailing or bodices illustrate the importance of pleats.

Prints are back in a big way with large bold patterns predominating. Florals, clowns, geometrics, leaves and houses among numerous others are gay and colorful. White background prints, previously worn only in summer, are introduced for spring. Smaller prints on black ground continue "young black" into spring.

Prints lend a gay chapter to ensembles, for the ensemble is one of the big fashions in young wear for spring, with the 3-6 group as ensemble minded as the teen-ager.

Six Rules For The "Plant-It-Yourself" Fan

The "plant-it-yourself" trend in home gardening has grown rapidly in recent years, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Many more home owners are poring over nursery catalogues for tips on planting and beautifying their yards.

The following six rules designed to assure both happier gardening and more beautiful properties are promulgated by the Association, as follows:

1. Start with a good plan. It is often said that "it is not a home until it is planted" but it is just as true that "beauty is planned." Usually, a rough drawing to scale of the property, showing size of lot, shape and height of buildings, as well as locations of walks and drives and other permanent features, can be taken to a landscape nurseryman who will show what and where to plant.
2. Plant one area at a time according to the plan, getting the "feel" of what you want as you go along.
3. Take advantage of the natural features of your landscape by standing in different locations and observing the natural features of spots that need a touch of color, or evergreen treatment or screen to shut out the least desirable view, etc.
4. Plant things that do not require much maintenance.
5. At the same time give proper care to what you already have planted, as you proceed with your planting plan.
6. Consult with other successful home gardeners in your neighborhood, and observe their properties for hints you can use.

The gradual planting and beautifying of the home property can be an enjoyable pastime for the whole family. Outdoor living can be much more delightful in a planted setting of roses, flowering shrubs of many kinds, as well as flowering and fruiting trees, with open spaces of good lawn. It is not only a luxurious way to live, but more healthful, comfortable and satisfying.

What Shall We Eat . . . French-Toasted Sandwiches

up sandwiches that is sure to win family approval or rate high on your guests' list of favorite foods. Instead of an ordinary tuna fish or cheese sandwich for your home-from-school crowd, tempt them with this unusual hot sandwich for lunch.

Slices of sharp American cheese are added to a true sandwich for a different flavor combination. For extra goodness and nutritive value the sandwich is dipped in a milk and egg mixture and French-toasted in butter.

When the bread is evenly browned on both sides and the cheese begins to melt this luncheon or after-school snack treat is ready to eat. To save time for the cook, these sandwiches can be made ahead of serving time and refrigerated. Then at the last minute they may be French-toasted and served golden brown and piping hot.

For contrast with hot sandwiches serve cold, crisp celery "brooms," bread and butter pickles, and green onions. Pour tall glasses of cold milk or egg nog for the beverage.

Tuna-Cheese Sandwiches are good anytime, but especially smart to serve during the Lenten season.

FRENCH-TOASTED TUNA CHEESE SANDWICHES

- 1 7-oz. can tuna flakes
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 12 slices bread
- 6 slices American cheese
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Combine tuna flakes, lemon juice, celery, and mayonnaise.

5. At the same time give proper care to what you already have planted, as you proceed with your planting plan.

Newton High School

At Newton High School, a comparatively new system of Honor Study Halls is now in progress. In these Honor Study Halls, students study without teacher supervision. There are now eleven of these Honor Study Hall rooms. In each block, except D, two are now in operation, and there are sixteen to twenty-two students in each room.

The students set up their own organization. The student committee selects according to character and trustworthiness. Miss Connie Glazer is the chairman of this committee.

The purpose of Honor Study Hall is to put the students on their own and give them initiative and responsibility. In the future, more Honor Study Halls will be formed, if the students remain interested.

All-State Chorus
For the past five years boys and girls from all sections of Massachusetts have been forming an All-State Chorus. Orchestra and Band, sponsored by the Massachusetts Music Educators Association. This year Newton has been chosen to be the guest town for the chorus. Mr. Merritt, the faculty adviser for the students and Mrs. John R. Swanton, Jr., the PTSA chairman of the housing committee, have done a wonderful job in housing over two hundred students. The students will be here for three days, February 23rd, 24th, and 25th, giving their concert on Friday the 25th, at Symphony Hall.

Rifle Team
The High School Rifle Team, by virtue of its victory over Acton last Friday is now tied for first place in its division of the newly-formed Middlesex Scholastic Rifle League.

Paced by Art Norley's 179 out of a possible 200, Newton obtained its highest total of the season so far—842 out of a possible 1000. Captain Norley was followed by Pete Guagenty's 173. High for Acton was R. Nylander with a score of 170.

N'ville Man Cited By Milk Company

William H. Sullivan of 355 Crafts street, Newtonville, was honored recently for his 45 years of service with H. P. Hood and Sons at a special luncheon held at the company's plant in Boston.

Sullivan, one of 10 employees of the company with records ranging from 20 to 45 years honored at the luncheon, joined the Hood organization during the month of February, 1910.

Now employed as sales manager of the milk firm's Water-ton plant, Sullivan received a gold service pin with jewel from Gilbert H. Hood Jr., vice-president and treasurer of Hood's.

At Founder's Week

Rev. Proctor L. Davis of 63 Lombard street, Newton, recently attended the 49th annual Founder's Week conference of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. The Institute has trained 56,000 men and women for Christian service since its establishment 68 years ago.

...Spotlight On Weeks...

The Seventh Grade
Practically everything that the seventh grade is studying in Social Studies this year is in our environment. For example: exploration, colonial times, and segregation, all of which should be of the utmost importance to every American. All these are being studied to show the American pupil what is going on now, and what happened in this world years ago.

The seventh grade is also having a membership drive to raise money. The Cabinet considered the financial state of each student before setting the price of twenty-five cents per ticket.

By Bob Abramson

The Eighth Grade

The eighth grade Cabinet is preparing the first issue of the Eighth Grade Speaker, a grade newspaper. The editorial staff consists of Hal Cohen and Bob Stearns, co-editors; Joel Myerson, business manager; Howie Levine and Kenny Novack, feature editors; Billy Sweet and Liz Lubell, sports editors; and Mr. Kingsley, faculty advisor.

The first issue of the Eighth Grade Speaker will be published early in March. It is free to those with eighth grade memberships.

By Judie Becker

—O—

The date has been set for the Sadie Hawkins which the ninth grade Cabinet is sponsoring. It is to be March 4th.

The date has also been set for the Student Talent Show, which is to be held on March 15th.

...News of the Day...

Three games were played at the Day gymnasium last Friday against Belmont Junior High School. The Day 7th grade and Junior Varsity teams won by scores of 9-0 and 34-27 respectively but the Varsity lost a well played contest, 48-36. This Friday Bigelow Junior High will be at Day for two games.

On Friday, February 4th, the Varsity Hop was held in the school auditorium. Popular Stan Richards, local radio and TV disc jockey, directed the dancing. The crowd in attendance was large, one of the best in several years. The hard work put in by the various committees was evident in the decorations, the refreshments and the hospitality which was extended to all those who attended.

During past weeks a most helpful and interesting experience has been enjoyed by our Student Council members. They have been visiting, for a day, the three other junior high schools in Newton. In this way they have been gaining insights and ideas concerning the Student Council ideas and the general school life of these other schools.

Our weekly assembly concerned dental health. We were most interestingly addressed by Dr. Snyder of Tufts Dental School and pictures were shown concerning the dangers resulting from improper care of the teeth.

A most interesting elective for 8th grade boys has just been set up. It is a Chef's Club under the direction of the Home Economics department. Interest in this elective among our 8th grade boys has been high. They will learn basic culinary skills which should serve them in good stead in the future.

Memorial School

At the Memorial School in Oak Hill, a recreational program for junior and senior high school students is now in operation. Every Friday evening that there is school, from 7 to 9 o'clock, games and dances are held. Some of these games are basketball, volleyball, newcomb, flagball and dodgeball. Dances are held off and on through the year. Only those students living in the Oak Hill area are encouraged to come.

Do You Know The Answers To Arthritis?

Each year 23,000 Massachusetts citizens are stricken with arthritis and rheumatism, yet the actual crippling of most of them could be stopped if they could get good care—in time. Time has rolled round again for the annual fund-raising drive of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation. So many of us have a touch of the painful, crippling disease that we can more readily understand what it must mean to those who are already victims. The Foundation, eager to answer any questions you may have about arthritis, puts out the following 10 questions for general information:

1—May arthritis develop from an injury? 2—Do acid foods cause arthritis? 3—Do more women than men have arthritis? 4—Are some types of arthritis curable? 5—Does arthritis tend to run in families? 6—Does arthritis always show up in X-rays? 7—Is aspirin a good drug for arthritis?

8—Does arthritis always cripple? 9—Has cortisone proved worthless for arthritis? 10—Do infants and children get arthritis?

ANSWERS
1—Yes; 2—No; 3—Yes; 4—Yes; 5—Yes; 6—No; 7—Yes; 8—No; 9—No; 10—Yes.

Car Owners Can Save On Income Tax

It's not too early for car owners to start figuring on the money they can save on their Federal income tax says the Massachusetts division of the American Automobile Association.

Based on rulings of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the Triple-A lists these allowable deductions for motorists who itemize their expenses on Form 1040:

Registration fee, driver's license fee, personal property (excise) tax; state gas taxes, passenger car expenses incident to maintenance and depreciation in proportion to the business use of the car; interest on money borrowed for the purchase of a car used in business.

Other permissible deductions are: casualty loss not reimbursed by insurance; loss on the sale of your car but not the loss on a trade-in; premiums paid for automobile liability insurance apportioned to the business use of your car.

1955 DeSoto Roomier

Although the 1955 DeSoto automobiles are only 1/4 inch wider than predecessor models, hip room in the four-door sedan has been increased from 61.5 inches to 64.3 inches. At 64.6 inches, the rear seat is 4.5 inches wider than before.

Proper Care Can Prevent Home Accidents

Childish curiosity mixed with electricity produces many sudden tragedies around the home.

A survey just completed by the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company shows a total of more than 40,000 accidents yearly in which children under five are killed or seriously injured as a result of home electrical accidents.

The greater share of these mishaps originate from open type baseboard outlets and from lamp or other floor cords that are easily reached by children. The second largest group of hazards result from toasters and other appliances left connected after use. Most fatal shocks are produced by children poking bobby pins, tableware or similar metal objects into outlets and appliances. Dangerous also are frayed extension cords whose conductors short circuit or provide contact when handled by toddlers.

The Institute lists the following precautions for parents: Provide covering for baseboard outlets that cannot be removed by tiny hands. Tamper-proof outlets now on the market provide maximum safety.

Inspect all cords to make sure that none have exposed wires or loose plug connections. Replace defective cords at once. Conceal or cover all extension cords that must be placed on the floor. Disconnect all appliances immediately after use, and make sure that children cannot reach them while in operation.

Make certain that connecting plugs are tightly engaged when inserted into an outlet; the prongs should not be visible.

Never leave wiring exposed or unattended while electric repairs and changes are being made; also never work on live circuits.

Do not leave children alone in rooms where portable electric heaters are in use.

Remember that children normally cannot withstand as much electric current as adults. A shock from ordinary house current may be fatal even to an adult. As an extra precaution, parents should know how to give artificial respiration in case it is needed to revive a victim of electrical shock.

Social Security

Q. — I went to work January 1, 1952, at the age of 61 1/2 years. September 30, 1954 I will have completed 18 months of continuous work. Is that enough quarters to enable me to apply for Social Security when I am 65 years old, and how much could I expect to receive under the new law?

A. — I am married and my average monthly wage is $60.00. If you continue to work until you are 65 you will receive $33.00 a month based on an average monthly wage of $60.00. Your wife at 65 will be entitled to wife's benefits or one-half of your monthly benefit amount.

Q. — Earned $9,713.18 since Social Security started. Have only 19 quarters made. Will be 65 in 1959. Am now unable to work. Am single. What will I get at 65 and will my sister get anything for funeral expenses?

A. — You will get at least $30.00 a month at 65 as you will be fully insured in 1959, and a lump-sum of at least $90.00 will be payable to the person who pays your burial bill. However, if you are disabled you should contact the Social Security of-

Play "broke"

The smart young couple in the above picture have plenty of money. But they play a game with it. So they think they can't afford that horrible lamp.

This couple keep themselves comparatively "broke" by putting a sizeable chunk of their income each month in Watertown Federal—QUICK! This makes their pile of spending money seem small.

You can't have a better budget plan than to save first at Watertown Federal—and spend second.

Newton Sports

Newton's Tech Tournery-bound cagers apparently lost their chance to snare the Suburban League basketball crown when Waltham upset the local boys 70-61 Friday night, but returned to the winning track Tuesday by running away and hiding from Arlington in the final period for a 67-50 romp . . . Lem Boyle's tracksters turned in another rout in the final round of the Metropolitan Track League, swamping B. C. High by a 56-21 count. The sourest note of all was sounded Friday night at the Boston Arena when feeble Cambridge Latin won its first game of the year over the toothless Tigers . . . A last-period surge by Waltham snapped Newton's win streak at six games and apparently handed the league title to defending champion Rindge Tech, which has lost only two frays—one to Newton. The Orange and Black took an early lead, saw it vanish into a 7-point deficit in the third quarter and hopped back in front by a single marker entering the final canto before succumbing to Waltham's last-minute drive . . . Part of the loss can be explained by an ankle injury suffered by starting guard Levon "Mouse" Kasarjian. The fiery little speedster missed the Cambridge Latin game earlier in the week and was only able to play some of the last half Friday . . . "Mouse" again saw action in the last half of the Arlington win, and seemed to add the spark necessary for the Orange and Black to turn a hard-fought battle into a lopsided victory.

Local fans will have their last chance to see the Tigers in action in their own gym tomorrow (Friday) night as the Orange and Black winds up its regular season against traditional rival Brookline . . . Although Brookline has managed to win only three games this year, it nearly upset Newton the first time around. Three foul shots in the closing seconds by Al Rogan turned apparent defeat into a one-point win.

Rogan took honors for the most spectacular basket of the year for the Tigers in the Arlington encounter. With five seconds to play in the half and Newton three points behind, Rogan halted just after passing midcourt and let fly with a high set shot. The ball arched upward in an almost perfect half-circle about 30 feet above the floor, scraped into the hoop, bounded around inside the frame like a pair of dice in a hot hand, and finally dropped through as the buzzer sounded. Midway through the third period, the Tigers ran in six points within 45 seconds to dissolve a 39-39 deadlock. The period ended with Newton out in front 47-43, but that was the end of Arlington . . . Holding Arlington to only six points, the Tigers tossed in 20 that final quarter. A fast break finally began clicking, and the Orange forwards started to pick off rebounds to make the win possible. Also, Kasarjian covered the key man in Arlington's attack like the proverbial blanket, completely disrupting the Spy Ponders offense, while adding a few key points of his own . . . The only thing that kept the game close for nearly three periods was Newton's almost complete lack of rebounding. Arlington was getting two and three shots at the basket at a time, while the Tigers would get only one and then lose the ball . . . With a little more consistency, the Orange and Black could prove a pleasant surprise in the forthcoming Tech Tournery. Although not champions of the Suburban League, the Tigers qualified through their over record of 11-4, well above the .650 average required to enter.

The Tiger skaters returned to their every-other-game-a-bad-one routine against Cambridge Latin while the Orange hoopsters were getting their ears boxed at Waltham . . . Woefully weak Cambridge, which had only a tie against Newton to show in eight previous league games, came back from a 1-0 deficit to upset Newton and move out of the cellar.

Newton missed enough scoring chances in the first period to salt the game away for good, but the Tigers' season-long failure to capitalize on glittering opportunities kept the game scoreless until 6:21 of the opening period when Cambridge was short-handed . . . Pete Fitzgerald latched onto a wide shot from the stick of brother Paul and dropped it out in front of the net to Gerry Butterworth. Gerry fired straight into the goalie's pads but picked up his own rebound unmolested and lifted a tally into the open cage . . . Although the Tigers held a wide territorial margin from then on, they couldn't enter the scoring column, while Cambridge blasted in a pair of goals in the second stanza. The equalizing score came on a ricochet, billiard-type drive which seemed to go off or through half-a-dozen players before wiggling into the cage. The winning tally was clearly earned when two Cantabs broke in on Capt. Paul Fitzgerald. Paul took one out of the play, but the other, Ron McGinnity—and you'll be hearing plenty from this boy when the baseball season starts—came in alone to easily outmaneuver goaltender Brian Dooley . . . In the Met Track League, Newton captured seven of the nine events in swamping B. C. High. Tiger point-winners were led by John Simcock, who won both the hurdles and high-jump. Peerless Mel Shine paced a Newton sweep in the shotput with a 50-foot, 7-inch heave, and the Tigers also took all three point-winning places in the 50-yard dash, 300-yard run, mile run and the hurdles.

What Shall We Eat... Cold Weather Cooking Spree

"Cooking is more fun than ever in cold weather," says our smart homemaker. When the wind howls and the snow flies, it's time for a cooking spree. There's nothing like the excitement of a new recipe to banish thoughts of the weather. Next time the snow or frost keeps you in, don your prettiest apron and prepare Chocolate Steamed Pudding. It will warm the kitchen with the fragrance of good food, delight you with its newness, and provide a tantalizing surprise for Dad and the children.

If you don't have a mold for steaming pudding, use greased cans or preserving glasses. Fill the mold two-thirds full and cover tightly with two thicknesses of waxed paper or aluminum foil. Hold cover fast and tightly with an elastic band. Put the molds on a wire rack or cake rack in the bottom of a kettle you can cover tightly. Add boiling water to about half the depth of the mold. With enough water and a tight fitting cover, you don't have to lift the cover during the steaming period. Keep the water at the boiling point.

When pudding is done take off the covers and let it stand a few minutes before unmolding. Puddings can be kept warm in the oven until serving time.

CHOCOLATE STEAMED PUDDING
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder.
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 cup milk

Finance, Transportation Are Major State Problems

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON — The two major problems which seem to be plaguing Massachusetts legislators are those concerned with keeping its household accounts in line and secondly the improvement and continuance of mass transportation.

The House Ways and Means Committee has already set a pattern for continuous checking of income and outgo by state agencies in a hope to set up more rigid controls over the spending of public funds. House Chairman John J. Toomey is dedicated to a program for proper housekeeping at the state level.

The economic importance of adequate and modernized transportation has been greatly emphasized by the public discussion of railroad mergers in New England, renewal of demands for agreements to establish zones of operation for commuter service in the Metropolitan area, efforts to promote railroad transportation with lighter and more attractive vehicles—and the need for law to allow Industrial and Development Commissions in cities and towns underwrite expenses for railroad sidings to industrial areas when the railroads do not feel justified in spending private capital for such extensions.

In addition, the surface transit companies—the bus lines which are neighborhood affairs and serve specific villages and communities of the state—have pressing problems to be solved if they are to survive. It is apparent that more legislative attention must be given to readjustment of economic factors such as these if the Commonwealth is to continue as a solvent agency for the citizenry.

BUDGET
The House Ways and Means Committee is settled down to work over the $305,000,000 minimum budget for the state. The program for balancing revenues to expenditures is the knottiest question before the group.

The Committee on Transportation has been given back the outline for a general long-term plan for development of a public transportation to meet requirements of modern day movement of persons and goods.

The proposal for development of a 10 year plan was rejected a few days ago by the Committee but when it reached the House of Representatives the membership sent the measure back for further consideration.

Rep. John W. Costello of Boston, author of the proposal, called for study of mass transportation needs as they exist today and will exist in the future and said that if examination had been made of the problem 10 years ago "The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway and the Worcester Street Railway might not have had their recent difficulties."

"Perhaps" Costello said "Boston traffic and parking problems would be less serious than they are if there had been a system of long range planning. It is entirely possible that Logan International Airport would aid teachers and police safety officers to impress this important safety message upon the children.

Triple A's safety director, Mrs. Frances B. Russ, urges parents to discuss the same message with their children so that the slogan will have a double impact. She pointed out that "Look Both Ways Before Crossing" is a cardinal rule of pedestrian traffic safety, and no matter whether a child is crossing under the guidance of a School Safety Patrol member, a policeman, or with a green light, it is still of the utmost importance to check traffic conditions.

Mrs. Russ said that she wished very much that more adults would also heed the safety message. "You are never completely safe when you are walking in the same area that must also be shared by automobiles. Your best protection is to cross where you are supposed to," she said, "but even if you have the right of way, you should always look both ways."

AAA traffic safety posters, which carry a different safety message to school children throughout the nation each month, are designed by the children themselves, winners in the American Automobile Association's annual safety poster contest. Massachusetts school children are now working on posters that will compete in the 1959 contest in which they will have an opportunity to win cash prizes and both regional and national recognition. Bay State entries will be submitted to the Massachusetts division AAA headquarters, 485 Boylston Street, Boston, not later than March 1.

There probably is plenty of room at the top, but the fellow who burns the midnight oil will never reach it.

It is unfortunate for the man who has neither mind enough to speak well, nor judgment to be silent.

WOMEN VOTERS IN OBJECTION TO "SELF-PERPETUATING" PRACTICES

Gala 'Welcome Home' Planned Sunday for Tenley Albright

For the second time in three years, Newton residents will welcome home 19-year-old Tenley Albright Sunday afternoon, climaxing the Newton Centre girl's recapture of the Women's World Figure Skating Championship in Vienna last week.

Msgr. O'Kane St. Bernard's New Pastor

Rt. Rev. Bernard S. O'Kane, formerly pastor of St. Pius Church in Lynn, became pastor of St. Bernard's Parish in West Newton Monday, succeeding the late Rt. Rev. John J. Crane.

A native of Brookline, Msgr. O'Kane has been pastor of the Lynn church since early 1942. He was named assistant director of the Holy Name Society for Essex Deanery in 1944, and was appointed dean of the Lynn District three years ago. He was raised to the rank of domestic prelate with the title right reverend monsignor Feb. 21, 1954.

He studied for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and was ordained at the seminary on January 10, 1914, by Cardinal O'Connell. His first assignment was as an assistant at Our Lady of Grace Parish in Chelsea.

Msgr. O'Kane returned to his home town in 1916 to become an assistant at Assumption Parish where he remained for 17 years. In 1933 he was named chaplain at Regis College, and four years later received his first pastorate at St. Bridget's of Abington. He remained at the latter post until his assignment to the Lynn church.

To Resign As Exec. Director Of Health Ass'n

A full-fledged parade will be staged for the young skater starting at 3 p.m., and after her triumphal tour through the city, she will be officially welcomed home by city and state officials at City Hall ceremonies.

At present the Radcliffe premed student, who hopes to follow in the footsteps of her father, Dr. Hollis Albright, a noted surgeon, is giving skating exhibitions in Europe. Her schedule calls for exhibitions in Dusseldorf, Dortmund and Mannheim, Germany, and a pair in Paris.

Members of the committee planning the welcome contacted the youthful world titlist by transatlantic telephone last week in Germany, and she stated that she plans to leave by airplane for Boston sometime Saturday, arriving Sunday morning.

Plans for the welcome are being drawn up by Stuart M. Spaulding, named chairman of the welcoming committee by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., and a large group of volunteer citizens.

The committee includes: Denholm M. Jacobs, Massachusetts Department of Commerce; John J. Wilson Jr., president, Boston Skating Club; Miss Ruth Kimball Wilkie, president of the Newton Figure Skating Club; Joseph J. Ward, assistant parade marshal; Walter A. Brown, president, Boston Garden Association; Wendell R. Bauckman, president, Newton Board of Aldermen.

John B. Rubenstein, president, Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Resign As Exec. Director Of Health Ass'n

The Executive Committee of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association at their February 16 meeting accepted with much regret the resignation effective March 1, of their Executive Director, Mrs. Ruth Raphael Levens.

Mrs. Levens, who has been affiliated with the Association for over four years, was lauded by the Committee for her outstanding leadership in the tuberculosis control field and in the growth of the Newton Association. Under Mrs. Levens' direction, the Association has won state and national recognition for its organization, program, and efficient management of the Association and its annual Christmas Seal Sale campaign. Among the many achievements accomplished under Mrs. Levens' guidance were the expansion and reorganization of the Association's rehabilitation program, volunteer system, and administration.

Her professional affiliations included the American Public Health Association; National Rehabilitation Association; Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Conference of Tuberculosis Workers; Newton Executive Group; and membership in the planning committee for cooperation with the Massachusetts Association for Mental

Blast Aldermen Retiring Before Terms Expire

A strong protest was levied this week by the League of Women Voters against the practice of aldermen resigning just before their terms expire so that an appointee will have the advantage of being a member of the board at the next election.

This practice, wrote Mrs. Seymour S. Getter, president of the local Women Voters unit, "is not a democratic procedure and makes for a self-perpetuating board." She wrote that voters regard this filling of artificial vacancies as a violation of "the principles of good government."

Mrs. Getter noted "growing concern" throughout the city that several members of the present Board do not plan to serve after this year and may resign before completing their terms.

Under the terms of the city's charter, the aldermen choose a replacement whenever there is a vacancy on the board. This gives whoever is elected the advantage in the local election of being designated as an alderman, although he was never elected directly by the people. That this is an advantage is undeniable, since only rarely is a city official voted out by Newton residents.

In her letter to The Newton Graphic, Mrs. Getter declared, "The Newton League of Women Voters has in the past protested the practice of aldermen resigning just prior to the expiration of their term of office. When the voters go to the polls at the following election, the person who has been appointed to fill the unexpired term has the advantage of being the present ward alderman and seems to be invariably elected."

In 1953, the LWW president continued, the Newton League undertook a review of the procedures for filling aldermanic vacancies as its year's study project.

NVC Asks Work for Disabled Veterans at Polling Places

Employment of "disabled American veterans, wives of totally incapacitated veterans or widows of deceased members of the nation's armed forces at Newton's polling places was urged this week by the Newton Veterans' Council.

In letters sent to John B. Stetson and William E. O'Halloran, chairmen of the Newton Republican and Democratic City Committees respectively, NVC Chairman William J. Maloney forwarded the suggestion, made originally by Edward L. Bannon, delegate from the Sgt. Eugene Daley Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The Newton Veterans' Council is heartily in accord with the spirit of this delegate's suggestion," the letter read, "and asks that you and your committee study this suggestion and take it under advisement."

The complete text of the letter, which was drawn up by Vincent J. Tuscher, delegate from the Lt. Stanton Amesbury Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, follows:

"It has been suggested to the Newton Veterans' Council by one of its delegates that, wherever feasible, persons selected by your group to serve as workers at the city polling places in all future elections, be taken from the ranks of Newton registered voters who are

Mayor Asks Bells, Whistles Sound Noon Call to Prayer

Tomorrow (Friday) has been proclaimed as World Day of Prayer in Newton by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., who urged everyone to participate in services at 2 p.m. in Second Church or to pause for prayer at noon.

"I further urge," the mayor's proclamation read, "every church or business having bells, chimes or whistles to sound them at 12 o'clock noon for the observance of the call to prayer."

The complete text of the proclamation follows: "Whereas, The General Department of the United Church Women of The National Council of The Churches of Christ in the United States of America has designated Friday, February 25, 1955, as World Day of Prayer; and

"Whereas, The Newton Council of Church Women and others are cooperating on this occasion in the furtherance of the theme 'Abide In Me' (John 15:4); and

"Whereas, Christians, as individuals, witness to their belief that prayer is a world power for good; as a group, they unite to strengthen this power for good in the world;

"Now, therefore, I, Howard Whitmore Jr., Mayor of the City of Newton, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do proclaim Friday, February 25, 1955, as World Day of Prayer in the City of Newton and I call upon the people of Newton to observe this day by attending services at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon at The Second Church (Congregational), West Newton, or pausing for a minute of prayer at High Noon to ask God to give us light to guide us, courage to support us, and love to unite us in this period when mankind is so in need.

"I further urge every church or business having bells, chimes or whistles to sound them at 12:00 o'clock noon for the observance of the call to prayer."

Red Cross Campaign Fund Quota Here Set at $88,500

HASKELL C. FREEDMAN, 1955 Red Cross campaign chairman and Hon. Howard Whitmore, Jr., Mayor, City of Newton.

With the observance of Red Cross Sabbath and Sunday on February 26 and 27, the 1955 American National Red Cross Fund Campaign will be given an impetus for the solicitations to be made during the month of March.

According to the Newton Campaign Chairman, Haskell C. Freedman, a large organization of volunteer workers will be busy contacting the citizens of Newton in an effort to increase Red Cross membership and to raise the local quota of $88,500.

Of this amount, 56% will stay in Newton to meet the Red Cross needs of our servicemen, veterans and civilians—be it for a financial grant or loan to carry the dependents of a serviceman over some unforeseen emergency; for verification of the emergency need of a serviceman's presence at the bedside of a family loved one; for a call for perhaps many pints of blood urgently needed by your neighbor to carry him through a serious illness or dangerous operation; for relief and rehabilitation should a disaster strike Newton; for the unsung service being continuously performed by the faithful volunteers at the Newton-Wellesley and neighboring Veterans Administration Hospitals and at the Bloodmobile visits and Boston Regional Center of the Blood Program; for the Junior Red Cross and College Activities work in giving our school children and students varied opportunities for community service; and for the extensive educational programs of First Aid, Water Safety and Nursing Services. Of such is the work of the Newton Red Cross with its Chapter Headquarters in Newtonville.

No Sound Reason for Delaying Trial of Four Convicts Who Staged Riot Recently at Charlestown Prison; Convention System of Nominating Delegates to Remain

If no court action is taken against the four desperadoes who last month staged their incredible revolt at the Charlestown State Prison, it would seem to mean that they can commit any crime short of murder without having their sentences lengthened.

That is why it is rather difficult to understand the resistance Attorney General George Fingold is encountering in his efforts to indict the convicts who, after failing in their attempt to escape from prison, staged an armed rebellion and held the State's law-enforcement forces at bay for three and a half days.

It would be a weird turn of events, if Fingold were to be criticized for seeking to bring the four men into court for prosecution on additional charges, since it is clearly and obviously his duty to do exactly that. We can easily visualize the roar of protest that would have gone up, if Fingold had announced he was not going to prosecute the four.

There are plausible reasons behind the reluctance to bring the desperadoes to trial, but none of them certainly is overwhelming.

Bill Seeks Ban On Unauthorized Oil Heater Work

In an effort to help check "shocking disasters" caused by defective oil heaters, Rep. George E. Rawson has filed a bill banning anyone from repairing heating units without a "certificate of competency" from the State Fire Marshal.

The bill, filed by Rep. Rawson for Public Safety Commissioner Otis M. Whitney, provides that the certificate shall be issued only after an examination by the fire marshal of the applicant's knowledge of heating units. The license shall expire in a year, but is renewable.

"The purpose of this bill," the Newton representative explained, "is to give the Fire Marshal a more accurate check on those installing and repairing oil burners. Installations of power burners, so-called, which are used for central heating, are now made by the regular oil burner companies whose men have certificates of competency.

"These burners are being serviced now also by competent

Ward Line Changes To Add 3 Precincts

Proposed revision of Newton's precinct lines, adding an additional three precincts to the city's total through creation of an eighth ward, will be considered at a meeting of the aldermen's ward lines committee Monday night at City Hall.

The revision, drawn up by City Engineer Umberto M. Schiavone, changes the number of precincts in all wards but three, and raises the total of precincts in Newton to 33.

In forwarding his recommendations, Schiavone requested that the aldermen take action on the precinct changes as soon as possible so that the exact, house-by-house lines may be drawn for forwarding to the Board of Assessors for that unit's work in the changes.

Old precinct numbers were retained as far as possible, reported the city engineer, and the average voter count is "consistent with well-defined divisions and future growth."

Under his proposal, Ward 1 will have one extra precinct, bringing it to a total of four with 5465 voters; Ward 2, one less, total of four with 6019 voters; Ward 3, same total of four with 6509 voters; Ward 4, one additional, total of four with 5326 voters; Ward 5, less two, total of five with 7608 voters; Ward 6, same five wards with 6732 voters; Ward 7, same three with 4860 voters; and Ward 8, four precincts with 4227 voters.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Here are some more words to add to your vocabulary of semi-technical TV terms. You've heard about aluminum picture tubes, set sensitivity and picture power, fringe area and the like. Let's pin down these meanings.

The aluminum picture tube is coated with aluminum (it's called a "mirror" of aluminum). The effect of this coating is to concentrate the pinpoint beams of light that make up the picture. A rough analogy would be the ordinary flashlight, which can be adjusted to throw a wide, diffused beam of light, or a concentrated, brighter beam. The aluminum mirror concentrates the light. The result is sharper detail with greater black and white contrast. Because the "whites," the actual beams of light, are concentrated like that flashlight beam. In other words, you get a clearer, more life-like picture.

Set sensitivity and power mean the same thing — the ability of the set to receive even a weak signal and boost it to maximum strength. Set sensitivity, and antenna sensitivity, are especially important in a "fringe" area — an area at the outer edge of the circle in which a TV signal can be received directly.

dents in 14 government boarding schools, and trains native Indian Christian leaders; it operates day care centers and schools for the children of agricultural migrants, and brings religious and cultural services to these dispossessed families; it trains pastors and lay-leaders to serve low-income rural communities here and in Puerto Rico.

In addition to training women leaders in foreign countries and helping provide reading matter for new literates, the Division of Foreign Missions uses its share of World Day of Prayer offerings, among other things, for a Christian home and family life program carried on around the world by the International Missionary Council, and in serving 30,000 foreign students in the United States through the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students.

If offerings are sufficient this coming year, the Migrant Ministry can do more literacy and adult education work, and the Division can expand its guidance program for Indian youth and its chaplaincy service in the government hospital in Alaska. By the same token, Foreign Missions can increase its help to nurse-evangelists in France, give scholarships for Christian women in Indonesia and the Near East, and help in the rehabilitation of women in Germany.

In proclaiming the World Day of Prayer, Mayor Whitmore said in part, "If the duties of some are such as to make attendance at the services impossible, I urge them to pause in their work one minute at High Noon and join in a mighty fellowship of prayer to ask that God give us light to guide us, courage to support us, love to unite us in this period in history when mankind is so in need. I further urge every church or business having bells, chimes, or whistles to sound them once or twice at 12 Noon for the observance of the Call to Prayer."

men who are employed by the oil burner companies and the various suppliers of oil fuels. There have been no explosions or fires resulting from such burners," he emphasized.

"The range oil burner and the space heater, however, are a different story. Improper installation or maintenance of these has been the cause of many shocking disasters in recent years.

"The aim of this bill," concluded Rep. Rawson, "is to help the Fire Marshall prevent these by limiting such installations and repairs to competent men."

Quota-

The American National Red Cross receives the remaining 44% of the total quota for the far-reaching services of the National organization. Last year nearly $40,000,000 was spent for Services to the Armed Forces and Veterans. On Disaster Relief alone over $5,000,000 was spent in emergency relief and rehabilitation.

In announced the opening of the 1955 Campaign for members and funds, Mr. Freedman said, "It is expected that Newton will show its usual understanding of the Red Cross program by contributing readily and generously when the solicitations are made during the coming month. Many times a year Newton people call upon the Red Cross; however, barring an unexpected major disaster, only once a year does the Red Cross call on the people. I am sure they will support the services which are offered in their name—because our people are the Red Cross."

Newton has been fortunate in its type of representation, this method is not a democratic procedure and has made for a self-perpetuating board," Mrs. Getter wrote. "This is an unfortunate situation because it arouses dissatisfaction among the voters who feel that the principles of good government have been violated.

"The record of freshmen aldermen during the past year has, we think, proven that we can safely trust not only the type of person willing to run for office, but the good judgment of the Newton voter."

Only "exception reasons" can justify an alderman's leaving the board before expiration of his term, declared Mrs. Getter. She stated that the League "hopes each alderman will make every effort to complete the full term of office for which he has been elected."

Gardens of the World Feature Flower Show This Year

Flowers blooming at the foot of Mt. Everest, in the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, along a Dutch canal, in a French parterre and on a present day New England terrace will welcome spring to Boston Sunday, March 13, at Mechanics Building. It's the opening day of the week long New England Spring Flower Show.

This year's global theme "Gardens of the World Over" gives the scores of seasonal exhibitors wide scope to display their skill and imagination. Mountain peaks are now under construction, scenic backdrops are being painted and rocky ledges are being made at Horticultural Hall. Hollywood's skilled artists could gather many valuable tips from these New England landscape designers and gardeners who are literally leaving no stone unturned for this year's world-wide pageant of gardens.

In keeping with the general theme, the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts will point up its flower arrangements with inspiration from The Near East, The British Isles, The Americas, The Orient and The Riviera. Terrace and living room settings will provide suitable backgrounds for the energetic garden club women who are eagerly planning for this great event under the direction of Mrs. George E. Taylor.

Boy, Girl Scouts Skiing Weekend Starts Tomorrow

More than 90 Explorers and Senior Girl Scouts of Newton, Wellesley and Weston are planning to travel to Intervale, N.H., for a Winter Sports Week-End, leaving here tomorrow (Friday) and returning Sunday.

The Week-End is being sponsored by the Exploring Committee of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, and is under the leadership of Salvatore DeFazio Jr., of Wellesley and Gordon Wares of West Newton.

The group of young men, young ladies and their advisors will stay at the Ski Dorm at Intervale and take part in an active program which will include skiing, skating, square dancing and full use of the lodge's recreational facilities. The committee reports that the big lodge is well equipped with a cafeteria, snack bar, large recreation room, three fireplaces and a ski repair room.

The Ski Dorm is within 20 minutes of Thorn Mountain, which is the center for the outdoor activities of the area. The Winter Sports Week-End committee has arranged for reduced rates for the two chair lifts and two tows. There are five slopes and six trails with opportunities for novices, intermediates and experts.

This annual Winter Sports Week-End is one of the many Explorer activities conducted by Norumbega Council for its older Scouts. Young men of 14 to 18 years of age who are interested in this or other Explorer activities may call the Norumbega Council office (BI 4-7410) for further details.

"The best thing some self-made men can do is deny it," Tony Pettito.

North and West Little Leagues Hold Business Meeting Sunday

The managing personnel of the Newton North and Newton West Little Leagues will hold a business meeting this Sunday, at 2 p.m., at the office of the Edwards Lumber Co. on Crafts street.
The main topic for discussion will be the formation of a Minor league for the two Major leagues. The minor leagues were discontinued two years ago for lack of sufficient adult personnel to operate them. As a result many youngsters were denied the opportunity to play Little League baseball. This new attempt to organize the Minor leagues will depend entirely upon the turnout of interested adults.
In extending an invitation to all interested adults to attend the meeting, James E. Murphy, president of the two leagues, said that a knowledge of baseball is not necessary so long as the individual is interested in working with young boys. He also said that competent coaches and instructors would be available to work with the "rookie" adults.

Political Overtones

An element of danger would be involved in taking the criminals to and from a courtroom each day and in guarding them while they are there. But eight State troopers, two for each convict, would have little difficulty coping with the situation, and you may be sure that Fingold would utilize troopers for that purpose.

None of the four hoodlums would loom as any superman without a pistol in his hand, and if prison officials hadn't bungled their job from start to finish, the troopers who were rushed to Charlestown would have hauled the convicts out of the Cherry Hill cellblock before they gained the false courage that came with the realization that they were getting away with their rebellion.

One of the things Fingold presumably has in mind is that 10 or 15 years from now lawyers seeking paroles for the four criminals will argue that the revolt they staged really didn't amount to much, and to support their contention they will point to records showing that the convicts were not even brought before the bar of justice to be punished for what they did.

The other side of the story is that Messrs. Green, Balben, Flaherty and Swenson are being held as secured risks in the State Prison they are awaiting trial.

That means they are confined to their cells 24 hours a day except for a 20-minute exercise period, are not allowed to mingle with the other inmates and are denied the normal privileges of a prison.

Such a system is all right up to a point, but it must be assumed that our way of justice is not so weak that we have to resort to that back-door method of punishing the four convicts rather than utilizing the regular processes of law.

A suspicion exists in the mind of this observer that the trial of the four desperadoes is being stalled and perhaps blocked entirely because the criminals indicated during their conferences with the committee which negotiated a truce that what they most wanted was an early trial.

That is understood to be the one agreement the committee made with them. At the time it was supported by a statement from Fingold himself, and even Governor Herter told reporters he was in accord with the plan to bring the desperadoes to trial at an early date.

A wave of criticism and resentment, developed after the revolt was brought to an end, and it was heightened by the disclosure that the warden had sat down at a conference with three of the hoodlums in the prison library and negotiated with them.

But in fairness to the committee there appeared to be no strong reason then why Green, Swenson, Balben and Flaherty should not get an early trial. Neither does there seem to be any powerful reason for not bringing them into court.

From the opposition Fingold is meeting, you might think he was trying to free the convicts instead of seeking to add to their sentences.

A drive is being made by Democratic legislators to scrap the convention system of endorsing candidates for places on the rival State tickets, but there is practically no chance whatever that they will be successful.

After the success the Republican candidates for top offices experienced in the 1952 and 1954 elections, the GOP high command would never consent to throwing away a political instrument it has been able to use effectively.

Governor Herter unquestionably would veto a bill to repeal the pre-primary convention law, if one were to reach his desk, but in all probability the measure would not get that far. It is unlikely that it would get by the State Senate and, in fact, there is no assurance that it would even survive its passage through the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives.

On this particular issue the Democratic legislators from the so-called minority races invariably line up with the Republicans since they know their own prospects of ever gaining a place on their party's State ticket would be much better with a convention than without it.

Some strong criticism was directed at the two 1954 State conventions during a legislative hearing on a bill which would wipe them out, and a good part of it was justified.

State Senator John E. Powers of South Boston described the pre-primary convention as "a prostitution of Democratic processes" and "a man-made barrier against worthy aspirants."

Representative Alvin C. Tamkin of Dorchester maintained that a part of the trouble could be cleared up by giving the people the right to elect the delegates and thus eliminating the control which State and ward committees hold over the delegates.

He argued that the most objectionable feature of last June's Democratic State conclave was that "cigar-smoking politicians and political hacks were practically using their fists to persuade delegates."

Mrs. Beatrice Hancock Mullaney, a member of the Republican State ticket in 1952, suggested to the committee that the trouble was not as much with the law as with the way the Democratic convention was conducted. She said that the Republican conclave by contrast was well run.

"Yes, like a cold deck of cards," interrupted Senator James W. Hennigan, Jr., of Jamaica Plain.

Hennigan's observation pointed up a deeply rooted impression that last year's Republican State convention was a cut and dried affair.

In some respects that was true, but when it came to deciding the only real battle waged at the GOP conclave, the Republican delegates refused to follow their top party leaders and nominated former Representative Augustus G. Means of Essex for State Treasurer over State Senate President Richard I. Furbush who was the choice of the party's high command.

Means, of course, was later defeated, and the fact that Furbush was shunted aside at the Worcester convention undoubtedly saved him from the same political fate. Their fight, however, was anything but cut and dried.

There is no doubt but that the Republicans will hold another State convention next year, and the Democrats probably will be forced to do the same in self-defense, even though a majority of them don't like the idea.

...Spotlight On Weeks...

A Ninth Grade Trip

Several ninth grade divisions have recently gone on trips to the Court House and the State House. Among these divisions is 318X, which went on their trip on February 15th. The pattern of their trip is much the same as that followed by the other divisions which went previously.

The bus arrived shortly after nine o'clock and brought the students to the Court House. There they heard portions of several law cases. This helped them to understand how a Court session functions.

They remained at the Court House until about 11:15, at which time they were dismissed to go to lunch at the restaurants of their individual choice.

After an hour and a half they met at the State House, where they were taken on a tour by the Capitol Police. Among the things of interest which they were shown on this tour were the Senate Chamber, the House of Representatives, and the Memorial Hall, or Hall of Flags.

The bus returned for the students at 2:00 and took them back to Weeks.

Mrs. Craven, who is substituting for Mr. Samuelson, the regular teacher of 318X, was in charge of the trip, and accompanied the division.

Class officers of 318X are: Carol Shulman, president; Lew Cerasoli, vice president; Jerry Berest, secretary; and Bob Gilliam, treasurer.

Ninth Grade Pictures

The ninth grade had their individual photographs taken recently. The pictures were delivered to the pupils on February 16th.

The photograph package contains an assortment of pictures of various sizes, and an autograph album. It may be bought complete, in part, or returned without charge.

The pictures were taken by the Alston Studios.

Wrestling Back At W.N. Armory Saturday Night

Fireworks aplenty loom as wrestling returns to the West Newton Armory Saturday night after an absence of two months.

Featured on an unusual four-event card sponsored by the Burns-Kerr Post, A.L., will be two giant Italian imports and a pair of tough, talented girl grapplers who explode notions about the so-called "weaker sex."

Also slated to display their wares here Saturday are Carl Von Eric, bellicose German strongboy; muscular Manuel Bonica, free-swinging and colorful Walthamite; massive Stan (The Man) Wydra, Polish-American behemoth from Salem, and Charlie Diamond, clever veteran from Middleboro.

The most fearsome task faces Diamond, who is scheduled to battle Frank (Gorilla) Dallo, 400-pound one-man gang from Italy who, despite his bulk, escaped posse of enraged Worcester mat fans last week.

Dallo, reportedly a Mighty Joe Young in human form, is termed "the fastest big man I've ever seen" by Promoter Fred Bruno. The ambulating Alp is incredibly strong, muscular and merciless and also an extremely able torso twister, according to Bruno.

Temperatures are to flare when Bonica, whose most potent weapon is a vicious forearm smash, collides with the swagging Von Eric, epitome of Prussian precision and belligerence.

The setto between Pat Reagan, 150-pound battling beauty from Ireland, and Jean Hogan, Texas freerackler, is expected to be a slam-bang sensation. Miss Reagan has won an enthusiastic following with her skillful and flashy performances. However, Miss Hogan, unimpressed, promises a hot reception for the cute colleen.

The second Italian import on the card is Emilio Carnera, 65, 245-pound nephew of Primo Carnera, former world heavyweight boxing champion. Emilio, who hails from the industrial city of Milan, will have his work cut out for him when he meets Wydra, 6-3, 250-pound former Salem High footballer who revels in rough going.

With these two pachyderms in the ring, the referee will have to do some fancy stepping to avoid being crushed.

The wrestling programs, now in their fourth year at the Armory, were not resumed after the Christmas holiday layoff because Bruno wanted to transfer the bouts from Friday to Saturday night. He was unable to do so until this week because of a schedule conflict.

Two Nominated To A. F. Academy By Cong. Curtis

A total of 10 candidates were selected by Cong. Curtis in his district. Final selection of eight entrants from all of Massachusetts will be made by the Air Force next summer, and those selected will enter the Academy in the fall.

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

This is the seventh in a series of eight tax articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Who must file a State income tax return?

Every resident of Massachusetts whose annual gross income exceeds $2,000 or who received income from taxable annuities, gains from dealings in stocks, bonds, etc., or taxable interest and dividends must file a State income tax return.

When is my State income tax return due?

Your State return on income for 1954 must be filed by April 15, 1955.

What family deductions do I get on my State return?

You are allowed a deduction of $2,000 for yourself, $500 for your wife (if her income is less than $2,000), $400 for each normal dependent child under eighteen, and $400 for a dependent father or mother. You are also allowed a $400 deduction for a dependent child over eighteen if he is mentally or physically incapable of self-support.

Must I prorate my family deductions on a State return?

No. There is no proration of deductions for husband, wife, dependent parents, or children. This applies to children who were born or who died during 1954, to dependent parents who died during 1954, or to a taxpayer who married during 1954 (provided that his wife did not have income from all sources in excess of $2,000).

If a dependent child became eighteen after June 30, 1954, the full $400 deduction is allowed; if the child became eighteen before July 1, 1954, no deduction is allowed.

May I file a joint return with my wife?

Yes. You may now file a joint return with your wife.

What is meant by the deduction on page 2 "Federal income taxes"?

You are allowed a deduction for your Federal taxes paid on business income. To determine this deduction, it is necessary to allocate your Federal tax paid between business income and income from capital.

Example: Assume that a taxpayer reported a salary of $4,000 and interest of $100 on his 1953 and 1954 Federal tax returns. Assume further that during 1954 $520 was withheld from his pay and he received a refund on his 1953 Federal tax of $40. The taxpayer's deduction for Federal taxes paid, $468.29, would be determined as follows:

4,000 x .480 = $468.29

What is meant by the term "business income" on the Massachusetts return?

Business income, for most taxpayers, is income from labor. However, it also includes income from your business, income from certain partnerships, trusts, and estates, royalties and rentals of property other than real estate, gains on sales of real estate, (other than your personal residence), and gains on sales of any tangible personal property.

Is the effective tax rate on business income the same as it was in 1953?

No. The effective tax rate on 1954 business income is 3.075%, whereas in 1953 it was 2.45%. This increase is caused by the elimination of the 25% reduction of the normal tax on business income.

Cite Cooperation Between Newton Police, Firemen

Cooperation between the Fire and Police Departments during the capture of three men accused in the slaying of Merrill Lovenger in Newton earlier this month has been praised by Police Chief Philip Purcell in a letter to Fire Chief John E. Corcoran.

Chief Purcell wrote:

"May I, through you, offer our thanks to Assistant Chief Henry L. Murphy for his excellent spirit of cooperation on the night of February 4, 1955.

"Officers Ralph H. Rich and Joseph E. LaCroix were making an arrest at Park and Tremont streets, Newton, of a man suspected of a vicious robbery and shooting at 341 Waverly avenue, Newton. In the scuffle Officer LaCroix was painfully injured, and Officer Rich had his hands full securing the prisoner.

"Chief Murphy, who was passing by, on his own time, immediately stopped and rendered material assistance by notifying Police Headquarters on the radio from the cruising car parked nearby.

"It seems to me that such a fine spirit of cooperation between departments is what makes Newton a better city in which to live."

Hold Musical At Temple

Jewish Music Month will be marked at Temple Shalom of Newton by a special musical Sabbath service to be presented by the choir Friday evening,

February 25. This will consist of two contrasting modes of liturgical music; one a complete Hassidic Service arranged by Isadore Freed including all the choir responses in the regular service and the other three psalms set to music of modern melodic mood by the same composer. Isadore Freed, one of the most prominent contributors to

Jewish Liturgical Music, is now musical director of Temple Israel in Lawrence, Long Island. The program represents an interesting comparison of traditional and modern melodic music as it is used in the religious service of today. The choir is under the direction of Mr. Bernard Siff, with Ramon Gilbert as soloist and Richard Reynolds as organist. Members of the choir are: Mrs. Bessie Cohen, Mrs. Janice Dannenberg, Mrs. Midge Elson, Mr. Larry Feldman, Miss Lois Fleischer, Mr. Bernard Frank, Mrs. Anita Greenbaum, Mrs. Ruth Harmon, Mrs. Frances Marcus, Miss Glenda Marcus and Mrs. Marion Sachs.

Trip to Peru Reveals Secrets of Incas

CUZCO, PERU — The Incas were masters at the art of how to bury treasure. Though Pizarro and his iron-clad "conquistadores" looted millions from the Incas in the sixteenth century, the amount the Incas were able to put away becomes more and more staggering with each new discovery. Within the last few decades, experts have dug up not only precious metals but works of art as well as the major fragments of a whole civilization — temples, roads, reservoirs and cities, built long before Columbus was born. Today, the discovery of Inca land rates as the number one attraction for visitors to the west coast of South America. Once a perilous journey into the jagged fastnesses of the Andes, the trip is now only ten and a half hours via Pan American and Pan American-Grace Airways from Miami to Lima, the Peruvian capital. The connecting flight from Lima up to Cuzco, the heart of Inca land, covers 700 miles in less than two hours. Special Delivery Inca-Style Cuzco, which lies two miles above sea level just short of the Andes divide was the capital in 1500 of the Inca Empire, when the Incas rule extended from Chile to Colombia, from the Pacific to the Amazon. The story goes, incidentally, that the old Inca runners used to run the whole distance from the coast to Arequipa then Cuzco. They made the drag over the Andes with record speed to bring fresh fish from the ocean for the dinner of the high priests and the court. Once the holy city for 300,000 Indians, Cuzco is now a sleepy village in a green and sheltered valley. Though its glittering wealth has melted away and the proud Inca warrior is long dead, echoes of the past remain. Indian temples stand beside Spanish cathedrals. Roads still converge on the main square; the Plaza de Armas, now called "Weeping Lane" by the Indians to recall the mass execution of the Incas on this spot by the Spanish invaders. Along cobblestone streets Indians, clad in the bright colors of the Incas, peddle their silver and tend their llamas. Inca splendor fused with the Spanish renaissance to produce some of the most ornate religious motifs in existence. In the churches the silver altars encrusted with precious stones, painted with gold. The foundations for the famous Church of Santo Domingo rest atop the Inca Temple of the Sun, where stone walls were once completely covered with beaten gold.

Mystery In Stone Towering above Cuzco is Sacsayhuaman, the giant Inca fortress. Stones in the walls weigh as much as 50 tons and had to be quarried miles away. Shaped like pieces in a jigsaw puzzle, the stones are fitted tightly together without mortar. Nowhere can one wedge so much as a blade of grass between them. How the Incas managed so expert an engineering feat six centuries ago remains a mystery. The terrain around Cuzco is studied with hundreds of Inca canals, stone buildings, walls and statues. The odds against the Incas were heavier than against such other great builders as the Egyptians and Romans. For the Incas not only worked in the thin air of the Andes, but also did all their construction on a diet of corn and cocoa with tools made of nothing more durable than hardened copper. The big thrill in the area is nearby Machu Picchu, the mountain-top sanctuary for the Inca priests and virgins of the sun who came here to hide out from the invaders. Discovered in 1911 by Hiram Bingham, one-time Senator from Connecticut, the sacred city hangs on a secluded crag, unchanged since the day the dense jungle brush was cut away. Visitors from Cuzco reach the famous lost city on a narrow-gauge motor bus that claws its way up to a 12,500-foot pass in the Andes. A road zig-zags to the heights of Machu Picchu, balanced 2,000 feet above the V-shaped canyon of the Urubamba River. The panorama of jungle, river, stone cliffs, clouds and glaciers in the high Andes is one of the most dazzling and terrifying of views. Place Of Gold-Covered Mummies The homes of the old Incas in Machu Picchu, except for thatched roofs, remain exactly as they were built. In a huge semi-circular temple, the Chosen Women of the Empire performed rituals to the sun. Surrounded by hanging gardens and stone aqueducts is the royal mausoleum where the gold-covered mummies were kept. Tourists who arrive in Lima at this season will find skies are

Brilliant New Styling-Blazing New Power at everybody's price*

The 1955 Pontiac is evidence that price is no longer a factor in making the step to fine-car luxury and performance.

Every new Pontiac you see emphasizes the fact that here is the most distinctively styled car of all. But Pontiac's brilliant styling is only part of all that's new and modern in this great General Motors masterpiece. The clinching evidence comes to light in your first few minutes behind the wheel.

At a touch of your toe, Pontiac's mighty Strato-Streak V-8 responds instantly, whether you're in city traffic or cruising the open road. With Pontiac's new, bigger brakes and recirculating ball steering, handling is almost effortless. New wide-stance rear springs; roomy, luxurious Body by Fisher and shock-proof chassis complete the fine-car picture.

Normally, all this would add up to high price—but Pontiac has changed the pattern with prices that start so close to the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford the easy and satisfying step to Pontiac pride and distinction. Why not come in at your first opportunity and get the facts and figures? Once you do, you'll wish you'd made the move sooner.

....Activities of the Schools....

...High School Notes...

Mr. Ryhoel Shishito, a member of the Department of Education for Japan, visited Newton High School classes recently. He was invited by the American government to come from Tokyo to Washington in order to see the various United States school systems. Before arriving at Newton, he visited schools in Michigan, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska.

Mr. Shishito told a group of N.H.S. students about the Japanese education program. In that country, as in Newton, there are six years of grammar school, three of junior high school, and four of college. Approximately 80 per cent of the Japanese students study English. The learning of the language is divided into three parts: pronunciation, grammar, and meaning. Several difficulties arise, for, in Japanese, there is little if any difference between L and R, and S is commonly used instead of TH. Furthermore, the word order is different. We say, "I go to school," but, to the Japanese, it is, "I school to go."

Japanese students in junior and senior high school study Japanese, social studies, math, science, music, art, and home economics. They use Chinese characters in writing. Most schools in the country run more than seven hours per day, and there are over 50 children in the average class. Extra curricular activities in the schools often include a band, a debating team, clubs, and athletics. Baseball is the number one sport, but basketball, volleyball, swimming, and track and field are also very popular.

Mr. Shishito also talked about the customs and everyday life in his country. Japan's most plentiful food is rice, which is eaten with chopsticks. The people are also very fond of raw fish. There is no such thing as a sofa or desk — the Japanese use a mat on the floor.

Everyone takes off his shoes before entering a house. The people go to school or work in American dress but change back to Japanese clothing at home. Television came to Japan four years ago; there are now three channels in Tokyo. TV sets are extremely expensive — $30 per square inch.

When Mr. Shishito departed, several students had gained a great deal of valuable information about Japan and her people.

HUNTING AND FISHING CLUB

Robert Procter, local sportsman and hunting enthusiast, was the guest of the Hunting and Fishing Club of the High School. Mr. Procter brought to the club a story of bear and deer hunting in Vermont and New Hampshire. The story was illustrated by personal movies of a bear hunt and the bear himself attended the meeting in the form of a rug.

Mr. Procter exhibited a dozen varieties of sporting rifles and shotguns as he discussed the purpose and advantage of each model. He is a member and former president of the Needham Sportsmen's Club. He wore a fringed buckskin jacket formerly worn by an old buck from Vermont.

..News of the Day..

One of the most impressive assemblies of the year was held on Friday of this week in the school auditorium. This was the occasion at which the student staff members were inducted. The guest speaker was Joseph Francione, now at Newton High School, and a former athlete and 9th grade president at Day. Miss Mary Gianferante of the Day faculty spoke briefly on the responsibilities of Americans in our present world from the viewpoint of one who has returned from a year of teaching in Italy. The ceremony was conducted by Mr. Ralph Morse, our principal and music was furnished by the school band and Glee Club under the leadership of Mr. Vincent Jurgiewicz. After the coming vacation

Day Junior High's 9th graders will be busy planning their high school programs. After visits from trade and high school representatives early in March, the actual work of filling out program cards will be carried out under the direction of the various division teachers.

The basketball teams have played two games within the past seven days, with Bigelow and Warren Junior High Schools. On last Friday our varsity and junior varsity both won by scores of 38-32 and 30-27 respectively. On Tuesday the teams split with Warren, the varsity losing 54-27 and junior varsity winning, 35-22. The season closes this Friday, with two games at Day with Wellesley Junior High.

Warren Junior High Notes

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Levi F. Warren Junior High School joined the nation last week in extending congratulations to the Boy Scouts of America on the anniversary of their organization. The school community well realizes the value of this group to the youth of today and deems it an honor that so many pupils at Warren are privileged to be members.

That both Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts are considered leaders among young people is recognized at Warren by their being chosen to form the color guard which presents colors, the National and State flags, at each assembly. Serving on the Color Guard at present are Barbara Young, Catherine Carlton, Dorothy Reed, Joan Schomaker, Donn Springer, John Derr, Arthur Bliss, David Wicks, Kenneth Flanagan and Peter Higgins.

IN MEMORIAM

It was with deep regret that the Warren School Community learned of the passing of Monsignor Crane, pastor of St. Bernard's Church in West Newton. Boys and girls who wished to attend the children's mass in his memory at 8:00 A.M. February 10, were allowed to go to the mass and report to school later in the morning.

OVER THE TOP AGAIN!

With the announcement recently that the City of Newton had once again led other communities in the amount of money contributed to the March of Dimes collection, it was most gratifying to realize that the pupils of Warren Junior High School had done their part to make this possible. Warren led all the Newton junior high schools in the amount collected through March of Dimes boxes placed in the homerooms. This was the second time this year that the school had contributed most generously for a very worthy cause.

During the American Junior Red Cross membership drive an almost unbelievable amount of money was raised through voluntary contributions, homeroom food sales, auctions, and movies. Though it was considered impossible to top the 1953 total of $331.30, the final count as announced at a Red Cross Victory Assembly showed that the school had not only reached it but exceeded it with a total of $374.81. The largest amount contributed by a single homeroom was $60.00 raised by Room 302 under the supervision of Mr. Carl Penny. The entire drive for funds was conducted by the officers of the Junior Red Cross at Warren—Jan Lee Clement, President; Joe Green, Vice-president; Gerry Battaglini, Secretary; and Alice Jacobson, Treasurer — under the faculty sponsorship of Mrs. Priscilla Daudelin.

FIRST AID CLASSES

During the second half of the school year girls of Jr. II are taking a short course in First Aid during one of their gym classes, under the direction of Miss Alice Willey, in charge of the girls' physical education. The value of such training has been proved in past years when pupils have been able to give immediate first aid to the classmates at the time of an accident.

FILM ON EASTERN STATES EXHIBITION

Last Friday pupils of Jr. I and II had the privilege of seeing a film on the Eastern States Exhibition held each year during the third week in September in West Springfield, Massachusetts. For many it was their first glimpse of such a fair where farm people from

The Story that Silence Tells!

You'll probably never hear a 1955 Cadillac! It is so wonderfully quiet in operation that you can detect only the soft whisper of the wind... and, occasionally, the pleasant song of the tires on the pavement.

Insofar as the car itself is concerned, there is only—silence!

But listen, if you will, to the remarkable story this silence tells about the "car of cars."

"Here," it says, "is a mechanism so flawlessly designed and so faultlessly engineered that every component performs with absolute perfection."

"Here is truly scientific styling—so basically good and sound that there is literally no noticeable resistance from wind or road."

"And here is craftsmanship so superb and so painstaking that not a trace of vibration can be heard." And how eloquently it speaks of the satisfactions of Cadillac ownership!

It testifies to the rest and relaxation to be found at the wheel. It promises peace of mind... and greater driving safety. And it pledges dependability—and endurance—and economy of operation.

Clearly, no one can tell the Cadillac story as well—or as convincingly—as the car itself!

And if you haven't as yet "heard" this remarkable story, we hope that you will accept our invitation to come in and spend an hour at the wheel.

Berkshire Woodwind Ensemble In Concert Here March 2

It is a happy "tradition" which permits the Wellesley Concert Series to present, in its varied programs, distinguished artists who are also a part of Boston's rich musical existence. Another such opportunity will be afforded on March 2 in Alumnae Hall, Wellesley College, at the third event of the 1954-55 season, when we are fortunate to have the Berkshire Woodwind Ensemble. This ensemble is composed entirely of members of the famous woodwind section of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and includes the noted artists, Louis Speyer, James Papoutsakis, Patrick Cardillo, Ernest Panenka and Harold Meek. They will provide a rare evening of unusual chamber music ranging from the classics of Haydn and Mozart to "first performances" of music by Dutilleul and Mendelssohn.

On this occasion, in addition, the group will be assisted by the noted pianist, Howard Goddard, of the New England Conservatory of Music, who has such a devoted and loyal following and who will appear at Alumnae Hall for the first time. He will join in the performance of the wonderful Mozart Quintet (K.452) and will give, with Mr. Speyer, the premiere of the Dutilleul sonata.

The discriminating Alumnae Hall audience, in welcoming these artists in its customary appreciative manner, will enjoy this delightful and varied program.

Temple Emanuel Students Mark Chumosh Studies

At an impressive ceremony conducted before their parents and friends, students of the Gimel classes of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, celebrated the beginning of their study of Chumosh.

Highlighting not only the importance of this subject but also its sanctity and the central position it holds in the life of the Jewish people, the program was arranged in the form of a Service. The Torah was read by Ronald Casty, Richard Metcalf, and Eliot Evans. The Service was led by Alan Gordon and Stephen Egbert.

The significance of each of the five books of Moses was described by Vida Boorstein, Myrna Drucker, Sandra Glickman, Raída Levine, and Beverly Snyder. Other participants in the program were Edward Rosenbloom, Paul Silverman, Gerald Kaplan, Evans Salton and Robert Abramson.

The program was written by Irving Karol, instructor of the Gimel Beth class. Other instructors of the Gimel Beth classes are Ephraim Levin, Leo Taritz and Sidney Perlow.

Dr. Albert I. Gordon, rabbi of Temple Emanuel, addressed the students and pointed out the significance of this educational event in their lives. Dr. Martin Goldstein, educational director of Temple Emanuel, was in charge of the program. Mrs. Arnold Eisen and a committee of PTA mothers served refreshments to implement the quotation "Torah is compared to honey."

Emanuel PTA

The PTA of Temple Emanuel in Newton will hold a Purim Dance on Saturday, March 5th, in the Community Hall of the Temple.

Music for dancing will be supplied by Jerry Davis, and a Mambo exhibition will be given by Irene and Irving Sechin. There will be a "Mask Parade" with prizes to be awarded for the most original masks, as well as several door prizes.

What Shall We Eat . . . For Strong, Sound Teeth

"The best advice, for people in any age group, about food that leads to good dental health is simple and straightforward," says a famous dentist and professor who is among the world's leaders in dental research. His advice is, "Have each of the basic seven food groups in each day's diet, and as many as possible in each of the day's three meals."

That means the usual nourishing meals that most mothers serve; this famous doctor and scientist recommends simply a varied diet of nourishing foods. The basic seven food groups for good dental health are milk, vegetables, fruits, eggs, cereal and bread, butter, and the protein standbys — meat, cheese, fish, and poultry. Within those groups there are many chances to make favorite dishes for all the family.

This famous scientist also suggests that as many as possible of the foods be eaten without overcooking, or too much refining. It is better to save the original nourishment whenever possible.

The texture of foods also enters into good dental health. Rougher foods which need vigorous chewing are good; but sticky, pasty foods which cling to the teeth are not good. After sticky foods it is best to brush the teeth or at least rinse the mouth.
